BROWN TELLS CHESSMAN HIGH COURT HOLDS FATE

Caryl Chessman was advised by Gov. Edmund G. Brown today to direct any "last chance" appeals to escape execution Monday to the California Supreme Court.

Even as the convict author was reported working on a new legal maneuver, Governor Brown insisted at a news conference in Sacramento that he is powerless to recommend clemency for Chessman because the state Supreme Court twice voted 4-3 against clemency.

United Press International reported that Brown said he told Rosalie Asher and A. L. Wirin, attorneys for Chessman, during a conference yesterday that the "proper place for you to go would be to the state Supreme Court." He said he spoke both as a lawyer and governor.

Chessman was to meet with Wirin and Miss Asher this afternoon to discuss how he might obtain the ninth stay of execution in his 12 year legal fight. (See story on page 5.)

3 Killed As Turk Troops Halt Riot

Tear Gas, Gun Butts Used On Students

ADNAN MENDERES
Vows punishment

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI)—Turkish troops smashed an anti-government riot at Ankara University with tear gas and rifle butts today after Premier Adnan Menderes promised "swift punishment" for the persons who started two days of disorders.

Three students, one a girl, were reported killed in the Ankara rioting today and 30 were injured, bringing the two-day death toll to an unofficial 14. The students were killed when troops fired into a university building before storming it.

A lesser demonstration broke out in Istanbul this morning against the regime of strongman Menderes, although martial law was in effect. It was quelled by tear gas attacks before it reached the proponents of yesterday's rioting.

While fighting raged in and outside the law buildings of the Ankara University, the Turkish Grand National Assembly met in emergency session across town to review the crisis. Fistfights broke out there between Menderes followers and Gen. Ismet Inonu's opposition Republican Party.

Menderes, who has accused the opposition of trying to incite the people to revolution, acted vigorously against what he called a threat to the security of Turkey, a member of major Western alliances such as NATO and CENTO.

Ankara students, gathered outside the political science faculty building, called on Menderes to resign, cheered Inonu and yelled "long live the Turkish army." But it was the army that put down the riots, and students later screamed: "You have become our enemy."

A crowd of several thousand protested the stern action of the rifle-wielding soldiers, and sang the national anthem. Troops broke up the crowds.

1st MARIN CLASS

Baptist Seminary Graduates 80

"You are in a real sense commencing. You have not arrived. You have to keep learning. What you are going to do is serve, not to be served. What will happen in this world in this generation depends on God's children, so you must do your best for God."

These were the words that president Harold K. Graves told 80 students being graduated today from the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary in a colorful but serious ceremony.

It was the largest class to be graduated in the history of the seminary and the first graduated at this campus. The college was located in Berkeley until last summer.

The students received their diplomas from Dr. Graves in Broadus Hall, which was so overflowing with friends and relatives that chairs had to be set up outside the doors.

One of the most colorful aspects of the ceremony came when seven graduates received their master of theology degrees and were "hooded" by Dr. C. Arthur Insko with stoles of yellow, red and blue.

Following the ceremony, graduates were congratulated by their friends and relatives, some of whom came from states as far away as Texas and Virginia.

The commencement ceremony began at 10 a.m. with two processions. The first consisted of the graduates and was led into the hall by Dr. Insko, professor of preaching and Christian ethics at the seminary. Then a procession of the faculty, led by Dr. Graves, followed, each person dressed in black caps and gowns and all wearing "hoods" of various colors, denoting the types of degrees they hold.

When the processions were seated, the congregation and the choir, dressed in purple gowns, sang the Doxology. Dr. Fred L. Fisher, professor of New Testament interpretation, led the invocation. Scripture reading was by Dr. Kyle M. Yates, associate professor of Old Testament.

Dr. William A. Carleton, dean of the seminary, presented the candidates to Dr. Graves.

He said: "There is today a cult of religion which is the substitute of true religion. There are 64 million members of this cult in America. The members of this cult do not go to church."

Fire Destroys Landmark In Mill Valley

The home was converted 10 years ago from a barn believed to have been one of the oldest structures in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Blyth Adams, owners of the house who live next door at 74 Mountain View avenue, said they were awakened about 2:51 a.m. to see a light "as bright as day" through their bedroom windows which face the smaller house.

"It was a mass of flames," Mrs. Adams said, "and it just went up 'poof!' with no explosion or anything."

Dr. Brown, who lives alone,

Missing S.F. Flier Feared Down At Sea

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Coast Guard reported today that flying watchmaker Peter Gluckman was presumed down on an attempted record flight from Tokyo to New York City.

Capt. A. J. De Joy, Coast Guard Western Area operations officer, said the 34-year-old San Franciscan's single-engine plane probably would have exhausted its 580 gallons of fuel at about 10:15 a.m. PDT—58 hours after he took off from Tokyo.

At that time Gluckman's emergency status passed from the alert to distress phase under Coast Guard procedure.

Solons Add More Funds For Weapons

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee added about one and a half billion dollars today to President Eisenhower's budget proposals for missiles, planes, submarines and satellites.

It offset the sum by cutting almost as much from what it considered less essential or wasteful military spending for administration, travel, procurement and other items.

The $39,337,867,000 defense appropriation bill the committee approved for the fiscal year starting July 1 was a net of $121,967,000 over what the President requested.

In ordering a 10 per cent cut in the civilian headquarters payroll and barring new pentagon assignments totaling more than the staff on hand last Dec. 31, the committee reported to the House there are so many defense administrators that no one knows the exact number.

'Save Chessman' Group Drops Gallows March

Dissension among members of the Marin Chessman Committee and lack of finances forced cancellation today of plans to haul a full-sized gallows to the governor's mansion in Sacramento tomorrow in protest of Caryl Chessman's execution.

Committee chairman George Draper admitted some members of the committee were "very upset" at the idea of a cavalcade, including gallows, to Gov. Edmund G. Brown's Sacramento home.

Committee members apparently had again solidified their stand today, on hearing the gallows idea had been dropped.

Another member of the committee, who would not allow use of his name, said, "Most of us feel this gallows idea was a bad idea."

A motorcade is to form at 1:30 p.m. Sunday at Marin City, with representatives from many Marin towns, Berkeley, the University of California and San Francisco State University, and will proceed to the prison gate.

Mme. Charles de Gaulle yesterday turned her black limousine to Wolfback Ridge, detouring from her Marin sightseeing schedule to the committee's "torch of life" in Sausalito.

Mme. de Gaulle and her party left their cars to view the flame, lighted to protest Chessman's scheduled execution at 10 a.m. Monday. The flame, kept lighted only at night now, was lighted for the party, reported Robert O'Leary, originator of the idea.

Tending the propane installation when the de Gaulle party arrived were Dick Helms and Curt Hoffman of Sausalito.

The Chessman committee, Draper explained today, is meant to "provide an avenue of expression for all" who oppose Chessman's execution. It is not necessarily against all capital punishment, though some of its members are, Draper stressed.

Donations for the committee's work have come from "several hundred" persons, reported committee member Sally Stanford. She declined to disclose the amount contributed.

Clark Tells Of Platter Payments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dick Clark, king of America's disc jockeys, swore today he never received payola but admitted knowing that a record company in which he had an interest made payments to other platter spinners.

Clark gave his testimony before a packed hearing room as House payola investigators continued their inquiry into under-the-table payments for plugging of records. (Earlier story on page 3.)

Budget For Roads Approved By Board

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today approved the road division section of the Public Works Department budget after a morning of heavy slogging through 16 pages of 1960-61 proposed budget.

The board preserved the principle that no property tax shall be levied for county road purposes. The proposed construction program was agreed upon on this basis between Marvin W. Brigham, director of public works, and County Administrator Donald A. Jensen.

There were no fireworks, though from time to time some supervisor would wistfully suggest the desirability of doing something special for his area, to which Brigham had more or less standard response:

"Don't mind putting it in if you can take out something else."

There were no something-elses volunteered.

The estimates came to a grand total of $1,324,060, compared with $1,264,208 for the fiscal year which will end June 30.

Two major construction projects appeared on the list. A third—realignment of the Pt. Reyes-Petaluma road in connection with the Nicasio dam reservoir — wasn't included because there will be full reimbursement by the Marin Municipal Water District.

The Lucas Valley road improvemest will be financed primarily from federal funds under the Federal Aid Secondary roads program. Budgeted was a contribution of only $20,000 from the county, and $12,000 of this will be carried over from 1959-60.

Four-laning of Sir Francis Drake boulevard from U.S. Highway 101 to Ross is immediately to include only the work to Wolfe Grade intersection, the supervisors decided.

"Of all the roads in the county and cities, Sir Francis Drake is the most difficult," said Brigham after stressing the need at once for four lanes in the 101-Wolfe Grade section. The budget shows "101 to Ross" with an amount of $90,899, for which $65,000 had been estimated when that

House Down Payments Cut By U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Housing Commissioner Julian H. Zimmerman today reduced minimum down payments on houses bought with government-insured mortgages.

The reductions will apply only on homes costing more than $13,500. The biggest cutback would be $525, on dwellings costing $18,000 or more.

For Better Education

How Unification Has Worked For Novato

(This is the fifth of a series of articles on Marin County's school district setup and possibilities for revamping it.)

By DONALD G. DAVIS

Novato is the only unified school district in Marin County. San Rafael has the only city system, and enjoys many of the so-called advantages of unification.

William J. J. Smith, superintendent of the Novato district, has watched his district grow from a collection of country schools to a full-fledged district with its own high school.

"Under the right leadership," Smith said of unification, "there is no loss of control. Under proper leadership there is, in fact, much better control.

"Fear of unification is understandable because many people believe that it would remove the schools from any sensitivity of local control."

Novato played it smart. First it was ascertained whether some other elementary districts would like unification. When it was determined that Nicasio, Burdell, Lincoln, Union Joint and San Jose didn't want any part of it, Novato went on alone. The district already was a union of the original Novato and Black Point districts.

(Burdell, Lincoln and Union Joint became part of the Petaluma High School District after a state law was passed requiring all elementary school districts to affiliate with high school districts. Marin school officials think these three districts eventually should be unified with Petaluma or Novato; or unionized at least.)

Novato almost had to unify or else . . .

It had to unify probably before it was ready for it. It was either that or continue paying high tuition costs for students attending San Rafael High School. The cost at the time of unification was $400 a child per semester.

But unification barely

San Rafael Enjoys Unified Advantages

squeaked through — by only 23 votes.

The state Department of Education says the "desireable" number of students for a unified district is 10,000. But this figure is sometimes "interpreted" to mean 4,000 or 2,500. Novato had fewer than 2,000 when the district was unified, and today it has slightly more than 2,600 enrollment.

A freshman high school class was started in elementary school buildings, necessitating double sessions, in 1955.

While the "situation has improved" each year, according to Smith, at first the board of trustees "had to work fast."

A high school had to be built while tuition was still being paid to San Rafael. New teachers had to be hired. An instruction program had to be started. In 1956, the voters approved a $750,000 bond issue and a state loan of one and a half million dollars. A 47-acre school site cost $262,000.

Because the trustees could not foresee expenses, they asked for voter approval of a $3.50 tax rate. It was voted down, but later a $2.80 tax rate was approved.

Voters also had to approve of the new unified district assuming the old elementary district's $300,000 bonded indebtedness. By 1958 the voters were again asked to approve raising the tax ceiling, to $3.55. This was defeated, but a few months later a tax ceiling of $3.23 was approved. This expires next year.

"Planning a new building and getting together a new staff was a real headache," Smith said, "but you learn fast that a good high school program is important. Unification tends to make this easier."

In spite of these pitfalls, state officials believe that unification is the coming thing. They say California's system is antiquated, that the national trend is toward unification. They say that California is lagging behind, that by doing away with small districts and local control, educational services can be enriched.

While San Rafael is a city district (or part of districts), there is no control over the system by the city council. The board of education selects the administration. In recent years the elementary district annexed the San Pedro and the Santa Venetia - Gallinas areas. The high school district takes in the Dixie, San Quentin and San Jose elementary districts as well as the San Rafael Elementary District.

This is confusing to just about everyone except Supt. Frank B. Lucas, who adds that he believes it would be perfectly possible under San Rafael's city charter for all of the members of the board of education to live in San Quentin, San Jose or Dixie districts. This would mean that taxpayers in those districts "could run San Rafael city schools." Voters throughout the high school district ballot on candidates for the city board of education.

To his knowledge there has seldom been a member of the board from outside the city, but he thinks it would provide an "interesting situation" if the right to serve from the outside the city were ever challenged.

Lucas says the district enjoys many of the advantages of a unified district.

The two districts, while governed by one board and managed by one administrative system, must keep two sets of books. Lucas said there would be financial "reasons" for unifying. He and everyone else on the administrative staff and the maintenance staff could be paid with one check instead of two, for their work in the two districts, and there "would be greater opportunity to use the resources of the system where we need them."

If San Jose, Dixie and San Quentin districts were to annex to San Rafael, the boundaries of the high school district and the elementary school district would become coterminous, all under the leadership of one board, and unification would be automatic.

The Dixie district a few years ago had one school, an old-fashioned one-room building. That is now district headquarters for a system that is painfully trying to provide education in the rapidly growing area north of San Rafael. And while both San Rafael districts extend to areas outside the city, the Dixie district includes part of the land recently annexed to San Rafael.

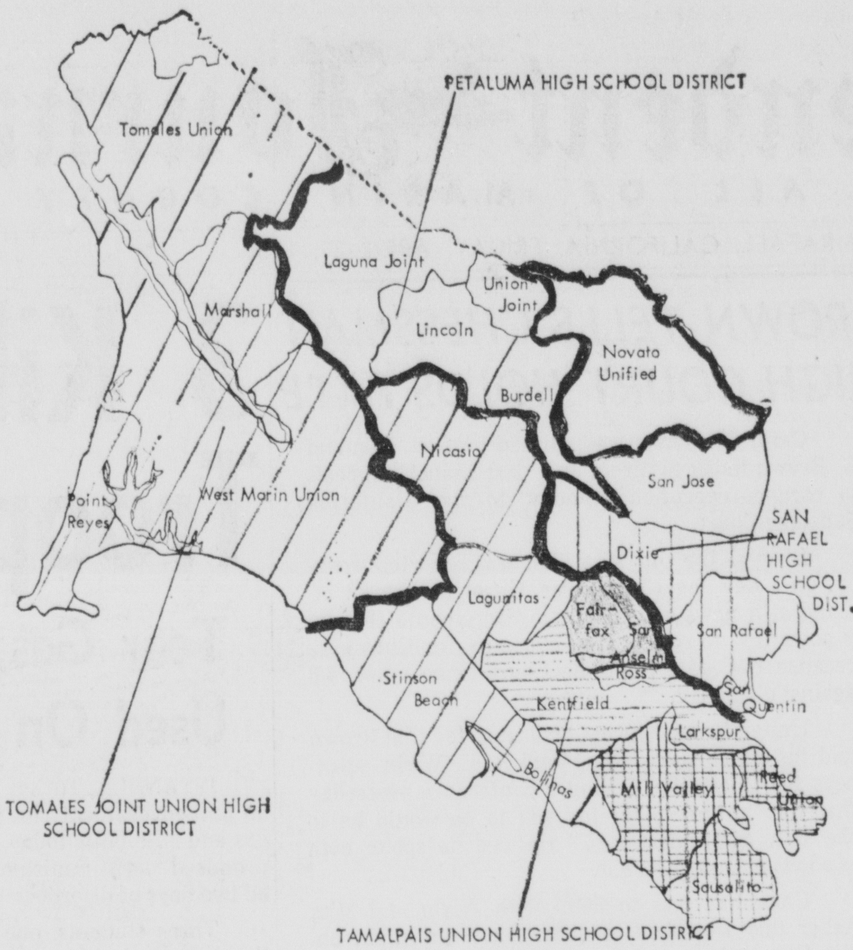
There is constant talk of annexing to San Rafael. At San Quentin, trustees are seeking to send their seventh and eighth grade students to San Rafael, on a tuition basis. San Jose is a holdout.

Lucas says that if Dixie and San Quentin became part of San Rafael, pressure would be put on San Jose "to make up its mind."

With San Rafael's split financial system there can be no effective junior high school. While San Rafael and other districts attempt to achieve a junior high set up through a semi - departmentalized program, there are no three-year junior high programs including the ninth grade.

It could be accomplished in San Rafael, in part, through a system of bookkeeping, "Borrowing" funds from each set of books.

"We already have one course of study, one board, one set of personnel, one policy and an articulated system," Lucas said. This is true except for the other three districts in the high school district. It can be argued that students in the San Rafael Elementary District have the advantage an articulated program; their counterparts from Dixie, et al, do not.



THE SILVERNALE PLAN—This is how Marin's school districts would be reorganized by Rex Silvernale, member of the San Rafael Board of Education and the county committee on school district organization. It would unify all of West Marin including Nicasio, Lagunitas, Stinson Beach and Bolinas that are presently in the Tamalpais Union High School District. That district would be further divided to put the Fairfax and San Anselmo districts in one unified district, and to unify Ross, Kentfield, Larkspur and Reed Union districts, and to make a separate unified district of Mill Valley and Sausalito. San Rafael's high school district and the San Rafael elementary, Dixie and San Quentin districts would be unified. San Jose would go to Novato, and the north central districts would remain in the Petaluma district.

Farm Family Wiped Out By Oklahoma Twister

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A farm family of three was killed by an isolated tornado that spun in on their home last night.

The Seminole County sheriff's office said a motorist came across the scene early today. Details were not immediately known.

Earlier, an Oklahoma City man died of a heart attack at the peak of a storm during which tornadoes churned straight through a 50-mile stretch of central Oklahoma.

The twisters were first reported over Anadarko before sundown and last reported over Oklahoma City. The farm family reported killed by the twister lived near Cromwell, 70 miles southeast of Oklahoma City.

Loyd Walters, the heart-attack victim, died as his house was hit by the wind.

This sprawling Oklahoma capital city was hard hit.

Most of the damage here was from roofs torn from buildings and homes by the twister. Two homes were destroyed and trailers in a trailer court overturned.

In the tiny community of Pocasset, 50 miles southwest of here, two homes were flattened and two others heavily damaged by a tornado.

At Tuttle, 10 miles northeast of Pocasset, a twister clipped a side off the high school gym, and wrecked a cotton gin, a school bus garage and three houses.

The winds lifted the roofs from the Hillcrest Country Club house and a fire station in southwest Oklahoma City. Windows were shattered, homes unroofed and big signs twisted by the wind and golfball-size hailstones. Countless cars were stranded in streets suddenly flooded by a torrential rain.

Youth Fined After High-Speed Chase

Robert Rider Sovulewski, 19, of 90 Bayview drive, San Rafael, drew $35 fine yesterday for leading police on an 80-mile-per-hour chase from a drag race scene in Novato on April 12.

Sovulewski appeared yesterday before Judge Leonard A. Thomas in Marin Municipal Court and pleaded guilty to speeding and failing to heed police signals.

On the night of April 12, police broke up a drag race on Petaluma-Pt. Reyes road at the end of Novato boulevard. Youths scampered in all directions, and cars sped away. Police caught Sovulewski after chase.

Churches To Hold Drive For Clothing

Presbyterian churches in Marin Sunday will launch a clothing drive for destitute persons overseas.

Churches that will participate are those in Sausalito, Corte Madera, Tiburon, San Anselmo, San Rafael, Tiburon, Santa Venetia, Novato and San Geronimo.

In making the announcement, Rev. Wesley C. Baker, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael, and Leonard Majore of San Rafael, a deacon at the church, said that any church could participate in the event.

They said it would last throughout May, with the goal in Marin set at 100,000 pounds.

Persons wishing to contribute may call the Presbyterian church in their community and ask where clothing can be dropped, or ask for someone to come to their homes and collect. Pickup points throughout the county also will be given by the churches.

Majore said that heavy clothing particularly is needed, and shoes and blankets. Also the clothing should be usable.

It is part of the Church World Service Overseas Relief to Destitute Refugees. The clothing will be sent to Modesto, the program's only major collection center west of the Mississippi, for shipment to overseas points.

Clark Swears He Has Never Taken Payola

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disc Jockey Dick Clark swore to House investigators today that he has never taken payola.

Clark, making a long-awaited appearance before a House subcommittee, complained that he had been condemned before getting a chance to testify.

In a 34-page statement, Clark declared: "Gentlemen, I feel that I have been convicted, condemned and denounced even before I have had an opportunity to tell my story. Further, there has been printed in the press what appears to be a pre-judgment of my case."

Clark had been turned down on his requests that he be permitted to testify first in the committee's inquiry into his activities.

In swearing that he had never taken payola, the 30-year-old idol of teen-agers asserted: "In brief, I have never agreed to play a record on a television show in return for a payment in cash or any other consideration."

Clark told the House Legislative Oversight Subcommittee that he had cooperated fully and "I have given your staff complete and unlimited access to all documents, accounts, books and papers which they have requested.

"I point this out only because I want to make it clear that I have nothing to conceal."

Sarges Pass Dr. Moore In Walk Race

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Dr. Barbara Moore was trailing two British sergeanst again today in her transcontinental trudge.

She knocked off in midafternoon yesterday and let Sgts. Patrick Maloney and Mervyn Evans steal a march on her. The 56-year-old woman, who lives on vegetables, fruits and grass covered about 34 miles before halting at 3 p.m.

The sergeants kept walking and erased her 11-mile lead, stopping for the night at Salt Lake City's southeastern limits, four miles ahead of Dr. Moore. She had camped a mile in advance of them Wednesday night at Gransville, Utah.

The soldiers started from San Francisco a day ahead of Dr. Moore, but she passed them while they slept Tuesday.

All three headed up into the Rocky Mountains today. At Silver Creek junction, 28 miles east of here, the sergeants will swing north on U. S. Highway 189 to U. S. 30. Dr. Moore will continue on Highway 40.

Tam High Club Sets 1st Dance Of Season

Tamalpais High School's International Club will present its first dance of the season at 8:30 p.m. today in Ruby R. Scott Auditorium, according to president Jan Volz.

Proceeds of the dance will help sponsor two foreign exchange students to Tamalpais next fall and will help to send Edward Collins, son of Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Collins of 700 Summit avenue, Mill Valley, to Austria this summer.

TASTES CREOLE COOKING

De Gaulle Gets Noisy New Orleans Welcome

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Charles de Gaulle, president of France, turned today from world politics to the lowly crayfish as creole cooks tried to convince him they have improved on French cuisine.

The comparison came for the 69-year-old French war hero at one of those elaborate luncheons for which New Orleans is famed.

A few hours later, de Gaulle was to catch a jet for three Caribbean stops before returning to Paris.

With proper modesty, hotel chefs termed today's luncheon "nothing elaborate."

Along with the crayfish, or "les ecrevisses dans leur," on the menu will be pompano pontchartrain, a tender whitefish prepared with buster crabs.

De Gaulle received a rousing welcome from thousands of persons who lined New Orleans streets for his arrival here last night from San Francisco.

He led a motorcade along Canal street reviewed a military parade in front of Jackson Square. Just 175 years ago tomorrow France ceded the vast Louisiana Territory to the United States on that same plot of ground.

At St. Louis Cathedral, seat of the New Orleans archdiocese and oldest cathedral in the United States, de Gaulle knelt at the side of Archbishop Joseph F. Rummel in a brief service.

A private get-together with French community officials, a big civic reception in Jackson Square and a short boat trip on the Mississippi River were also on today's program before de Gaulle was to depart for French Guiana.

Although the population of all of Nicaragua is only slightly over a million, crowds as big as 40,000 may squeeze into the National Stadium in the capital of Managua for a baseball game.

Novatan Reports 400-Mile, 17-Hour Blackout, Car Loss

A Fuller brush salesman from Novato walked into the Marin County sheriff's office yesterday with a bizarre account of a 400-mile blackout between here and Los Angeles and the mysterious loss of his car and contents worth more than $1,000.

Louie T. Pender of 1248 Yukon way, Novato, told Sheriff's Sgt. Edward Mythaler that he remembers driving near Olive School in Novato at 8 a.m. on Monday. He had about $500 in checks and cash, $500 worth of brush merchandise, and a .25 caliber automatic under the front seat.

The next thing he remembers, he said, is waking up about 1 a.m. Tuesday in a Los Angeles police station.

He told sheriff's deputies here that his car and all contents are gone. He said he does not know what happened or how he got to the Los Angeles police station.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos sent a teletype query to Los Angeles to see if police there can throw any light on Pender's missing 1952 car or what happened to Pender during the blackout.

Pender has a wife, Gwendolyn, and two children, Lou, 7, and Gwendolyn, 8, at the Yukon way home.

BUDGET

amount went into last year's budget.

"The people of Ross have indicated no intention of widening their part of Sir Francis Drake," commented Supervisor Vera Schultz.

Supervisor William D. Fusselman said, "They'll see the light if traffic continues to build up."

Brigham had a scribbled list of seven new items which had come up after preparation of the proposed budget, but the board delayed consideration of them. Brigham promised more as time went on.

Road and bridge construction together came to an estimate of $460,139, a reduction of $85,716 from the amount estimated to be spent during the current year, in line with decreased revenue partly due to the incorporation of Novato.

Brigham stigmatized as "disgraceful" the county's Mill Valley Corporation Yard on a former dump, without heat or toilet facilities, in asking $15,000 for new construction there.

For reasons of both sightliness and convenience in getting to jobs, Brigham didn't take kindly to the possibility of a single big corporation yard at the Civic Center. After discussion, the supervisors concurred that it seemed "best to be scattered."

Convict Cuts Arms In Try At Suicide

A San Quentin Prison inmate slashed his arms with a broken light bulb last night in an isolation cell where he was placed several days ago on suspicion of plotting an escape.

Associate Warden Walter D. Achuff said inmate Raymond Baldwin, 24, was treated in his cell for slight cuts.

Achuff said prison officials have not yet determined whether Baldwin was planning an escape.

Baldwin entered San Quentin last October after being sentenced in Los Angeles County to a life term for kidnaping for robbery and five years to life for first degree robbery.

Hallinan Joins Fight Against Death Penalty

He said his appointment by the state Supreme Court to represent Alexander Robillard, appeal from a death sentence "jolted me into an active attitude."

Hallinan, recently re-instated to practice, said Robillard had asked the Supreme Court to name Hallinan to defend him. As the attorney made the decision to take the case, he fired off a telegram to Gov. Edmund G. Brown protesting Monday's scheduled execution of Caryl Chessman, and also donated $100 to a movement opposed to capital punishment.

Hallinan said, however, that a report he had given the money to a Marin group fighting for Chessman is wrong. "I gave the money to a man named Mike Miller . . . He is now in Southern California trying to get up a movement to place something on the November ballot to abolish capital punishment," Hallinan said.

Speaking of Robillard, who was convicted last year of slaying a Hillborough policeman, Hallinan said that the Supreme Court had notified the convict that his previous attorneys were leaving his case. Appeal of the death sentence is automatic and the court told Robillard that if he had no funds with which to hire an attorney, the court would appoint one. Robillard asked for Hallinan.

"He's on Death Row now," Hallinan said. "I'm going over to San Quentin tomorrow to talk to him and get the records. We have a month to file a brief, and I'll have to search the records to see if there were any errors."

Appeals can be made only on the basis that an error was made during proceedings in court.

In the telegram to Brown, Hallinan said he wrote that capital punishment "an obsecene spectacle for a great state to pursue some poor wretch down all avenues of escape until it finally corners and kills him." He said he told Brown that Chessman deserves consideration for two reasons.

1. Chessman had been able to stave off execution for 12 years and shows some merit to his defense.

2. Chessman has brought the focus of world attention on the "barbarous practice of capital punishment."

mittee meeting clutching $8 in her hand.

The Marin Psychological Assn., at a meeting last night in Mill Valley agreed to wire Governor Brown that it supports his views on abolishing capital punishment.

Ray D. Graber, president of the association, signed the telegram which said, "We psychologists support your views to abolish capital punishment, and respectfully urge you to make an immediate moratorium on the death penalty."

Chamber Unit Refuses To Endorse Park Plan

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The travel and recreation unit of the North Coast Council of the California Chamber of Commerce refused today to "endorse in principle" the proposed national seashore area at Pt. Reyes.

At the same time, however, the unit requested chairman Thomas P. Ludcke of Santa Rosa to call a special meeting for committee members to discuss the proposal.

The action followed a speech by San Rafael attorney Bryan McCarthy, who urged rejection of the proposal. McCarthy told the group the park is "bad for Marin, bad for the North Coast, bad for California and bad for the United States."

He said he "firmly believes it is not warranted, not needed and will do positive harm." He cited the needs for the dairy industry and its tax base, bad weather and the cost of acquisition of development as reasons for rejection.

Lothar Salin of San Rafael, a director of the Pt. Reyes National Seashore Foundation, declared "cows are being displaced by subdivisions," and that the only way to preserve the dairy industry on the peninsula is through a park. He noted that the first subdivision request had already been filed for the area.

The 10 members of the committee present heard Gibbs Larson, Dillon Beach resort owner, offer a resolution in favor of supporting the park in principle, but with modifications to be more acceptable to the dairy industry. On the vote, however, only three voted in favor and one voted against.

However, chairman Ludcke urged the abstainers to vote "no" so that the "matter can be disposed of." Further discussion held. On a re-vote, four voted "no."

Boy Strikes Schoolgirl

A 16-year-old Tamalpais High School co-ed was struck in the mouth by a 17-year-old youth yesterday noon near the school cafeteria after a violent argument, sheriff's deputies reported today.

The victim is Linda Earl of House 476, Marin City. The youth, also of Marin City, was booked at county jail on suspicion of assault and battery and taken to Marin Juvenile Hall.

Vice Principal J. R. George of the school told Deputy Sheriff Charles Prandi the beating occurred about 12:45 p.m. The girl was treated for wounds about the mouth and face.

The cause of the "heated argument" was not disclosed.

FIRE

Fire Chief Leslie Armager, who sent two rucks to the scene, estimated damages to the two-story, three-room house at $12,000. The cause was unknown.

Police Capt. Joe Canet, who lives nearby and came to the fire, said the building was one of the oldest in Mill Valley. As a barn it belonged to the late Charles Varney.

The house was only about 12 feet from a new two-story apartment building at 255 Blithedale avenue, but it and the neighboring home of Mr. and Mrs. Adams were not damaged. The flames were brought under control in 30 minutes.

Mrs. Mildred Lazzarini, Dr. Brown's secretary, reached Dr. Brown by telephone today to inform her of the fire. She said Dr. Brown was very philosophical about it, and wasn't going to hurry home.

C Street Repair Work Completed

Portions of C street in San Rafael which have been closed for repair for the last 10 days have been repaved and were to be opened to traffic this afternoon.

The repaved sections are between Third and Fourth streets and between Fifth and Mission avenues.

Marinite Win Bank Awards

Two College of Marin students last night were among 55 Northern California junior college students awarded $100 Bank of America Business Awards in San Francisco.

They were Marianne E. Rattenberry, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Rattenberry, 9 Sunset way, San Rafael, and Joyce Farnsworth, 20, daughter of Mrs. Raymond Mariani, 1209 Irwin street, San Rafael. Both are sophomores.

Miss Rattenberry won an award in the secretarial division, and Miss Farnsworth in the business administration division. They were selected on the basis of scholarship, personality, extracurricular employment and activities. The college has participated in the program five years.

Sausalito Unit Asks Retention Of Park Area

The Sausalito Recreation Commission last night recommended to the city council and planning commission that they "do all in their power to retain for public park purposes the absolute maximum land area adjacent to the proposed new Christ Church parish hall."

"To achieve this end, the recreation commission respectfully suggests that full consideration be given to minimizing off-street parking and/or other requirements which would reduce the size of the present park," read the commission motion.

MUST RE-APPLY

Chairman John Minton said the commissioners learned from a report by City Attorney John B. Ehlen that approval of a use permit for the church to build cannot be granted on the present basis. Minton said the attorney ruled the church will have to re-apply for rezoning through the planning commission.

The commissioners approved budgetary requests totaling $10,550, to include an $8,600 capital outlay program. The major items of the program are the tennis court at South View Park, the first portion of an irrigation system for Bayside Park, and first stage construction of a full concrete launching ramp at the foot of Turney street.

ENDORSE PARK

The commission recommended endorsement of the Pt. Reyes National Seashore area project to the city council.

Commissioners announced they are trying to get the upper Fourth street playground landscaped at no cost to the city. Some materials have already been contributed, Minton said, and others are wanted. Offers should be made to commissioner Alfred M. Arenz, Minton said.

The gas industry has laid more than 85,000 miles of long-distance pipelines in the United States since the end of World War II, reports the American Gas Assn.

Tennis Court Site In Ross Under Study

Ross town councilmen expect to decide at their May 12 meeting where to put two tennis courts which have been offered the town.

A citizens' committee headed by Sanford Paganucci has offered to put up the $8,000 to $10,000 needed to construct the courts. The only cost to the town would be in maintenance.

Five of the 17 persons attending an adjourned council meeting last night favored a proposal to put the courts on the Northwestern Pacific right of way north of the post office.

A letter from the Marin Municipal Water District indicated the district would not object to locating the courts there, over a MMWD pipeline, but that the town would have to pay for any re-installation work if it ever became necessary to get at the pipe.

Chessman Meets With Lawyers As Death Date Nears

Caryl Chessman, less than three days away from his scheduled death in San Quentin Prison's gas chamber Monday, held a "final" conference with attorneys A. L. Wirin and Rosalie Asher on what more can be done to postpone the execution.

The attorneys got nowhere yesterday in a personal plea to Gov. Edmund G. Brown in Sacramento.

Brown told them he stood firm on his statement of last Tuesday—that he is powerless to act unless there is some unexpected development of a critical nature. None is in sight.

Plans for the execution went ahead.

Warden Fred Dickson of San Quentin said no visitors but attorneys of record for Chessman would be allowed on the prison grounds Sunday night, the eve of the execution. Newsmen had been admitted in the past.

The governor's office announced it would flash the word when the death-dealing cyanide pellets are dropped in the gas chamber. Newsmen at the viewing area in the prison aren't permitted to leave until the execution is over.

Dickson announced that foreign newsmen would not be allowed to witness the execution, citing an attorney general's opinion that state law allows only U.S. citizens as witnesses.

The announcement threatened to cause renewed foreign interest in the case. An Italian correspondent said his newspaper is prepared to share the cost of a court test of the ruling with other foreign news media.

Lucio Manisco of 11 Messaggero, Rome, charged California officialdom with trying "to eliminate foreign interest in the Chessman case."

John Gold, New York correspondent for the London Evening News, shared Manisco's view. In a dispatch to his paper, he charged the bar against foreign newsmen is an attempt "to damp down overseas reaction to the case."

Meanwhile, more voices were raised on behalf of Chessman.

Giovannia Leone told Eisenhower in a telegram that the execution "would be repugnant to all civilized conscience."

And in Detroit, the city chapter of the National Lawyers Guild asked executive clemency for Chessman. The group said it "believes the interests of justice require the commutation of the death sentence of Caryl Chessman. As a bar association, we believe generally that capital punishment should be abolished, and specifically in this matter believe a commutation would best serve the ends of justice."

Indonesians Sentence U.S. Flier To Death

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Allan Lawrence Pope, American flier of fortune, today was sentenced to death for fighting against the government of Indonesia in the 1958 rebellion.

Pope showed no emotion.

The judge gave him a week to accept the verdict or appeal to a higher court. If the flier accepts the verdict, the judge may ask Sukarno to pardon Pope.

Pope admitted flying for the rebels, but insisted he flew only one attack mission.

Pope's World War II B26 bomber was shot down near the government-held port of Ambon on May 18, 1958. He bailed out and was captured.

TRIAL TO PROCEED

Hoffa Attorneys Handed Setback

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. Dist. Judge Joseph R.) Jackson today ordered the trial of a civil action aimed at ousting James R. Hoffa as president of the Teamsters Union to proceed on Tuesday.

Jackson denied a motion by Hoffa's attorneys asking him to throw the proceedings out of court.

Hoffa's attorneys immediately announced that they will go to the U. S. Court of Appeals in a new attempt to avoid the trial. Other motions to forestall the trial already are pending before the appeals court.

The proceedings against Hoffa are based on a contention that he misused union funds. They were brought by court-appointed monitors who contend Hoffa used some $600,000 of funds belonging to Detroit Local 299 of the Teamsters in various personal business enterprises.

One enterprise was a Florida real estate development.

In arguing that the proceedings should be thrown out, Hoffa's attorneys contended that the courts have no power to remove him and that this is a privilege entirely within the hands of the union members who elected him.

Judge Jackson ruled, however, that "it is the decision of the court that the monitors clearly acted within the scope of their authority."

Lots Of Changes Taking Place In The Restaurants Of Marin

What a week for changes . . . When Milan Prokupek told me he was remodeling the kitchen at Inverness Lodge he was putting it mildly. If there's anything left out, I don't know what it is. There's everything the well-dressed galley could ask for.

The dining room and lounge, too, have been repainted and re-outfitted with new chairs, more tables, and an attractive wine closet which I suspect is the pride and joy of son-in-law Vladimir Nevl. You'll never recognize the place.

Vladimir has now left Ernie's in San Francisco and spending his full time at Inverness. You're liable to find him anywhere from Drake's Arms to the lodge to the riding academy where he gives lessons daily.

Drake's Arms is set up with moderately-priced American food with all entrees under $3 except the New York steak. There are also several salad and sandwich lunch specialties. Menu is supervised by Alena Nevl. Ed Smith is at the bar.

One or the other—Drake's Arms, Inverness Lodge or the coffee shop—is open every day for lunch or dinner, or both. All are run by the same family. Personally I favor the lodge for its distinctive Czech food.

The historic Blue Rock Inn in Larkspur has changed to the hands of a small group who will continue to uphold the dinery's standards of fine food, colorful atmosphere and intimacy in the manner befitting its reputation. (That's what the man says).

Ink is scarcely dry on the contract and date for occupancy has not been established. Further details will be reported in this column next week.

Bill Basil and Benny Altschuler, popular Blue Rock operators for several years, want to spend full time with their prized Red Carpet in San Francisco. There's too much to do twixt Red and Blue.

ANOTHER CHANGE in operation involves the little cafe Manana on C street in San Rafael. Next Monday it will pass from the tender care of Vi Looby to Herman Snider and Ramona Stallings.

Manana will become Ramona's and we are assured that cuisine will be true Mexican and Spanish gourmet dishes. It will be open seven days a week from 4 p.m. At a later date lunches will be added.

Vi Looby, bless her, will take a well-earned vacation. But if we can judge, she'll probably set up shop again in some other part of the county.

WE KNEW ABOUT this before, but now it's official:

The Ranch Wagon is fully in the hands of Max Horowitz, its long-time manager. Max has taken over the interests of his three partners and now has everything his own way.

First major change will be open for lunches Mondays through Fridays, beginning May 16. Max is partitioning off part of the lounge for additional space which will almost double the seating capacity.

The Ranch Wagon is taking reservations now for Mother's Day dinners, only a week away, at regular prices.

NOW THAT Franchini's West End Villa has opened for lunches Tuesdays through the week, you'll find a familiar face in the kitchen preparing them. He's Tony Failla, who was previously in charge of the cooking department when the Villa was under the late Pete Ostaggi. I think he's been away a year or more.

Tony is handling the entire lunch menu and will also be on hand to assist Karl Holm with weekend dinners.

ACROSS THE TABLE: Ever try a seafood omelette? I did Easter morning at Sabella's and never was more delighted with my breakfast. I don't know what Sabella's egg bill was for that occasion—omelettes, Easter eggs and fizzes, but Petaluma must have sent in a carload . . . Speaking of omelettes, La Petite Auberge has become similarly minded. Several varieties now on the lunch menu—some in French style. Look for additional dinner choices here soon . . .

Going up Bolinas way on a weekend? You might look in at the Breakers which Bill Clark and Bob Johnston of Fairfax have been redecorating in their spare time since last November a la tropicana. Localites refer to it as the Bamboo Hut. Bill was several years with Trader Vic's, which should give you the picture. Open only on weekends—food, beer and wine.

IF YOU'VE NOTICED the copy in Tiburon Tommie's ad on this page, it was composed by Mrs. Harold O'Brien of Larkspur who took a quick try on Tommie's contest announced in the same space last week—and came up a winner. So many good entries were received Tommie left the final choice up to his women's bowling team because they're used to scoring.

See? Maybe you should read the ads more often. It might have been you.

NMWD Board To Eye Water Pact

A special meeting of North Marin Water District directors to consider a contract which would bring Russian River water to the Novato area will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the district office.

The contract among the North Marin district, the Sonoma County Flood Control and Water Conservation District and the City of Petaluma has been under consideration for some months.

North Marin's share in construction of a viaduct which would deliver the water would be financed through a $3,670,000 water bond issue which is scheduled to be put before the voters on June 7.

The apartments will be open for inspection tomorrow and Sunday, a spokesman for Parnow Brothers, builders and operators, said today.

MARIN MOVIES

Kay Kendall At Her Best In Rafael Film

By LES DARD

A preview of the weekend films:

RAFAEL THEATER

"Once More With Feeling" (color, filmed in Paris) is a farcical variation of the Svengali story. It stars Yul Brynner and Kay Kendall, and opens Sunday on the San Rafael screen.

Brynner portrays a tempestuous conductor who uses orchestras "the way some people use Kleenex." Miss Kendall is his girl friend of many years—in fact, everybody thinks they're married.

Estimate: Miss Kendall's funniest performance.

SEQUOIA THEATER

"On the Beach," starring Gregory Peck and Ava Gardner, opens Sunday in Mill Valley.

Time is 1964. The northern hemisphere has been wiped out in an atomic war. Deadly radiation is drifting south. The setting is Australia, where the people have about five months to live.

Peck is a U. S. sub captain. Miss Gardner is a loose-living beauty. Fred Astaire is one of the men who helped build the Bomb. Tony Perkins is a young naval officer.

How each meets the end of civilization is the gist of this provocative story.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

"Some Like It Hot," starring Marilyn Monroe, Jack Lemmon and Tony Curtis, is being brought back to the Hub screen Sunday.

This trio, plus Pat O'Brien, Joe E. Brown, and George Raft, turn back the clock to the late 1920s when people went to speakeasies and rival gangs gunned each other down.

Curtis and Lemmon play a pair of musicians who flee mobsters by disguising themselves as members of an all-girl band. Marilyn is the band's singer.

Estimate: Very funny.

MARIN THEATER

A new Alec Guinness film, "Our Man In Havana," opens Sunday on the Sausalito screen.

This excellent CinemaScope yarn offers Alec as a seedy owner of a vacuum cleaner shop in Havana, who becomes British spychief in the Caribbean.

Estimate: One of the season's better offerings.

NOVATO THEATER

Alec Guinness is the star of "The Horse's Mouth" (color), a notably funny film about a brilliant artist whose refusal to compromise his principles leads only to trouble.

It opens Sunday.

Guinness wrote the script, too, and while his execution of Joyce Cary's best seller is not always on the mark, it's close enough to make the film worth seeing.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

"Bell, Book and Candle" is a comedy-romance (color) about a witch (Kim Novak) who sets her sights on a romance with a human (Jimmy Stewart).

The main laugh-getters are Ernie Kovacs as an author of books on witches; Jack Lemmon, a novice male witch, and Elsa Lanchester, as Kim's inept aunt. Hermione Gingold is also in the cast, as a sort of dowager lady among other witches.

The co-feature at the playbox is "3:10 to Yuma," a Western film which the youngsters and their folks will both like.

LARK THEATER

"Room at the Top," a very frank movie, tells of a young heel's rise from his poverty-stricken beginnings.

Estimate: Leave the kids home.

MOTOR MOVIES

"1001 Arabian Nights" is a full length color cartoon based on the antics of Mr. Magoo, a myopic character hitherto limited to adult humor.

In this production he portrays Aladdin's uncle, eager for his nephew to settle down in marriage. The problem: The wicked Wazir, who has tumbled for the princess Aladdin loves.

It's as simple as that. When we previewed it, the youngsters were enthralled.

FAIRFAX THEATER

This theater's reviving "From Here to Eternity," a film which successfully captured the quiet power of James Jones' best seller about prewar Army life in Hawaii.

There's Sgt. Burt Lancaster, a stickler for rules, whose positive male confidence assured him of victory with Deborah Kerr, his commanding officer's wife. Then there's Pvt. Frank Sinatra, a Brooklynite with courage bordering on the ridiculous and foolish, yet not without the nobility of an underdog fighting for survival. And finally, there's Pvt. Montgomery Clift, a man with a mind that clings to an ideal—even if the ideal is destroying him.

LOTS OF LAUGHS—Baldpated Yul Brynner and lovely British comedienne Kay Kendall keep the laughs rolling in the sophisticated comedy, "Once More With Feeling," which opens Sunday at the Rafael Theater in San Rafael. It's a color version of a Broadway stage hit.

Sales of toothpaste, cosmetics, pharmaceuticals, foods and other products in collapsible metal tubes set a record of 1,150,000,000 units in 1959.

Sentencing Slated For Zoning Violator

Frank Dittle of 153 Walnut avenue, Mill Valley, who has been found guilty in Marin Municipal Court of violating the Mill Valley city zoning and building ordinances, will reappear in court Tuesday at 4 p.m. for sentencing.

Dittle was found guilty on the charge that he had constructed additions to his garage within the five-foot lateral setback area.

English Teachers' Work Load Rapped

College of Marin trustee chairman Rupert E. Kempf at a board meeting last night sharply criticized the teaching load in the English department, and thereby touched off a debate o nthe grading of English compositions and the number of students in classes.

Kempf said that in previous years English instructors carried 18 hours a week of classroom teaching, but that the figure has been changed to 15 hours.

"I think this is manifestly unfair," he said. He said some English teachers are carrying only 12 hours, while in other departments, some teachers still carry 18 hours.

"It is my recollection," said Trustee George Washburn, "that English teachers were given fewer hours because they spend more time outside the classroom grading compositions."

Dewart E. Lewis of the English department said the English teachers also give and read entrance exams amounting to more than 100 hours a semester.

Dr. George H. Ball, French teacher who has also taught English classes, defended the time spent grading compositions. "It takes more than translation papers," he said.

Another English teacher said writing virtually is not taught in high schools because teachers have too big a load, and that if class sizes per teacher are increased at the College of Marin, the same thing will result there.

"How about sociology and economics? Are there no compositions in those classes?" asked Kempf. "If we are to treat the whole college like the English department, we would have to hire a lot more teachers, and there would be no raises for anyone."

"Only one junior college covered in a recent survey," said Lewis, "required English teachers to carry 18 hours." The board was also told of the number of hours preparation required for each English class, including those in literature. As an example one teacher said he had to read Jane Austin's "Pride and Prejudice" every year "to have fresh in mind for the students."

Kempf, however, was not satisfied. He wanted to know why some English classes had 25 students while others had six. Vice President Paul Clymer said a six-student class might be an afternoon one, with the majority of students signing up for morning classes.

"I'd like to have the feeling," said Kempf, "that the administration and the teachers think something can be done about this. Some of these teachers are not doing very much work . . .

"I'd just like to see the teaching load spread around and get a more varied and balanced program."

Clymer said that might mean smaller classes.

"What's wrong with that?" retorted Kempf. "It's better to do that, than nothing. All you are saying is no, no, no."

Clymer, evidently bruised by the discussion, said that could be done, "but I don't think it's the right thing to do."

College President Ward H. Austin came to Clymer's defense, saying:

"We can set up a program, but if that doesn't shape up the following semester when the students sign up, there's no class. Also we can't set up another course when they begin to drop out at the end of six weeks."

"Apparently we've reached an impasse," Kempf said "Does any other member of the board have a comment?"

There was no comment.

AFRICAN GIRL PRAYS FOR CHANCE TO STUDY AT COLLEGE OF MARIN

Mary Emily Oloo, 18, would like to attend the College of Marin.

Mary lives in Kenya, British East Africa, where four of her countrymen, all males, recently applied for admission to the college.

President Ward H. Austin said the men tentatively have been admitted and that housing is being sought for them. He told the College of Marin board of trustees last night that Mary's letter had just arrived, airmail.

She said she had just finished Form II in the Africa Girls' High School and had studied general science, religion, geography, music and English, and was a member of the choir.

"I do pray, God," she wrote, "for a chance to further my education in the U.S.A."

The board, touched by the letter, asked Austin to check into her financial situation prior to making a recommendation and seeking local housing.

"I can't help but feel," said Austin, "that she knows those boys are coming here, or at least one of them."

"You," said Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy, "are a romanticist at heart."

Writers Reject Offer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Striking Western television writers today rejected as unsatisfactory a proposed contract with seven TV film companies which had been accepted yesterday by Eastern writers.

Decision On College Art Teacher's Pay Delayed

Trustees of the College of Marin last night went into a secret executive session to consider the employment of two teachers, but, at the last minute, decided not to hold an executive session on setting the salary of an art teacher.

The agenda of the proposed executive session was mailed out last week, and an Independent-Journal story pointed out that there was no provision in the Brown Act, California's anti-secrecry law, for holding a closed session for discussion of a salary.

As the time for the executive session approached, Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy looked at her agenda, turned to the college President Ward H. Austin, and said:

"Why are we holding an executive session on that?"

"We can take it up right now," Austin said.

Under consideration was the salary of Alton Raible of Oakland, who has been hired for the next school year to teach weaving. He had been recommended by Edwin A. Cadogan, art department director.

Under a new hiring procedure adopted last night, an advisory committee will make recommendations to the president on hiring and salaries of certificated personnel. Board chairman Rupert E. Kempf said he wanted this procedure carried out on Raible, and recommended that no decision be made on the salary until the board is furnished with further details of Railble's experience.

"I have heard criticism of this man," Mrs. Deedy said, "and not from anyone in this school. People I've talked to are fascinated that we are going to hire him to teach weaving. They want to know if he really has taught weaving before."

Mrs. Deedy asked that Cadogan be requested to come to the next board meeting "to justify his recommendation."

Counseling Proposal Set Aside

Trustees of the College of Marin last night set aside the recommendation of a committee on counseling that a fulltime college counselor be hired, and that some members of the faculty be released for part-time counseling duties.

Said Trustee Kent O. Seymour: "I hesitate to settle this now with a new man coming in to be groomed as president. He probably should have something to say. I'd like to delay this to orient it to the budget."

Seymour's view won out, but Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy said: "This is a matter of top priority as far as the budget is concerned. Considering the number of student drops, we can't go on forever withholding services while we have a good reserve fund."

The recommendation by college President Ward H. Austin and other faculty and administration members of the committee was for the employment of a fulltime counselor to devote three-quarters of his time in counseling and the remainder of his time to coordinating and planning the program. Five teachers would be used on a part-time basis to assist him. Because of this, two more faculty members would be added.

Fair-Anselm Shop Center Gets Go-Ahead

The $300,000 Fair-Anselm shopping center in Fairfax won final approval from the city planning commission last night.

The center is to rise across Center boulevard from the Lucky Stores market, on land owned by Max Friedman.

The two buildings of the center will have 36,000 square feet of space for eight shops such as drug store, variety store, barber shop, beauty shop and hardware store. The Lucky Store also is on land leased from Friedman.

Foundations already have been laid for the two buildings, which will be separated by a pedestrian mall. A wing of one building will extend over Corte Madera Creek. The buildings will have peaked roofs.

The meeting last night also saw unanimous election of a new chairman, Stanley Wilsey. Former chairman was Waldemar Radtke, who, with recent election to the city council, cannot head the commission. He will remain as an ex-officio member.

Radtke will take the place of Rolfe M. Ockenden as council representative. A new commission member is to be appointed.

Mrs. Richard Chase was appointed secretary. Radtke also had been acting as secretary.

STOCKS TODAY

COMBINED AP & UPI

NEW YORK — Industrials dropped stocks close to their 1960 lows today in moderate trading. The list made an early attempt at a rally from yesterday's decline but support was lacking and the list slipped down under the weight of the blue chips.

Volume for the day was estimated at 2,800,000 shares compared with 3,190,000 yesterday.

Losses of fractions to more than a point among key stocks outnumbered gainers.

Marin Gas Tax Share To Rise 20 Per Cent

Marin County is scheduled to receive an almost 20 per cent increase in motor vehicle license fees during the 1960-61 fiscal year, it was announced today in Sacramento by State Controller Alan Cranston.

Marin will be one of 20 California counties that will enjoy the increase, because of an expected increase in population. The other 38 counties will receive less.

Based on an estimated population of 148,000, Marin is scheduled to receive $537,900, or a 19.29 per cent increase over the current fiscal year's $450,900.

Of the more than half million dollars expected the next fiscal year, some $377,700 will go to Marin's 10 cities.

The cities' expected apportionments are: Belvedere, $8,600; Corte Madera, $25,900; Fairfax, $23,000; Larkspur, $25,600; Mill Valley, $46,100; Novato, $70,900; Ross, $11,700; San Anselmo, $57,200; San Rafael, $80,800, and Sausalito, $27,900.

Marin's total compares with $541,900 for Sonoma County and $2,870,500 for San Francisco County, both of which are expected to get decreased amounts.

Belvedere Council, Plan Board Set Secret Meet

The Belvedere City Council and planning commission will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the home of Vice Mayor Ida Scott, 72 Lagoon road, to review engineering reports on the western tidelands development.

The meeting is not open to the public, City Manager Britton Rey said.

Rey emphasized that "no action will be taken at this meeting . . . the council and the planning commission are reviewing the commission's activities since the proposal was first brought up last July."

According to opinions of the state attorney general and the state legislative council, any meeting of a public body at which a quorum is present constitutes an official meeting.

The city council will act on the Belvedere Properties Inc. appeal at its regular meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the Belvedere Community Hall.

The three engineering reports to be reviewed are by: Dames and Moore, engineers for the developers; Albert H. Seimers, city engineer, and Morton W. Lieberman, representing the Belvedere Property Owners Assn., which is fighting the development.

The city council, at its April meeting, did not make any decision on the appeal, referring it back to the planning commission.

The planning commission subsequently stuck by its denial of the application because of City Atty. William H. MacKay's ruling that, according to the subdivision ordinance, the homes would be constructed on "a dangerous or inundated area."

Novato Leaders Outline Area's Growth Problem

By CARLETON WILLIAMS

Speaking on Novato's future at a membership dinner meeting of the chamber of commerce were Mayor Wayne Womack, Supt. William J. J. Smith, of Novato Unified School District, Peter J. Ferrarese, president of the Novato Fire District board; Al Tresch, manager of Novato Sanitary District, and Jerome B. Gilbert, manager and chief engineer of North Marin Water District.

All predicted at least a four fold increase in population within 10 to 20 years.

Of the four districts, only the sanitary district is prepared to meet substantial growth without immediate increase in facilities.

To keep abreast of the growth, the first district will need a higher tax rate. Both the school district and the water district will ask the voters to approve bond issues almost immediately, the spokesmen said.

Using a University of California survey of the district needs, as well as an actual head count conducted recently, Smith said there are now 1,768 children of pre-school age in Novato.

When the area reaches its saturation point, or the point at which there is no more room for residential development, Novato will have an enrollment of 12,480 pupils, Smith said.

This will mean a need for three high schools, three junior high schools and 16 elementary schools. These would necessarily be manned by 403 teachers as compared with the 130 now employed.

The only way to prepare for the growth, Smith said, is to face a bond election in the near future.

Another bond issue — this one scheduled for June 7—was discussed by Gilbert, who also predicted a growth of four times the present water needs by 1980. The water bond issue would be excess of three million dollars.

Gilbert explained in detail the proposed viaduct from Novato to the Russian River, which the bonds would finance. He urged the voters to say "yes."

Ferrarese, analysing the fire district's battle to maintain a necessary standard of equipment and fire-fighting potential, said he predicted next year's tax rate would have to increase from the present 65 cents per $100 assessed valuation to "around 70 cents."

Tresch, speaking on the growth and needs of the sanitary district, was alone in declaring that his district's facilities were in no immediate danger of being outstripped by the population growth.

Mayor Womack reviewed the accomplishments of the first city council since the Jan. 12 election which created the city. Planning is the answer to the future of the city, he said. "Planning, industrial development and money is what we need for Novato's future," he added.

Introducing the speakers and offering a short review of the accomplishments of the chamber of commerce during the past year was chamber president Alfred W. Bowman. The meeting was held in the Novato High School cafeteria.

Mental Hospitals Set Open Houses

SACRAMENTO (AP)—California's state mental hospitals will open their doors next week to show the public what is being done for the mentally ill.

Dr. Daniel Blain, state director of mental hygiene, issued this invitation to the public:

"We hope everyone will take this opportunity. We want people to know what we are doing to keep California a leader in the care and treatment of the mentally afflicted."

Registration Starts For Reserve Meet

Registration was under way this afternoon for reserve officers from California who meet this weekend at the Reserve Officers Assn. convention in San Rafael.

This opening day of the convention was to continue with a cocktail party at conclave headquarters at the Bermuda Palms, followed by a dinner.

The San Rafael Military Academy band will open the second day of the meeting, followed by an address by Rear Admiral Jack P. Monroe, commander of the Pacific missile range at Pt Mugu, who will speak on "Missiles Over the Pacific."

A formal military ball will conclude tomorrow's activities, with the meeting scheduled to close at noon Sunday.

Reserve Officers Assn. ladies clubs also will meet during the weekend. Women members will hear an address Saturday by Col. Newton Stearns, on "Can We Live with the Communist Tiger?—An Answer to Khrushchev's Peace Offering."

About 6,000 invitations have been extended to reserve officers throughout the state.

Lt. Col. Daniel G. Cook, San Rafael, is general co-chairman of the convention. Lt. Col. Oscar Street, San Anselmo, is general chairman.

Lt. Col. Aaron Rucker, Kentfield, program; Lt. Col. Carl Webber, Kentfield, finance; Lt. Cmdr. Donald Carpenter, Mill Valley, housing.

Lt. Col. Robert Paine, Novato, is in charge of registration, and Lt. Col Leroy Wanless, Novato, entertainment.

Expenditure by Americans during 1960 to treat pain, avoid disease and restore fitness will approach $19 billion, according to the Health Insurance Institute.

Reed District Art Festival Set Tomorrow

The Reed Union School District and the Reed District Parent-Teacher Club "All Arts Festival" will open tomorrow at 1 p.m. in the Bel Aire School multi-purpose room.

Children's paintings, drawings and crafts will be displayed in the library and adjoining outdoor gallery area. Mrs. Edward J. Gratonik, Tiburon artist and teacher, has mounted the entries for exhibition.

At 2 p.m. seventh and eighth grade speech students will read selections from outstanding prose and poetry of the kindergarten through eighth grade. The district orchestra, under direction of Chris Bogios, and the girls' chorus will complete the program. The galleries will be open until 4:30 p.m.

Coordinator for the first districtwide art event is Mrs. Seymour Whitelaw. She said several teachers will have their art work displayed.

Free Girl Scout baby sitting for the younger children will be in the kindergarten area.

Private Cable Car

WALKERTON, Va. (AP)—John Peatross has never seen San Francisco but he understands about her cable cars and the need for them.

Peatross just got tired of walking up and down hill from his cottage to the beach, and carrying the stuff he said was needed on his boats.

He built his own cable car which operates on two rails laid on two by four boards.

New Teacher Hired By College Board

Trustees of the College of Marin last night voted to hire Jacqueline G. Nettles, 26, of 325 Tamalpais avenue, Mill Valley, as a physical education instructor.

Miss Nettles is now teaching at Jefferson High School in Daly City. She will receive $6,200 a year.

The action was taken after a midnight executive session in which the hiring of Miss Nettles, a music teacher and an assistant registrar was discussed.

Going back into regular session, the board took action on Miss Nettles' hiring, but deferred decisions on a music teacher and the registrar appointment until applications for the jobs can be more closely studied.

The board also accepted the resignation of David Hawkins, a fulltime mathematics instructor the past three years. Hawkins, a retired admiral, will teach next year at Tamalpais High School.

Just as the board adjourned at 1:20 a.m., president Ward H. Austin passed out copies of the proposed 1960-61 fiscal budget. The board accepted the copies for study, and there was no discussion.

Sorry, Santa

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)— Santa Claus will never make it down one chimney. Tommy Miller has already tested it for him.

Tommy, 7, and a friend were on the roof of an unfinished house here. Tommy put his feet down the chimney, then slipped on in—and stuck.

Firemen pulled him out.

BOY CYCLIST HURT

Woman's Driving Lesson Ends In 3-Way Disaster

Mrs. White was being given a driving lesson by her husband when, according to Police Chief Frank L. Nelson, the car (1) hit a bicycle, throwing its 8-year-old rider to the pavement; (2) crashed into a porch railing, and (3) bashed in a carport.

The cyclist, Michael Sjovold of 333 Willow avenue, was treated at Marin General Hospital for bruises, a leg injury and slight concussion.

Mrs. White had circled the block a couple of times, going north on Willow avenue. As she turned into Willow on a slight incline, her husband told her to apply the foot brake gradually, she said. She mistakenly placed her foot on the gas pedal.

White grabbed the wheel with both hands, trying to avoid the boy cyclist, his wife told the chief.

The boy was approaching on the wrong side of the road, the couple said.

The car struck the bicycle, throwing the boy to the pavement, knocked down the front railing of a porch at 338 Willow, then crashed into the storage shed of a carport at 332 Willow.

Mrs. White observed afterward that someone had told her not to have her husband teach her to drive.

Company Honors Employee For 47 Years Service

Paul L. Barstow, of Corte Madera, has been given a gold watch by Western Union Telegraph Co. in recognition of 47 years of service with the firm.

Barstow is division operations supervisor for the nine western states, with headquarters in San Francisco.

Barstow started with Western Union in 1912 as a messenger boy and student Morse operator at $15 a month. He has been employed by the company ever since except for brief interuptions for service along the Mexican border and in World War I.

He was employed in various western states in supervisory jobs, until his appointment to his present job in 1959.

During his years as a Morse operator, Barstow covered a 1915 cyclone in Kansas and set up a telegraph office in a box car in Utah to provide wire service from a mine disaster which took more than 100 lives in 1923.

Fill 'Er Up

ST. LOUIS, (AP) — Bartender Valentine Tatitch had more trouble than usual, this time, in complying with the order to "fill her up."

A car broke the paving over a 120-year-old well on the parking lot next to the cocktail lounge where Tatitch works.

Board Adopts College Teacher Hiring System

A system for hiring teaching personnel at the College of Marin was adopted last night by the board of trustees.

Accepted was a combination of views of the committee on certificated personnel and President Ward H. Austin. Trustee George Washburn immediately wanted to know how this would affect the present setup in which Austin has made recommendations and the "teachers have had no say."

Austin said there had never been a formal setup but that he has always consulted with department heads and Paul Clymer, vice president.

"But this is a step in the right direction," said Austin.

Generally, the newly adopted system provides:

1. That an advisory committee be formed to assist the president in making selections.

2. That this committee have an opportunity to discuss the qualifications of the candidate with the president and receive from his personnel record information.

3. That persons be hired on the salary schedule according to experience, receiving a year's teaching in the same subject in a college, a half year for high school, and credit in certain areas of military service.

The committee will be purely advisory with the final decision being made by the president and the board of trustees.

The trustees also accepted reports from committees on community relations, and the college's physical plant. A minority committee report was received on the latter subject. The reports were referred to the budget file without discussion.

Condition Of Crash Victim Reported Good

Frank Geisel, 58, of 54 Grove lane, Novato, who was injured when his car went off Pt. Reyes - Petaluma road yesterday, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital.

BIG BONFIRE?

College Trustees Decide 2 Old Buildings Must Go

There may be a big bonfire at the College of Marin in Kentfield very soon. And it won't be a student rally.

It will be staged to get rid of two ageing college buildings described as "not worth life and limb to walk through."

Trustee board chairman Rupert E. Kempf said at a meeting last night that he and Trustees Elizabeth M. Deedy and Kent O. Seymour recently inspected two buildings on the college's Granton Park property "and came to the conclusion they should be burned down."

He referred to two old buildings, one used for the apprentice program and the other intended for music."

Said Mrs. Deedy, "If 25 people walked through the music building, it would collapse."

Said Seymour, "They should be destroyed as quickly as possible in the least expensive way."

Seymour's suggestion was passed on to college President Ward H. Austin. If burning is the cheapest way to get rid of the structures, that's what will be done.

The board also:

1. Decided to ask the Marin Municipal Water District for the "picture on water storage" before digging a well to water the football field.

2. eleased a statement on qualifications for the position of administrative assistant and set May 15 as the deadline for applications which are to be accepted by the county superintendent of school's office.

3. Decided to meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the college to interview applications from consulting architects.

4. Held over consideration of retaining the firm of Dalton, Graupner and Barber as district auditors.

School Gardener Given Sports Pass

Gardener Antone (Tony) Rostoni will continue to be a faithful spectator at San Rafael High sports events after his retirement this year.

Rostoni has been with the district since 1942. Now, at 70, he has reached mandatory retirement age. He saw his son, John, graduate from the high school in 1942.

School To Get Hall Portrait

A framed portrait of the late Henry C. Hall, who was superintendent of the Larkspur School District and principal of the Larkspur-Corte Madera School, will be presented to the school named in his honor at a dedication program tomorrow at 2 p.m.

Dr. Henry C. Hall Jr., professor of education at University of San Francisco, will speak and make the presentation in memory of his father, who died in 1927.

Henry C. Hall School at 200 Doherty drive, Larkspur, is the Larkspur district's third elementary school.

Woman Sentenced In Drunk Driving Case

Barbara Jean Fields, 21, of 629 Mission avenue, San Rafael, may not drive at all during the next three months, and for the subsequent three months she may drive only for emergencies.

Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court imposed the sentence on Mrs. Fields yesterday for driving while intoxicated at Third and Cijos streets in San Rafael last Saturday. She is also on six months probation.

More Studies To Be Made For Aqueduct

State To Proceed With Acquisition Of Rights Of Way

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—The proposed North Bay Aqueduct, which would bring water 60 miles to Marin from the Sacramento River Delta, will be resurveyed, re-evaluated and re-designed during the next eight months.

At the same time, however, the state Department of Water Resources will go ahead with acquisition of rights of way for the project in some areas.

That was the decision of Harvey O. Banks, director of water resources, yesterday after a special hearing on the project.

FACTS SOUGHT

Banks said the study would determine whether the future need for the aqueduct would be greater or less than at present, whether the route is proper under the revised opinion of use, and more exactly just what the water would cost the users.

More than 70 representatives of the four counties involved, Marin, Sonoma, Napa and Solano, appeared at the meeting, which had been called to determine the public interest in the project. After an hour and a half of testimony solidly behind the aqueduct's immediate construction, William L. Berry, chief of planning for the department, remarked, "I think we're getting the kind of story we're looking for."

SOLON SPEAKS

The story was opened by Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy, who authored the bill which in 1955 originally authorized construction of the aqueduct. McCarthy called up on the department to make a re-evaluation of the proposal in light of developments in the last five years. But he also demanded that the department start spending the million dollars the Legislature authorized last year for purchase of the rights of way.

Then in succession, state Sens. Luther Gibson of Solano County, Nathan Coombs of Napa County and Joseph Rattigan of Sonoma County took the floor to back immediate action on the water project.

Senator Rattigan said he "couldn't accept the premise" in the invitation to the meeting that a proposed purchase of 10,000 acre feet of water by the North Marin Water District from Sonoma County would jeopardize the 750,000-acre-foot aduequct project.

PURE WATER

He pointed out the Sonoma water is pure enough for domestic use and would be too expensive for either agricultural or industrial use.

Gibson pointed out the Solano water deficiency already exceeds the amount of water which the aqueduct could bring to that county. And Coombs declared his county "is absolutely dependent" on the aqueduct for its water supply.

Then a series of spokesmen for the county boards of supervisors added their urgings to those of the senators and Assemblyman Samuel Geddes of Napa. Geddes decried the need for a new study. "We've got a whole basement full of studies," he declared. "We need some action."

Supervisors Vera Schultz and William Gnoss spoke for Marin County. Also present was Supervisor James Marshall.

GROWTH CITED

Mrs. Schultz urged the department to get price facts on the water so that water agencies could make up their minds as to feasibility of using it. Gnoss pointed to the "tremendous growth" of the Novato area and need for agricultural water there.

Supervisors from the other counties also backed up their legislators. Sonoma County presented signed pledges for agricultural water for "more than enough acreage to make the whole project feasible." Napa County presented "nearly enough pledges, and these were collected in just half a day."

Jerome P. Gilbert, manager of the North Marin Water District, reviewed his organization's recent decision to purchase water from the Sonoma Flood Control and Water Conservation District. State officials had indicated this decision had affected their thinking about the need for water in the Marin area.

Gilbert said Novato now has a firm supply of only 2,000 acre feet per year and is using 3,000 acre feet. "We are facing water rationing this summer," he declared.

Because "we needed the water two years ago" and "the earliest we figured the aqueduct could bring it to us is four years from now," the decision to buy Sonoma water was made, he declared. In addition, the cost factor entered in, he said. Although the water costs $55 per acre foot at Petaluma and presumably more in Novato, district directors figure the cost over the life of the project would be about $42 per acre foot for water ready to come out of the tap. This compares with $30 per acre foot estimated for untreated water in the aqueduct.

"We think the Sonoma water may be cheaper in the long run," he said.

In any event, Gilbert added, the 10,000 acre feet, which may be adequate for Novato for only 10 years, shouldn't affect the feasibility of the aqueduct.

Only testimony even slightly against moving ahead with the project came from Supervisor Leigh Shoemaker of Petaluma. He said he had failed earlier to find support for the aqueduct, but admitted "things have changed recently." He warned, however, that agriculture can't use the aqueduct water if it is too expensive.

Banks promised that the restudy of the project would get under way promptly and that aquisition of portions of rights of way would begin immediately.

WHERE WATER MAY FLOW—Proposed 60-mile route of the North Bay Aqueduct winds from Lindsey Slough in the Sacramento River Delta past Fairfield and south of Napa to Huichica Reservoir between Napa and Sonoma Counties, then to the Novato reservoir in open ditches and underground pipelines across areas like the lower Petaluma Valley. Yesterday the state Department of Water Resources agreed to start purchase of the rights of way for the project, but at the same time will restudy the whole project for possible alternations. THEY'RE A COUPLE OF MISSILEMA'AMS

When is a missileman not a missileman? When he's a missilewoman. That's what these two WACs at Ft. Barry are, after qualifying on completion of a course at the San Francisco Army Air Defense School. Brown Signs Bonds Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown signed into law yesterday a measure setting up procedure for the sale and use of 400 million dollars in veterans bonds, provided voters aprove the bond issue at the June 7 primary election.

The bill, by Sen. Nelson S. Dilworth (R-Hemet), provides for continuation of the self-supporting veterans farm and home loan program through 1962 at the same level as at present.

Also signed into law were bills which:

Allow state college vice presidents and deans to acquire tenure only as teachers, not in their administrative posts.

Encourages formation of new junior colleges by legalizing transfer of tuition fund payments and other funds to such new colleges.

Permits the same personnel to inspect grapes for quality and for sugar content.

Price ranges of U.S. automobiles go from $1,700 to nearly $10,000, FOB the factories.

The United States uses enough wood in manufacturing paper to build a bridge of logs to the moon each year.

Rhubarb Revue Gives Zesty Entertainment

By BRUCE COLEMAN

"Rhubarb was born here," lively Laurie Tusup, director of the sixth annual Rhubarb Revue at Tamalpais Valley, said. "It will never be quite the same when we get our new building," she added, looking around at the 39-year-old, patched-up hall.

Members of the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club, sponsoring the musical show, do the work first for fun, second for money to build a new clubhouse.

Last weekend they opened the "Show Without Stars" and, true to their fashion, rocked the floor and hillsides of the valley with their zesty songs and good humor. The show goes on again at 8:30 o'clock tonight and tomorrow and on the same days next week.

The group is made up solely of married couples living in the valley, rearing children, mowing lawns and — in the play — poking fun at Supervisor Vera Schultz and the lack of a flood control project to protect their homes.

The time element of the show is from the cave man to the beat man. The players say civilization comes and goes but some things never change. For example, male animal Bill Hoffman is putty in the hands of predatory female Jane Healey. When sad-faced Hoffman grimaces and sings, "I'm Makin' Whoopee," his pathos is Chaplinesque.

A Latin chorus tells a story about an oppossum in Anglified Latin, straight-faced and topped with laurel leaves. Esther Allen proved amazingly good and her fellow Latins, Betts Lowden, Kitty Adams, Joe Allen and Bill Hargraves are not slouches.

Exceptional, too, is the "School for Beatniks" act with three married couples, Walt and Betts Lowden, Bernie and Jane Healey and Morrie and Harrie Batz. They poke fun at the beatniks, who, they claim, want to be different, so they dress, talk and act alike.

The only ex-professional in Rhubarb is Kay Barrett, who used to sing for top hotels. Now she sings for Rhubarb, wonderfully, and for five youngsters at home.

Among others in the big cast are the quartet: Joe Allen, Batz, Dick Baker, Harry Bathgate. They do a straight face act singing "The Falling Leaves" while dressed in ludicrous costumes and holding apple cores and banana peels. They are very good.

Others to be lauded are Laurie Tusup and Shirley Taldo as two old ladies with young visions; Cathy Radke and Dick Miller as chicken and rooster, Jim Gill on guitar and Harrie Batz' marvelous face making as well as Glad Baker's excellent monologue.

Rhubarb's nature is friendly. It would be easy to pick apart lags in the show or spots that don't quite click. But one cannot attack the spirit of a large "neighborhood" working together — builders, actors, waiters, waitresses. Six years ago Rhubarb was goofy, fun-loving, a good show. Today, though more professional, it is the same.

Ice Cubes Lucky For Five Women

Five women won diamonds valued at $50 to $200 by plucking lucky ice cubes out of a freezer chest in the appliance department of Montgomery Ward and Co. in the Corte Madera Shopping Center this week.

The diamonds were frozen inside the cubes. ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN

S.R. May Land Semi-Pro Tourney; Marin Fishermen Have Good Deal

San Rafael still has a chance of hosting the California State Semi-Professional Baseball Championships this summer, according to Dick Shirley of the Chamber of Commerce, who is doing his best to land the tournament.

Shirley talked with State Semi-Pro Commissioner S. L. Swegel the other day and was informed San Rafael was still in the running. Santa Clara also was mentioned by Swegel.

When it boils down to, apparently, is money. Swegel mentioned to Shirley that Albert Field's rental fee of $25 per day, plus electricity costs, seemed a bit high for the tourney budget. The commish also noted that Santa Clara set a flat fee of $12.50 per day.

We see no reason why San Rafael can't match Santa Clara's fee. The Parks and Recreation Department, which meets next week, seems quite interested in luring the tourney here and probably will offer our baseball plant at a bargain rate.

Shirley said Swegel told him Albert Field is ideal for the tournament and might be considered as permanent home for the championships.

OUR CHAMBER of Commerce man has studied the situation thoroughly and is gleefully rubbing his hands in anticipation of landing the event which, by the way, is scheduled July 29-Aug. 14. "We figure the touranment will bring more than $100,000 in fresh monies into the community," said the enthused Shirley.

The players, families and friends would total more than 800 visitors to the community, Shirley estimated. Also, the top-notch competition would attract fans from throughout northern California, not to mention those living right here.

Shirley also has been trying to organize a local team for entry, another requirement to stimulate local interest. He's talked with the managers of two local semi-pro clubs—Eddie Vigno of the Tiburon Pelicans and Dom Boccabella of the San Anselmo Ongaro Plumbers—to determine a local entry.

We feel a Marin all-star team could be organized as a capable entry. There's enough talent in the county to field a cracker-jack ball club.

Well, that's the situation as she stands. Keep tuned in, for an announcement on selection of a tournament site should be forthcoming soon.

TROUT FISHERMEN—and there are thousands of the creatures right here in Marin—have a pretty good deal, Game Warden Al Giddings was telling us the other day.

For an outlay of $5 for license and stamps, plus another three scotties for a permit to the Marin Municipal Water District Lakes, a good angler can feed his family several meals each year.

Giddings explained the Department of Fish and Game planted more than 35,000 trout, averaging 8½ inches each, into MMWD lakes for tomorrow's opener. Say an angler gets himself 10 limits during the season, or 100 fish. If you tried to buy that many down at the corner fish market it would cost much more than the $8 the angler has to spend at the start of the season. And, the recreational value of catching your own is priceless.

IT'S NOT uncommon for a Marin man to quit work at 5 p.m., hustle up to a nearby lake and catch his dinner within an hour.

Yes, Marin anglers are lucky.

When Giddings was telling us our generous state had planted more than 35,000 catchable-sized trout in the lakes we figured they would last the whole season. Giddings laughed: "By next Wednesday they'll be gone. For example, two years ago we checked the action at Lagunitas, where 10,000 had been planted. On opening day 7,000 fish were caught. The second day 2,600 more were taken out and on the third day the lake was empty. Man, the boys in this county don't waste any time."

Giddings warned, the early birds will get the fish. After next Wednesday limits will be rare, indeed.

GOLFERS SEEM to be having a ball for themselves at Las Gallinas Golf Course north of San Rafael these days. No less than three (count 'em, 3!) holes in one were fired last weekend.

The aces were Howard McKenstry on the 152-yard first hole, Roger Torres on the 60-yard second hole and Walter Klenz on the 61-yard third hole.

Marin Lakes Loaded For Trout Opener

By JIM GILMARTIN

The "Gone Fishin'" sign will be posted throughout California tomorrow for the opening of the 1960 trout season and Marin County anglers won't have to go far to fill their creels.

Warden Al Giddings of the Department of Fish and Game predicted a banner opener at Marin's favorite fishin' holes—the Marin Municipal Water District lakes.

"Anyone who knows anything about fishing should have no trouble catching a limit," said Giddings today. "And they'll be nice fish—averaging between eight and a quarter to nine inches each."

Giddings cited figures released by the Fish and Game Department," announcing more than 35,000 trout in that size bracket had been planted in four MMWD lakes and another 3,000 in Rodeo Lagoon near Fort Baker.

Special MMWD permits are required for the lakes. They are $3 per season, but there is no charge for youngsters up to and including 16 years of age.

Anglers planning to try Rodeo Lagoon must obtain a permit from the Provost Marshall's office at the Presidio in San Francisco because the Lagoon is on Government property.

Also, of course, each angler must possess a $3 fishing permit plus two stamps priced at $1 each.

Fishing becomes legal at 5:15 a.m. and continues until one hour after sunset each day through the season which continues to Oct. 31. The MMWD lakes are closed on Sundays.

Giddings estimated an army of anglers will jam the banks of the lakes opening day to take advantage of the generous planting program which has dumped 10,400 fish in Bon Tempe, 10,000 in Kent Lake, 8,400 in Lake Lagunitas and 7,380 in Phoenix Lake.

"But," said Giddings, "they won't last long. I think by next Wednesday the lake supply will be very low until the next plant."

Those planning to fish Papermill Creek " . . . will be wasting their time," the game warden said. "The stream is very low and there are very few fish in there. The best bet is the lakes."

Extra wardens will be brought in from San Francisco to assist local wardens Giddings and Russ Ild on opening day, so you'd better not try to exceed the limit of 10 fish.

If you're journeying out of the county for the opener, the prospects are not bright.

Rains this week have clouded the previously excellent prospects for the opener, according to on-the-spot reports from Pacific Gas and Electric Co. stream scouts throughout northern and central California. With much of the snowmelt runoff already past, streams are low and will clear within three or four days after the rain ends, but will be roily for the weekend.

CEPEDA DOWN — Orlando Cepeda goes down on the baseline in second inning last night as he was struck on the head by ball thrown by Dodger shortstop Maury Wills during attempted double play. Giants Toss Jones Vs. Podres Tonight

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants, hot in pursuit of the first place Pittsburgh Pirates, tonight attempt to make it two straight over the Los Angeles Dodgers by calling on their pitching star, Sad Sam Jones.

The Dodgers respond with southpaw Johnny Podres, whose only win this season was over the Giants at San Francisco.

The Giants had first baseman Willie McCovey to thank for last night's 7-5 win as the willowy sophomore's three-run homer in the eighth inning proved the margin of victory.

The lengthy contest, lasting three hours and 35 minutes, was a typical Dodger-Giant game in which managers Bill Rigney and Walt Alston made frequent trips onto the field to argue with the umpires and talk with their pitchers.

The game was held up in the second inning when Giant outfielder Orlando Cepeda ran into a thrown ball while going from first to second, was knocked down and had to be carried from the field on a stretcher.

He was taken to the hospital for X-rays, which showed he was not hurt badly despite a lump on his temple. But he was kept in the hospital overnight as a precaution.

McCovey's homer was only his 10th hit of the season, but it was his fifth home run and brought his total runs-driven-in to 17, best in the National League.

Rigney said McCovey has justified his confidence despite a batting average of .222.

"He was missing the ball by about a foot a week ago," Rigney said. "Now he's not missing by much and I have every confidence he will start hitting regularly soon."

Neither Larry Sherry, the loser, nor winner Jack Sanford was around for the finish of the game.

Both went out in the eighth when the Giants broke a 2-2 tie, Sanford scoring the tie-breaking run on Joe Amalfitano's second double off Sherry, who then intentionally walked Willie Mays and was replaced by Ed Roebuck. McCovey's homer was off Roebuck.

That left the Giants holding a 6-2 lead, but the Dodgers scored two runs in the bottom of the eighth on doubles by Gil Hodges and John Roseboro, along with Chuck Essegian's pinch single.

Both clubs picked up a run in the ninth, and Dodger hopes soared when they had two men on base with none out. But Mike McCormick came in as the third pitcher of the inning for the Giants and retired the side.

CEPEDA OKAY, MAY REJOIN TEAM TONIGHT

LOS ANGELES (AP) — San Francisco's outfielder Orlando Cepeda was kept in a hospital overnight after being struck in the head by a thrown ball in the Giants' game with the Dodgers last night.

But X-rays showed no serious injury and there was a good chance Cepeda would be able to play tonight against the Dodgers.

On base with a walk in the second inning, Cepeda headed for second base when Willie Kirkland hit an infield bouncer. Second baseman Charley Neal relayed to shortstop Maury Wills. Wills stepped on second for the force-out and threw hard toward first. The ball smacked Cepeda above the right ear as he was starting to slide, then bounced 25 or 30 feet straight up.

Friend Hurls Pirates To 7th Straight

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pittsburgh Pirates have made it seven, extending the season's longest winning streak behind Bob Friend, the missing winner of last year's failure.

The right-hander who lost his first seven and wound up the biggest loser (8-19) in the National League when the Bucs flopped to fourth last season, pitched his second four-hit shutout and won his third without defeat yesterday as the Pirates beat Philadelphia 3-0.

That left the Pirates, matching their longest success string since 1958, when they finished second, a game ahead of San Francisco. The Giants beat Los Angeles 7-5 in the only other N.L. game scheduled.

Friend, 29, struck out seven in the first three innings at Philadelphia. He wound up with 11, just one shy of the Pirate record set by Babe Adams in 1909, for a total of 32 in his 34 innings.

The Bucs got to work on loser John Buzhardt (0-2) with two runs in the second on Dick Stuart's triple, Bob Clemente's single and an infield out. Singles by Don Hoak and Dick Groat and a sacrifice fly by Bob Skinner got the other run home in the fifth.

Bands, Parades Open Little League Season

Parades, band music and the cry of "Play Ball" will signal the opening of two Little Leagues in Marin County tomorrow.

Four hundred boys will participate in the opening ceremonies of the Mill Valley Little League program while the Hamilton-Loma Verde Little League will share opening day honors with a double-header at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Seven years ago the Mill Valley Little League received its charter with just two teams in the league, but now they have 23 major and minor teams in the American and National leagues with a total of 400 boys playing baseball.

Opening ceremonies will begin at 9:30 a.m., tomorrow with a parade through Mill Valley, ending at Boyle Park where the speakers and teams will be introduced. A Marine color guard and the 12th Naval District band will lead the parade, followed by the guests of the day and the 23 teams.

Walter "The Great" Mails, speaker for the San Francisco Giants, will be the guest speaker of the day.

Mayor Robert Huber will throw out the opening ball.

Baseball action on the National League diamond will begin at 1 p.m. when the Yankees tangle with the Lions, while a minor league contest — Anchors against the Bombers — will start at 3 p.m.

On the American League side of the field the Indians will pit themselves against the Tigers at 1 p.m., with the Braves and Eaglets doing battle at 3 p.m.

Opening ceremonies for the Hamilton-Loma Verde Little League baseball season will get under way at 1:30 p.m. when two major league teams, the Orioles and the Dodgers play at the Little League Stadium near Fourth Air Force Headquarters at the air force base.

Maj. Gen. John P. Stevenson, WADF Commander, Maj. Gen. Sory Smith of Fourth Air Force and Col. George F. Ceuleers have been invited to attend the ceremonies. The Hamilton AFB band will play the National Anthem. A refreshment concession will be managed by the Women's Auxiliary of the Little League.

Following the major league game, a minor league game, scheduled for approximately 3:30 p.m. at the same diamond, will be played by the Beavers and the Bears.

Throughout the season, Little League games will be played on week days at 6 p.m. and on Saturdays at 10:30 a.m. and at 1:30 p.m. at both the Hamilton and Loma Verde Little League fields.

Redwood and Sir Francis Drake high schools will continue their driver training courses during the next school year.

The California State Automobile Assn. announced that it again will provide dual controls for cars supplied by DeLong Chevrolet Co., San Rafael.

Each student has six hours of behind-the-wheel instruction in addition to classroom study.

The broad, shallow root systems of the saguaro cactus may absorb a ton of water after rain falls, according to the National Geographic Society. The moisture is stored in the plant's spongelike tissue.

Roughly two-thirds of the world's people live in under-developed sections. And population in these areas have vastly increased in the past century.

The BULLPEN

With JOHN J. CONNOLLY

Randol Second-Guesses Managers In Handling Of Troubled Pitchers

CONNOLLY

"My goodness gracious, Mr. Manager, I thought you'd NEVER come out here and take me out of this! I've walked the bases full, my arm is dead, and I'm so tired I couldn't throw another pitch if I had to!"

Now THERE is an unlikely quotation from an embattled pitcher to his questioning manager.

Chances are the conversation went more like this: When the manager said "How do you feel, Lefty?" good old Lefty replied "Never felt better, never had more stuff. That lousy blind man behind the plate just won't give me the corners. Leave me pitch to this bum and I'll mow him down!"

WHOOSH! There goes another grand slam home run!

Last night Manager Walt Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers made one too many trips to the mound and left Larry Sherry in for one batter too many. Joey Amalfitano's second two-bagger "done him in." Not that Roebuck did much better when he fed Willie McCovey the clincher ball.

THE DAY before, the New York Yankees blew one to the Washington Senators when Manager Casey Stengel let Whitey Ford pitch to "just one more batter." Big Jim Lemon put his next pitch into orbit and the Yankees were dundee, 5 to 4.

In St. Louis, Sad Sam Jones of the S. F. Giants "had more stuff than I've had all year," but the Cardinals plastered him for six hits and four runs before Manager Bill Rigney called in Georges Maranda to put out the fire. Maranda, Bud Byerly and Billy O'Dell shut out the Cards for the rest of the game, but the Giants fell three runs short of winning.

No one is about to forget the Chicago Cubs batting around after two were out to overtake the Giants last Sunday. In this game, O'Dell had pitched a seven-inning beauty and left the game with a comfortable lead only to have "fresh" pitching fall apart and lose his game for him.

I REMEMBER discussing this facet of baseball with Sam Gibson, who once threw a piece for the long gone but not forgotten San Francisco Seals. "You just can't figure it out," said Sam. "You're throwing your best shots and all of a sudden the balls start whistling past your ears so fast they play a tune. I'll never admit it, but right then I'm looking for the Old Pard (Ballou) out in the bullpen."

Memories of Gibson also recall the sad Sunday afternoon in Sacramento when Oakland pitcher Jack Salveson was left in a game for "punishment." When the blood was mopped up the Solons had more than 20 runs. This is an answer in advance to the fans who will point out that a pitcher often stumbles and then hits his stride again.

It seems to this corner that a manager makes a bad mistake when he personally discusses a rough situation with his man in trouble. Human nature being what it is it is too easy to be swayed by emotion and give the pitcher another chance when the experience of decades of baseball says "get the bum out of there—FAST."

A SMART manager will stay on the bench and send a lieutenant to the mound to do the hatchet work. No discussion. The man has his orders, and the bum is out of there and another meatball is fed into the grinder.

Many a skipper will argue that his starter on the mound is better than anything he may have in the bullpen. A good point, but it overlooks the psychological factors against the defense and in favor of the offense.

Gifted with one of the best and deepest pitching staffs in the major leagues it would seem that Rigney would take a lesson from the TV Westerns and be a little quicker on the draw than the other feller. And promote Coach Salty Parker to "hatchet man" so Bill's sympathies won't get mixed up in the act.

Second guessing? You bet! A columnist's privilege. I can even do some pretty fair third guessing if pressed. We'll turn that over to John Connolly when he returns next week. It has been fun visiting with you; thanks for inviting me in!

Strub Gains Control Of Santa Anita

ARCADIA (AP) — Robert P. Strub, son of Santa Anita racetrack's founder, has won his fight for control of the track. In the process he put himself in line for the job of executive vice president and general manager.

Strub, 41, won a battle of proxies yesterday at a special meeting of the board of directors. Eliminated from the board by a vote of 55,335 to 15, 603 were those who opposed Strub:

The management group reelected Carleton P. Burke as director of racing.

NEW DIRECTORS

The Strub faction named these directors: Strub; Felix S. McGinnis Jr., cement company executive; H. W. Dougherty, petroleum engineer; John T. Hastings, attorney; Francis E. Kelly Jr., husband of the former Elizabeth Strub; Arthur L. Crowe Jr., husband of the former Mary Louise Strub; Peter Mole, Hollywood manufacturer; Mrs. Thomas Peppers, thoroughbred breeder; William H. Latimer, rancher; George Harnagel, attorney and Edward T. Foley, retired contractor.

About 95 per cent of the 74,987 shares were voted and more than 200 of the 700 stockholders attended the meeting.

Strub pledged in a statement that the new control groups will conduct racing on "the highest plane possible" and will confine future major investments to situations directly connected with racing.

Strub started his fight to assume control of the management after the directors ousted him as vice president. His father was the late Dr. Charles H. Strub.

Novato Fire Board Chooses Officers

Peter J. Ferrarese was elected president of the Novato Fire District board and Louis Saffores was named secretary in a reorganization of the board Wednesday night.

The commissioners signed a $17,893 contract with the Coast Apparatus Co. of Martinez for a new pumper-tanker truck. Delivery of the truck is expected around Aug. 1.

The board authorized Capt. James Kidder to attend a fire training workshop for officers in Fresno, May 16-20.

'Blackout' Costs Ragan Lead In Houston Golf Classic

HOUSTON, Texas (AP) — Arnold Palmer and Bill Collins led the $35,000 Houston Classic golf tournament into the second round today but a boner by young Dave Ragan had the gallery talking.

Ragan calls the boner a "blackout or something," but whatever it was it cost him two strokes.

As a result, Palmer, the big money winner of the year, and Collins, 1959 New Orleans Open winner, held 66s that put them one stroke ahead of Ragan and Billy Maxwell.

Fourteen other players were within three strokes of the leaders. The par 72 at the 7,122 yard Memorial Park course had a rough first round. A record 15,000 first day gallery swarmed onto the course as 33 out of a field of 139 broke par and 15 others were even.

The field was to be cut to the low 80, plus ties, after today's 18 holes.

Palmer, the 1957 Houston winner who is after his sixth title of the year, collected his 66 with a front nine 30 and a par 36 on the back nine.

Collins, playing in the same threesome with Ragan, went out in 31 and came in in 35.

Ragan, a 24-year-old from Orlando, Fla., had a 36-31—67, but his putting on the first green made him the most talked-about player of the day.

The quiet-spoken father of twins took his boner philosophically.

His putter touched the ball only twice, but he recorded four putts that gave him a 7 on the 558-yard par 5 hole.

"I pitched 10 feet short of the hole," Ragan said. "It looked like a fine, good putt. But the ball stopped about a foot short. I set the putter down, and when I took it back something happened. I sort of stabbed at it, not once but twice. It was a blackout or something. I knew what I was doing but I couldn't stop."

Arguments developed all over the course on whether a stroke should be counted if you address the ball, but stop your swing without hitting the ball.

"I feel it is a stroke once you've addressed the ball and taken a swing," said Ragan.

Two "name" players rejoining the golf tour were seven strokes off the pace with 73s. They were Peter Thomson, the Australian who has won the British Open four times, and Art Wall Jr., the 1959 Masters winner.

Jack Burke Jr., the defending champion, has a 71. Julius Boros, led an eight-way tie at 69. Jack Fleck, former National Open champion, headed a six-way tie at 68.

Tiger Jones To Make 43rd Video Appearance Tonight

For Jones who calls himself "The Old Warhorse," it will mark his 43rd appearance of national televsion (NBC, 7 p.m., PDT).

In 10 years of professional boxing Jones has amassed a record of 49 victories, 28 defeats and four draws.

Odds favoring Jones have been quoted from 7-to-5 up to as high as 12-5.

"This is the biggest chance of my career and my first TV shot," underdog Denucci said after winding up his training with three rounds of sparring. "It also will be my biggest paynight. I'll get the $4,000 for television plus a percentage of the gate. If I get by Jones — and I'm sure I will — I can shoot for big money bouts."

AMERICAN LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Tigers Lose Power Punch; White Sox Shade Cleveland

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Tigers are terrors no more.

After hammering 11 homers and scoring 34 runs while winning their first five games, Detroit's Tigers now have managed to score just once in each of their last three. And they've lost them all.

The Kansas City A's, working behind the four-hit pitching of Dick Hall, made it two straight over the Tigers with a 2-1 victory last night that slipped Detroit into a tie with idle New York for the American League lead.

Chicago's defending champion White Sox beat Cleveland 3-1 on Al Smith's three singles and Billy Pierce's five-hitter. The Baltimore Orioles won their fourth in a row, defeating Boston 6-1 and joining the White Sox and Washington in a tie for fourth place at .500.

The third place A's, just one-half game behind, beat Southpaw Don Mossi (0-1) with five hits. They scored one in the first on two-out singles by Hank Bauer, Norm Siebern and Bob Cerv, and added the clincher in the sixth on a double by Bill Tuttle and a single by Jerry Lumpe.

Hall, 29, who had only a 6-13 record to show for four years with Pittsburgh, extended the Tigers' scoreless slump to 13 innings before Lou Berberet homered in the eighth. It was Hall's first A.L. decision. He struck out five, walked just one.

The White Sox defeated right-hander Gary Bell (1-1) for the fourth consecutive time.

Rookie Steve Barber won his first for the Orioles. He walked four and gave up six hits, but struck out six and shut out the Red Sox over the last six frames. The Orioles ripped loser Bill Monbouquette (1-2) for four runs in the first.

Marin Firm's Bid Low On S. F. Job

Watkins and Sibbald, San Anselmo landscapists, will get the job of reconstructing the San Francisco Civic Center plaza.

The San Anselmo firm was low bidder on the job Wednesday. However, its bid of $549,187 was $37,000 more than the City of San Francisco had earmarked for the project.

City architect Charles Griffith said he would accept an alternate bid by Watkins and Sibbald at $84,200 less than the full bid, which will eliminate some granite walls and borders envisioned in the original plan.

Colombo, Russell Tie In Hub Handicap Golf Championship

Al Colombo, a San Anselmo fireman, and Charles W. Russell of Novato tied for the championship in the San Anselmo Businessmen's Golf Tournament at the Meadow Club in Fairfax this week.

Colombo carded an 80-gross and benefitted by 10 handicap strokes for a net 70 in the championship flight. Russell came in with 81-11—70.

One hundred and fifty players competed in the five flights, according to Tournament Director John Bell.

Another Hub City fireman, Chet Smith, and another Russell, Bob, of Corte Madera, tied for runner-up honors in the championship flight with 72 net. Smith grossed 87 and Russell 85.

Best round of the day was a sparkling 74 gross by Tom Dixon of United Markets. But his one handicap stroke gave him no better than a tie with Dave Herbert of Mill Valley for third place in the championship division.

A couple of San Rafael high handicappers dominated the Red Hill Flight. Ed Gordon won it with 88-36—52 and Bob Perazzo came in second with 85-31—54.

A three-way tie developed in the Mayor's Flight between A. E. Almcrants, city manager of Mill Valley, Howard DuPree, the San Anselmo jeweler, and Ted Gordon of San Rafael. Each came in with a 60 net.

Jim Fahrner stroked a fine 77 gross and 70 net to tie Al Hinrich of Novato in the Guest Flight. Hinrich grossed a 119, but cashed in on 49 handicap strokes.

And, of yes, the booby prize went to Joe Depatta of San Anselmo. He toured the par 71 layout in 138 (one hundred and thirty eight!) strokes. His threesome teed off at 9:30 a.m. and wasn't heard from again until 4:30 p.m. The starter was organizing a search party when the Depatta group came over the horizon.

The results:

Net Program In Sausalito

Sausalito's summer tennis instructional program, beefed up by the addition of a third instructor, will open June 11 on the Richardson Bay School courts, it was revealed yesterday.

John Minton, director and chief instructor of the three-year-old program, disclosed that Mary Jane Wellington will join him and Anne Hicks as class teachers. Both Mrs. Hicks and Mrs. Wellington are accomplished players. Minton is an ex-Indiana University performer.

Sausalito youngsters between the ages of 9 and 18 are eligible for the program, inaugurated under city sponsorship in the summer of 1958. Some 50 children each year have signed up.

Great emphasis will be placed this year on supervised practice. Every effort will be made to provide individual attention to special problems, Minton said.

The program will open with registration and screening June 11, followed by eight weeks of instruction and supervised play. Concluding the summer's schedule will be the third annual City Junior Tourament on three successive Saturdays —Aug. 13, 20 and 27.

Valsecchi Equals Greenbrae Record

Chico Valsecchi, veteran major league bowler,, tied the Greenbrae Lanes single game record recently with a smashing 289. That mark, accomplished in a pot game, tied Holmes Christian for the house record.

THERE ARE still some openings in the forthcoming Mixed Foursome and Men's Handicap leagues being organized for the summer at Country Club Bowl, according to Manager Dave Rivera. Both are scheduled for Tuesdays and will start rolling next week. Anyone interested in joining should contact Rivera.

ED CHRISTIAN hit a 529 series and 202 line to headline this week's "Mixed Mates" league at Greenbrae. Carlo Colombo hit a 519, Charlie Johnson 506 and Ken Green 504. Joan Thurman led the ladies with a 164 solo.

ELEANOR DAUNT fired a 433 series, tops in this week's YWCA action at Country Club. Dorthe Wilson's 160 was high game.

The internationally famous racing star from the Lone Star State, Carroll Shelby of Dallas, will headline the California Sports Car Club's Vaca Valley road races this weekend near Sacramento. Shelby, who won last year's version of the famed 24-hour race at Lemans, France, and more recently won the $20,000 pro race in Southern California, will be driving Johnny von Neuman's German Porsche RSK.

Assuring that Shelby has plenty of competition in the 20-lap main event for small-bore cars will be Ken Miles of Hollywood in the same car in which he came second to the Texas driver at the $20,000 race own south. Generally regarded as the greatest small car driver in this country, Miles rates at least a co-favorite's role with the international star.

Dark horse for the event will be Sacramento's Sammy Weiss, the peppery imported car dealer who last weekend turned the tables on the big cars and won the main event at Cotati in his newly purchased Cooper Monaco.

Favorite in the big car main event is Bob Drake of Hollywood, the former deep sea diver from South San Francisco, who will be driving Joe Lubin's fantastic new "Birdcage" Maserati. This will be the first time that one of these fabulous Italian machines has appeared in Northern California.

The Vaca Valley course is located between San Francisco and Sacramento on U. S. Highway 40, about six miles north of Vacaville. The admission will be $2.00 Saturday, $2.50 Sunday, and children under 12 will be admitted free. The racing starts at noon each day.

N. KOREAN TROOPS REPORTED ACTIVE

Southern Forces On Alert; New Cabinet Reshuffles Police, Fires 9 Governors

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI)—The chief of staff of the Republic of Korea's army said today "unusual" activity among Communist troops north of the 38th parallel accompaniied recent disorders here.

Lt. Gen Song Yo Chan also said that the Reds had seized on South Korea's political crisis as an occasion for increased espionage and subversive activities.

Song emphasized, however, that U. S. and South Korean troops in the front line are in peak combat readiness.

Asst. Secretary of State J. Graham Parsons said in Washington yesterday that the forces holding the truce line are on a "super alert."

Acting President Huh Chung and his caretaker cabinet met today to discuss means of straightening out the tangled situation in South Korea, and decided immediately to fire all of the nation's nine provincial governors.

POLICE RESHUFFLE

Alleged brutality by South Korea's nationally appointed police, more than any other single factor, touched off the bloody rioting that overthrew 85-year-old President Syngman Rhee.

Rhee, who handed in his resignation earlier this week and moved out of the presidential mansion yesterday, spent today in solitude at his home in northeastern Seoul. He was said to be in mourning for his adopted son, Lee Kang Suk, son of Vice President-elect Lee Ki-Poong, who killed himself and his family yesterday in a mass sucide pact.

SESSION ADJOURNS

The National Assembly session which had been expected to ratify Rhee's resignation adjourned today after only 10 minutes, partly as a gesture of mourning for the elder Lee and partly to allow additional time to organize the election of new Assembly officials.

The Assembly adopted a statement of appreciation to student demonstrators for their "great sacrifices on behalf of Korean democracy."

The legislature is expected to meet Monday to act on Rhee's resignation and complete its own reorganization.

RACIAL CLASH

Car Mishap Sets Off Near-Riot

More than 20 carloads of police armed with riot guns and tear gas rushed to the scene, where white and Negro neighborhoods meet, to disperse a crowd of 200 persons.

Police said the 200-pound Negro, Morgan Junior King, 25, slapped the face of Theresa Mahoney, 19, fought with her escort and then tried to flee when two unidentified white men leaped from another car and fired two shots at him. The white men sped off. Others in the crowd grabbed King.

SODOM AND GOMORRAH

Explorer Believes He's Found Biblical Cities

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—A Baptist missionary-explorer believes he and three other American divers have found the wicked Biblical cities of Sodom and Gomorrah on the bottom of the Dead Sea.

Dr. Ralph E. Baney of Kansas City, Mo., in an interview last night told of finding extensive underwater remnants of a civilization that flourished 4,000 years and then was inundated, apparently after an earthquake.

He said he and his divers found a levee 15 feet wide and eight feet high under the waters of the inland sea between Jordan and Israel. The levee ran from a southwestern point of the Lisan Peninsula due west for two miles.

The levee, he continued, in Biblical times kept the salty waters of the sea from flowing into the fertile plains to the south. He believes an earthquake collapsed the levee, and the sea ungulfed the plains behind it.

"We have located two cities under the Dead Sea water which are believed to be the two lost cities of Sodom and Gomorrah," Baney said. "One of these cities we have located in the Lisan Peninsula Bay. The other is due west of the northern point of the Lisan Peninsula."

The Bible says the Lord rained down fire and brimstone to destroy Sodom, Gomorrah, and the neighboring cities of Adama, Seboin and Bala

Disarmament Conclave Recesses In Deadlock

GENEVA (UPI)—The 10-nation disarmament conference recessed today unable to agree even on an interim communique. Western delegates expressed hope that next month's Big Four summit meeting will break the deadlock.

The conferees sat for three hours. More than half the time was spent in wrangling about a communique. East and West, conference sources reported, were unable to resolve any one of the differences on communique wording, so the issue finally was allowed to lapse.

After listening to a round of speeches by the five Eastern delegates including a 40-minute wind-up by Russia's Valerian A. Zorin, Jules Moch of France closed the meeting with the remark:

"I hope that the Big Four will trace for us a new, daring and realistic route to peace."

Chief American delegate Frederick M. Eaton told reporters the Soviets have not moved an inch from the position they held when they came here seven weeks ago.

In a statement issued to newsmen during the meeting, Eaton challenged the Soviets to throw away their arms and engage in an economic competition with the West.

Eaton said if the Communists are serious about safeguarded disarmament "They will find us no less eager to throw away our arms—to meet them in competition for the improvement of standards of living everywhere, within and outside the Soviet Union, those cultural and spiritual advantages which are the great heritage of the free world."

IF YOU LIKE living on the water you will enjoy seeing the Richard Pollard home on the Belvedere Lagoon, currently occupied by the Robert Groses. It will be one of six homes to be featured at the St. Stephen's Guild House Tour on May 12. Shown enjoying the sun and the view is Guild member, Mrs. Leon Julian.

MRS. ROBERT GROS, whose home is filled with cherished mementoes is shown relaxing with her pet poodle, a rest she needs before tourgoers descend upon her, May 12, for the 10th annual house tour which has as its theme this year "Sophisticated Suburbia." Hours for the St. Stephen's Tour are 1 to 5 p. m.

MRS. H. NORDMARK WILLIAMS relaxes in her mother's home, Mrs. James Lewis on Northpoint Circle, Belvedere — one of the homes on the six house Guild tour. The interior decoration was done by Mrs. Lewis who has used many beautiful antiques.

St. Stephen's Tour To Conclude May 12 With Tea At Yacht Club

On Thursday, May 12, St. Stephen's Guild of Belvedere will present "Sophisticated Suburbia," a showing of six view homes, followed by tea at the newly remodeled San Francisco Yacht Club.

First on the tour is the lagoon home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Davies. It is of contemporary design by architects Campbell and Wong, who obtained unusual continuity between outdoors and indoors.

Campbell and Wong have won over 30 awards from architectural competitions and are particularly proud of this home with a courtyard as its focal point.

All of the bedrooms and living room open to this outside living area which gives the owners weather protection, privacy and warmth by the use of a radiantly heated floor.

Interior decoration for the Robert A. Davies home was done by the Charles Ackerman Company who carried out the contempororay feeling by using modern and oriental furnishings.

The second house on the tour will be the home of the Richard O. Pollards. This lagoon home was built on three levels for both practicality and pleasure and has been featured in Life magazine.

While the owners are in England, the house is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gros. Mrs. Gros has used a dash of antique to contrast with modern furnishings. Her 17th Century china is an example of the many outstanding collector's items from Europe and India.

Architect for the house was Theodore Bernardi, of Wurster, Bernardi and Emmons.

Third house on the tour is the home of Mrs. James Lewis, whose architect son-in-law, William V. H. Brooke, designed it for her It is small and jewel-like, especially designed for the woman living alone who does not wish much upkeep but who still prefers house to apartment living.

REDWOOD WALLS

Interesting indeed are the tile living room floors which accent the paneled redwood walls. Soft lighting filters through ceiling panels. Glass walls open from the gallery to the patio.

Interior decoration was done by Mrs. Lewis who has many beautiful antiques, an outstanding collection of snuff boxes, a Georgian wine chest adorning the gallery and sleigh beds in the bedroom. Soft greyed walls and floors focus attention on her treasured antiques.

Fourth house on the tour, designed by Leonard Cahn, is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester C. Vargas Jr. It is cantilevered over the steep lot with a beautiful view of San Francisco Bay.

The interior is particularly interesting as textured compressed wood has been used for walls and ceilings as well as the background for paintings.

Shoji screens are used for room dividers; polished concrete floors and a Florentine glass fireplace give a Pacific feeling to the main living area. Of interest to collectors will be the Tang Dynasty horses mounted on the fireplace. Contemporary expressionist paintings add verve and color to the room.

ITALIAN GLASS

In the bathrooms the use of Italian glass mosaics by Alfonso Pardini continues the Pacific theme expressed throughout the house and garden.

The garden was designed by the owner. Enchanting tropical planting around a heated pool features such plants as hibiscus, bougainvillea, gardenias and cymbidiums.

Designed by the architectural firm of Appleton and Wolfard, fifth house on the tour is the contemporary hillside home of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Horowitz. They have accomplished a spacious feeling through generous use of glass, enabling the Horowitzes to have a spectacular view of the Belvedere lagoon.

The wooded site gives an opportunity for an unconventional master bath which looks through plate glass to adjoining tree tops.

TWO WATERFALLS

The emphasis in garden landscaping is on natural hillside planting and development of two waterfalls by Mr. W. T. Tobler of the Mest Marin Nursery.

The lower floor of the Horowitz house is designed for children and contains two bedrooms, a play room, outside terrace and large storage area.

Hardman and Kopp of San Francisco, responsible for the interior decoration, have maintained a casual effect, despite a sophisticated flair.

Interior walls of white are sparked by dark mahogany paneling, modern and antique furnishings and Far East treasures.

The sixth house on the tour is the home of Mr. and Mrs. MacBoyle Lewis on a flat plateau on the tip-top of Belvedere Island.

It was designed by Joseph Esherick and features high beamed ceilings, oak planked floors and redwood paneling, with lavish decks surrounding the house, which has a view in every direction.

CANTON CHINA

Interior decor was carried out by the owner who has beautiful antiques handed down to her from her own family. A fine collection of Spanish engravings, antique Canton china and other collector's items make the home particularly pleasing.

The garden is done in native California plants; olive trees surround the property. This garden has much character and individuality.

The St. Stephen's 10th Annual House Tour is from 1 to 5 p.m., conducted by shuttle buses around the Island starting at the San Francisco Yacht Club and ending there with tea from 3 to 5. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. T. L. Wark, 18 Teal road, Belvedere, or from Mrs. George Stephens at her Keil Cove home, Tiburon.

'LET'S LIVE A LITTLE," says Mrs. Carl Nelson as she gets ready to toss a Japanese ball in the covered terrace of the Robert Gros abode in Belvedere. The tour will conclude with tea at the San Francisco Yacht Club. (Independent-Journal photos)

Simonson-Thompson Nuptials In Concord

Living in Mill Valley following their recent marriage in the First Lutheran Church of Concord, Calif., are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Simonson.

Paul, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Simonson of Mill Valley, claimed as his bride the former Marilyn Thompson in a 2 o'clock, double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Herman Seyer on Sunday, April 10.

Marilyn, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duward R. Thompson of Concord, wore a ballerina length gown of white Chantilly lace fashioned with scalloped neckline and long sleeves. A lace coronet studded with pearl and rhinestones held her fingertip veil, and she wore her bridegroom's gift of a cultured pearl necklace and earrings. Her flowers were a bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid.

The dress of the matron of honor, Mrs. Linda Macomber of Richmond, was of light blue silk organza, and the dresses of the bridesmaids, Judy Clark and Mary Jo Mitchell, both of Concord, were of pink silk organza. All were styled with full skirts and bodices having white lace insets in front. Their headdresses were flat braids of nylon matching their dresses with veils. Their flowers were old fashioned bouquets of pink roses.

Serving his brother-in-law as best man was Ronald Cutler of Cotati, and ushers were the bridegroom's brother, David Simonson of Mill Valley, and his cousin, Lynn Terry of Sacramento.

Mark Hudleston of Concord was ring bearer, and the bride's cousin, Sherol Barnhard of Lodi, was candle lighter.

The bride's mother wore a toast colored silk sheath with fitted bolero, bone colored hat and accessories and a white orchid. Mrs. Simonson was attired in a light blue silk brocade dress with bolero, a black hat and her accessories were black. Her corsage was also a white orchid.

When the couple left for a brief honeymoon in Los Angeles the new Mrs. Simonson was wearing a mint green box suit with white accessories.

She was graduated from Mt. Diablo High School and attended Healds' Business College in Oakland. Paul was graduated from Tamalpais High School and is employed by the H. C. Little Burner Company in San Rafael.

Alpha Xi Delta Announces New Alumnae Group

A new Alpha Xi Delta Alumnae, the Bay Area Junior Alumnae, was announced at the Founders' Day ceremony and luncheon yesterday by the dark blue, light blue, and gold ribbons worn by its members.

This repeated a similar occasion when in 1893 the 10 founders, wearing the colors and the honored pink roses of Alpha Xi Delta (because their pins had been completed as originally planned), arrived late to chapel announcing the formation of Alpha Xi Delta at Lombard College, Illinois. Introduction of the new group was made by the mistress of ceremonies. Previously working in secrecy, the Bay Area Junior Alumnae announced their intention of concentrating their efforts toward a worth while philanthropy in the Bay Area. The proposed activity which will bring this intention to a realty will include not only the new alumnae group, but the college chapter at the University of California, the Oakland-Berkeley, Diablo Valley, San Francisco and Marin, and Palo Alto Alumnae of Alpha Xi Delta. The local member is Mrs. George Martinez.

Fashions will be by a San Rafael shop, with Mrs. Robert Davenport as commentator. The models, women and teen-agers of the church, will enter through a garden, having on one side a jewelry festooned white tree in a modern setting and on the other, furnishings of the "rocking chair" era.

League Board Hears Reports

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of Marin General Hospital Service League, a report from Mrs. John Dewey, chairman of tours in the hospital, stated that tours are already scheduled each Tuesday and Thursday through June 7. These tours are much in demand by Scouts, Camp Fire, and other school groups to acquaint the children with their community hospital.

According to Mrs. Judson Goodrich, television rentals were much in demand during the month of March and proceeds were donated to Marin General.

Mrs. Etta McGrew, coffee shop manager, displayed her new bowling trophy obtained as a member of the Marin General Women's Hospital Bowling team.

April 15 is a day that Volkswagen truck owners greet with less trepidation—and an appreciably greater net after taxes.

A Volkswagen truck usually costs less to begin with; always saves money every mile you drive. An honest 25 miles per gallon is average, or just about twice what you get in standard half-ton trucks. VW delivers 83% more cargo for its size, too: 1830 lbs. instead of the usual 1000.

Other gains are in proportion. VW's air-cooled engine rarely needs oil between changes. Because Volkswagen trucks weigh half as much, there's half the usual tire wear. You also save on service and depreciation. Result: the average operating cost for a Volkswagen truck is 7¢ per mile, against 14¢ for most half-tons.

Next fiscal year why not plan this 50% refund on your transportation dollar? Your VW dealer will show you how. There are 5 different commercial models adaptable to every business—white-collar or wilderness—that needs wheels.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, April 29, the 120th day of the year, with 246 more in 1960.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1769, the Duke of Wellington was born.

In 1894, Jacob Coxey and his so-called "army" of several hundred unemployed men arrived in the nation's capital to petition Congress for relief legislation.

In 1918, Capt. Edward Rickenbacker achieved his first victory over an enemy aircraft, shooting down a German airplane in World War I.

In 1945, American soldiers liberated the 32,000 Nazi victims at Dauchau, German concentration camp.

A thought for today: Scientist Charles Darwin in "The Origin of Species" said: "The higest possible stage in moral culture is when we recognize that we ought to control our thoughts."

Corte Madera Shop Center Gets Approval

The Corte Madera Planning Commission has approved the tentative map of the Russell-Jones neighborhood shopping center on Paradise drive opposite Marina Village, chairman John Adlard reported.

Two service stations in the approximately eight-acre commercial subdivision are already under construction. Plans also call for an Embee market, a drug store, three other large buildings and one small one to house a variety of shops.

The approval was subject to a number of conditions.

The center will be fronted by the town's new construction to improve Paradise drive.

Two Marinites To Retire From Army

Two Marinites were to be honored today at a retreat parade and retirement ceremony honoring 13 retiring Army officers and two master sergeants on the main parade ground of the Presidio of San Francisco.

They are Lt. Col. Winston A. Jones, deputy comptroller and program coordinator of Army headquarters in Japan, and Maj. James L. Fitzgerald of the 15th Army Corps.

Jones, an escapee of the infamous Bataan death march during World War II, has been on active duty since 1940. He helped organize the Luzon guerrilla force and served as commander of a segment of the force until 1945. One of his captains was Ramon Magsaysay, later president of the Philippines. Jones and his wife, Reba, will make their home at 20 Apollo road, Tiburon.

Students' Art Work Entered In Contest

They will constitute the first exhibit, according to curator Nevin Kempthorne, under the new policy of making the gallery available for courtesy shows of any art that shows idealism.

The students' pictures will remain at the gallery until the end of the week when they will be taken to San Francisco to be judged by an American Art Assn. committee, together with 150 other pictures coming from the Red Cross Pacific area.

Winning pictures in the contest will be sent to Washington, D. C., where they will be combined with blue ribbon winners from 77 other countries into exhibits that will travel all over the world. One of these traveling exhibits from a previous year will also be on view with the Marin entries in this year's contest.

Drunken Driver Draws $150 Fine, Probation

Don Oliver Dilbeck, 43, construction worker from Cotati, must pay a $150 fine and remain on six months probation for his first drunken driving offense.

Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court sentenced Dilbeck for driving while intoxicated along Highway 101 on March 13.

Welcome, Reserve Officers, To Your 32nd Convention

Welcome, Reserve Officers, to San Rafael and Marin County.

We hope you enjoy your stay here. We hope your accommodations here are to your liking.

We think our Marin County is among the finest places to be in all the world, whether you be visitors like yourselves or premanent residents like those of us who call Marin "home."

We are proud of our county. We have much of scenic and historic interest to show to visitors. We hope your convention schedule will permit you to tour around our county and see the beautiful sights. We are sure you will enjoy them as so many people before you have.

The Chairman of our Board of Supervisors, Walter Castro, and our San Rafael mayor, John McInnis, are scheduled to address you with words of official welcome. We want you to know that beyond that formality most of us are genuinely glad to have you as our guests and we are anxious to have you think highly of our area after you leave.

We are attempting to nurture our fledgling visitor "industry" here; we hope to attract more tourists and conventions.

We know there is room for improvements in the field of visitor accommodations here. Several good motels have been built here in the past few years. We need more. Especially do we need larger ones.

While our area is rich in scenery and historic interest, we have not yet done all we should by way of erecting informative markers and directional signs leading to these attractions.

But these deficiencies in tourist and convention facilities and in designating points of interest are receiving the attention of our Marin Visitors Bureau we are hopeful that remedies will be forthcoming in the not-to-distant future. Please bear with us on these points.

We would be most grateful to you for your comments—favorable and/or unfavorable—on your visit here.

We wish you success on the occasion of your 32nd annual Department of California convention. We hope you and your ladies will honor us again with another convention visit.

And we hope it will be soon.

Again, welcome, we are glad to have you as our guests.

BE DARING, NOT RECKLESS

Trying to prove his courage cost a 24-year-old father his life.

The tragedy occurred when the young man and a neighbor went to the roof of their 5-story apartment building to "get some fresh air."

Seeing a 16-foot length of old rope on the roof, the first man challenged his friend. He dared him to tie one end around his waist and the other to a thick iron pipe and then jump across a 10-foot wide courtyard to the roof of the next building.

The man said that he owed it to his wife and three children not to take such a risk. The challenger replied in derision: "You're not a man. I'm a man and I can do it."

With that he hurriedly took up the challenge himself. But he failed to leap far enough, and tragedy struck when the weatherbeaten rope snapped and he plunged to his death on the pavement 78-feet below.

God wants you to be daring in doing good. But He expects you to hold to sound doctrine and sensible means. Taking foolish chances is usually a sign of too much interest in self and too little in truth.

"The folly of a man supplanteth his steps: and he fretteth in his mind against God." (Proverbs 19:3)

Teach me to be daring for good, O Holy Spirit, while avoiding what is reckless.

The Future Belongs To The Cat (Just Ask Anyone Who Has One)

NEW YORK (AP) — When a man's wrong, he might as well admit it.

And I can't think of a better time than the eve of National Be-Kind-to-Animals Week to confess that all my life I have been wrong about cats.

When it comes to pets, most folks divide into "dog people" and "cat people." If they keep a dog, they usually don't keep a cat — and don't like cats. If they keep a cat, they usually don't keep a dog — and don't like dogs.

It is only human to be suspicious of anything we don't know well. And that probably explains why in the past most Americans have preferred dogs and been distrustful of cats.

That's the way I felt until Lady Dottie joined our household as a kitten a year and a half ago. She was black and white and had a black dot on the tip of the nose. Strictly alley cat. No more, no less.

As a life-long dog lover, I would have bet Lady Dottie wouldn't last out the month in our home. But now she owns us and everything in it.

At first I would have nothing to do with her, and she showed an equal lack of ardor toward me.

As we got more used to each other, however, I learned a basic difference between dogs and cats. A dog tends to be everybody's pal; he wants the world to like him. But a cat selects her own society, and doesn't worry about public opinion.

Our cat has at least two distinct personalities. By day she is a sleek, plush-footed Grover Whalen, greeting visitor with all the dignity and calm of an ancient Chinese mandarin.

BUT AT NIGHT she roams the house, like a dozen clumsy burglars, pushing over wastebaskets, tumbling books from the shelves, knocking expensive table lamps to the floors. The furniture she breaks costs more than the food she eats.

The charge that cats, unlike dogs, don't have a sense of gratitude isn't really true. Lady Dottie knows how to say "thank you." She just doesn't believe it's necessary to shout her gratitude out loud — as a dog does.

JUST WHEN I quit disliking Lady Dottie and became her servant I don't know. Cats have an invisible way of inflicting their sense of ownership over you.

And sooner or later they'll probably own the country. They are gaining a steady victory over their old enemy, the dog.

The last pet census showed Americans have 28 million cats, only 26 million dogs.

Rover has met his master.

"We will decide WHEN there will be close-ups and WHEN there will not be close-ups . . . !"

Sgt. Earl Vanderveer, airplane mechanic at Hamilton Field, reported that he was awakened from sound sleep by "a noise like a buzz-saw about 1,000 feet in the air — something the likes of which I never heard before." Vanderveer was certain "it must have been a flying saucer."

Despite heated claims of big losses on Marin County commuting services Pacific Greyhound Lines made a net profit of more than $5,600,000 last year, it was revealed by Spurgeon Avakian, rate attorney hired by commuters fighting rate increases.

Pharmacist Will Talk Drug Price

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Having practiced pharmacy for the past 40 years, the observations of Harriet Dyer Thon prompts me to answer her inquiries.

With very few exceptions, the pharmacists believe a prescription is the property of the patient, to take wherever he pleases. I believe most doctors, especially the general practitioners are in accord with this practice.

The direct phone is usually found where many doctors are in the same building, with a pharmacy below, being there for many years, and originating in the friendship of doctor and pharmacist.

The new "Pharmacy Code of Ethics" prohibits a pharmacist supplying a doctor with a direct phone, or even prescription blanks bearing the store name and address. The penalty is loss of pharmacy license.

The variation in prices quoted would please the federal department of Justice, who are always anxious to prove a conspiracy to fix prices.

Many pharmacists price prescriptions about as scientifically as did the waning regime of old Henry Ford, who ignored cost of materials and overhead, merely weighing the parts used, and charged accordingly.

The cost in dollars of the modern prescription is many times greater than it was 20 years ago, and about as similar as the Model T and today's sleek models.

Considering the fact that the length of sickness is decreased, hospitalization shortened, the loss of work cut considerably, the modern drugs are your best buy.

The pharmacist-owner is in a bind today, with yearly demands for increased salaries, competition from supermarkets, and the fact that 90% of products are under fair trade and cannot be raised. Unlike the butcher and grocer the pharmacist cannot add on a few cents here and there to compensate for increased over head.

Sometimes we old timers look back in envy to the days when wages and wholesale prices were low and we did not have to buy 100 expensive pills to dispense 12 and add the remainder to the ever increasing graveyard of drugs replaced by something newer.

The best method of keeping prescription prices down is to buy those products which traditionally did, and still do, belong in a drug store.

No pharmacist should charge a price he cannot justify, and feel sure he will be more than willing, as is a doctor, to discuss your prescription price with you.

When anything is offered cheap, remember the old Roman saying as true today as it was thousands of years ago — "Caveat Emptor" — let the buyer beware.

UNION SHOP AT STAKE

High Court To Rule On Political Spending

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. Supreme Court has accepted for decision a legal dispute which indirectly could invalidate all union shop labor contracts in the United States.

The court heard arguments last week in what is known, for short, as the Looper case. The issue raised involves minority and individual rights of union members. The now-pending case arose in Georgia.

A few employes of the Southern Railway sued to forbid their union to spend dues money for political objectives which the complaining union members opposed.

THIS IS A UNION SHOP situation. The complaining union members, therefore, may not withdraw their financial support of the union without resigning their union membership. If they resign their union membership, they also resign their jobs.

That is what makes the Looper case a hot one. The narrow area of individual rights in which the issue is raised contributes also to the political importance of the case.

The court now has heard arguments and has agreed to decide the case.

IT WOULD be difficult for the court to render an opinion without establishing as the law of the land either:

That a union member cannot be compelled to contribute toward political expenditures for objectives which he opposes, or;

That such an individual or minority group is without constitutional protection against such.

The Georgia Supreme Court found for the complaining union members. The Georgia court held that to compel anyone so to contribute to a political objective would deprive him of guarantees in the Bill of Rights, specifically of freedom of association, thought, liberty and property.

A U. S. Supreme Court decision for the complaining union members would have one of two profound effects upon the structure of organized labor. It would:

Invalidate the union shop with its requirement of union membership, or:

Compel union leaders to finance their political activities wholly from voluntary funds.

DESPITE CORRUPT practices act prohibition of union spending or of contributions for political purposes, federal courts have held specifically that the unions may make political medicine in their publications or use the medium of TV. The rights of freedom of speech, press and assembly protected the union in those fields.

In the TV case, which arose in Michigan, three U. S. Supreme Court justices held that if minority rights were involved at all, this simply was the concern of internal union management.

Newcomer Likes Election Stories

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

My husband and I wish to thank you for your recent coverage of the candidates who were running for office.

We are new in the area and were not able to vote, but feel since this service was available this time you will in the future continue with this policy.

Being a housewife and rather tied down by small children, I found this especially helpful since getting out to meet and know the candidates is so difficult.

Looking forward to more of this in the future.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

An incident occurred in a Pennsylvania PX recently that will delight any ex-serviceman worth his salt. A hoity-toity second lieutenant was caught without the proper change in front of a cigaret machine, so he flagged a passing private and asked, "Got change for a dollar?"

"I think so," said the private cheerfully. "Wait till I see."

The lieutenant drew himself up stiffly and barked, "Private, that is not the way to address an officer. We'll replay this scene. Got change for a dollar?"

The private saluted smartly and said, "No, sir."

'Terrific Place For Creative Culture' New Tiburon Slogan?

Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce is in the process of conducting a contest among its members for an appropriate slogan for the organization. So far, the members have not agreed upon one, so if any Tiburon peninsula residents would like to try their hands at being creative, their entries are invited. They may be submitted to any member of the chamber.

Some of the lighter slogans submitted so far are: "Riviera on Raccoon Straits," "Terrific Place To Consume Cocktails," "Terrific Place For Creative Culture," "Tempting Paradise For Cultured Commuters," "Team For Progress For Contented Citizens."

Of course, you don't have to base your slogan on the initials of the chamber, as member Kent Beardsley did.

DURING A DISCUSSION of budget allocation for purchase of a $2,400 intercommunication system for Reed School, trustee chairman Richard J. MacLaury reminisced back when he was in the 7th grade "and I can remember the buzzer going and the teacher racing out of the room to see the principal."

While the other trustees were sentimentally looking back through the years to try and remember if they, too, had intercom systems in their schools, trustees Alfred J. Azavedo punctured the quiet minutes with "and then they got married!"

THE RECENT Tiburon Fire Protection District election, which went off without the fireworks engendered at the previous election, was not without its share of nerve-wracking incidents. Take, for instance, the plight of one of the election officials at the Tiburon firehouse, who when she went upstairs found herself trapped in the ladies room.

Then she opened the street side window and started to call to the people downstairs. Nothing happened. Floor-stomping didn't help either.

Finally, a voter mentioned to the election board that "There's a woman upstairs screaming out of the window" . . . and they realized she HAD been gone for a long time.

The story ends happily, due to the strong shoulders of several male voters.

AND THEN there were the happy foursome of Tiburonites driving home after a late, late party who came around a sharp curve in the Tiburon hills and came face to face with a donkey! At least it looked like one to the driver . . . who carefully turned to his wife and questioned her vision. They in turn checked with the couple in the back seat, and sure enough, it was a donkey.

It was the well-known pet of Mr. and Mrs. George McKegney of Lyford's Cove, who was last seen nipping the arm of another unwary driver!

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

There Are Different Democratic Viewpoints On The Religious Issue

WASHINGTON — From the recent speeches of Stevenson, Humphrey, and Kennedy, it is evident that there are three different viewpoints on the so-called religious issue in the campaign even among the Democratic contenders:

That the religious issue should not be discussed because it is irrelevant. This is Adlai Stevenson's view.

That the issue should not be discussed because it would "divide the country," as Sen. Humphrey puts it.

That the "public policies" of any church raise "legitimate questions" which Sen. Kennedy says should be discussed by the candidates.

OF THESE THREE viewpoints it seems to me that Kennedy chooses the right one.

Sevenson makes the religious issue taboo by carefully mis-stating it. He says the matter ought not to be raised at all because it is nobody's business "where a man prays." It isn't.

What is called "the religious issue" does not concern prayer, place of prayer, or method of prayer, but rather only the positions which a church or a religious group takes on temporal affairs and the discipline which a church seeks to apply to its members in regard to these positions.

"THERE ARE legitimate questions of public policy," Kennedy told the American Society of Newspaper Editors last week, "which no one should feel bigoted about raising and to which I do not object to answering. But I do object to being the only candidate required to answer those questions."

That is a fair point. The public policies of any church, not just the public policies of the Catholic Church are properly subject to questioning.

For example, would a conscientious pacifist Quaker endanger the military defenses of the nation? Would a Christian Scientist use his influence to dismantle the medical services of the Social Security system? Would a Catholic, whose church prefers union of church and state, as in Italy tend to dilute the separation of church and state in the United States?

IT DOES SEEM to me that Humphrey is on extremely weak ground in arguing that any discussion of a church's public policies represent "intrusion into denominational affairs" and "threaten the very fabric which binds our nation together."

The Fair Campaign Practices Committee made up of distinguished Protestants, Catholics, and Jews, lucidly defines and condemns bigotry in these words:

"Stirring up, fostering, or tolerating religious animosity, or injecting elements of a candidate's faith not relevant to the duties of the office he seeks are unfair campaign practices."

BUT IT IS NOT bigotry and, in the view of the Fair Campaign Practices Committee, not divisive, to weigh the public policies of any church and capacity of any candidate to assert his independence of his church in temporal matters.

The need is not for silence in this delicate area, but for candid, temperate, and earnest discussion.

The throb of helicopter rotor blades is the theme song of modern mining in the high, remote Northern Cascades, in the state of Washington.

A great ridge, just north of Glacier Peak, has been known as Miners' Ridge for some 60 years. It was named by prospectors who, with pick and shovel, first learned of the ridge's copper deposits. In 1900, a mining and smelting company staked several claims on the ridge, but the mines were not put into production, mainly because of their inaccesibility.

In 1954, another mining company, from Spokane, became interested in the historic ridge. A small exploration crew was sent into the area by pack train.

Since then, the project has expanded far beyond the ability of packers to sustain it. Three years ago, experienced mountain flyers, piloting helicopters, assumed the job of supplying the operation.

At Miners' Ridge today, the 35 to 40 men at work are transported quickly and comfortably by helicopter; they are served fresh fruit, vegetables and meat, brought in daily by the 'copters. The men even get a daily mail delivery by air.

Aim of the Miners' Ridge work now is to learn the extent and worth of the copper deposit. Cores of rock have already been taken from more than 1,000 feet deep in the ridge.

PROSPECTING BY HELICOPTER

Library Budget Discussion Set In Mill Valley

The Mill Valley Library Board will discuss the budget for the 1960-61 fiscal year at its meeting May 9 at the library.

The trustees, at a meeting Wednesday, decided that major improvements to the present library would be unwise.

Robert Jenkins, president, was authorized to take steps to invest accumulated funds amounting to $7,500 derived from the five-cent library tax increase and earmarked for a building fund.

The board requested the city council to ask Pacific Gas and Electric Co. to improve street lighting in front of the library.

Officer Awarded Legion Of Merit

Navy Lt. Cmdr. John A. Davis, son-in-law of Mrs. Zeila H. Barr of 135 I street, San Rafael, recently was awarded the Legion of Merit at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during operations last year.

Davis, commanding officer of the submarine Greenfish, will report in August to the Naval War College in Rhode Island. He is the husband of the former Agnes Dollar Barr of San Rafael.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO CIRCULATE INITIATIVE PETITION

We, the undersigned, intend to submit an initiative petition to the people of Belvedere, County of Marin, State of California, in form and substance substantially as follows:

"WHEREAS, the Council of the City of Belvedere, State of California, deems it in the best interest of public health, safety, morals, comfort and general welfare to secure the most appropriate use of inundated lands; NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED:

1. Inundated lands are lands either temporarily or permanently submerged.

2. Said inundated lands are hereby declared natural conservation and recreation areas which may be used for the following purposes only: water contact sports, fishing, boating and athletics, which uses may be subject to an admission fee and/or a rental fee for use of facilities.

3. No structure shall be erected in whole or in part on said inundated lands other than lifeguard towers and boat docking facilities.

4. Said inundated lands shall not be divided or subdivided and no portion of said inundated lands shall be used in computing the area of lots of adjacent land.

5. Any person, persons, firm, partnership or corporation violating any provision of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be fined not less than $50.00 and not more than $100.00.

6. Each day any violation of this ordinance continues shall be deemed a separate offense.

7. This Ordinance shall take effect and be enforced from and after the earliest period allowed by law."

The proposed initiative ordinance is designed and intended to provide the economic and social advantages resulting from an orderly and planned use of land resources and to conserve and promote the public health, safety and general welfare of the people of Belvedere. It is believed that the use of inundated lands for purposes other than as set forth in this ordinance would be detrimental to public health and safety. It would provide necessary recreational facilities and preserve the character of the property which has been developed abutting it. It would serve further to preserve the natural beauty of Belvedere which has accounted for the development of the community.

You will think this house was built just for you. And we think so too. It has 3 bedrooms (1 could be yours) and you could have one of the bathrooms all to yourself too, unless of course, you have brothers or sisters. And wait until you see your playroom! But best of all, there are no steps to fall down. And no high windows to fall out. Of course, there are lots of other features that might not interest you particularly, but your folks will appreciate them, especially the price—$17,450.

Marin College Players To Give Comedy

Final rehearsals are being held for the comedy "My Three Angels," to be given May 5, 6 and 7 by the College of Marin Drama Workshop at the college's Harlan Hall. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

It is the second show produced by the group during the current school year. "My Three Angels," based on the French play La Cuisine des Anges, by Albert Husson, was written for the English-speaking stage by Sam and Bella Spewack. It was successful on Broadway and was the basis of "We're No Angels," the film.

The plot concerns three convicts serving in a French penal colony and their efforts to aid a family in operating a general store. Taking title roles are Dave Burmester, Ken Rosenberg and Don Straiton.

Others in the cast are Judy Garrison, Dave Howell, Wendell Joost, Ralph McGlothlen and Carelle Adaire Wheeler. Director is faculty member Irene Clark. Miss Wheeler is also stage manager. Ruth Waggoner is wardrobe mistress and Robert Smith is master of properties.

The show, entitled "From Kew to Kyoto," will have a "dress rehearsal" tonight for visitors in formal dress, including Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

The panoramic "Kew to Kyoto" theme was designed by Howard Gilkey. Its focal points "Kew Gardens," and a great golden replica of Kamakura's famed Daibutsu mountain shrine, stand at opposite ends of the arena.

The show will be open daily from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Girl Scouts Ask Lease On MMWD Land

With $50,000 in improvements contemplated on the Girl Scout camp at Sky Oaks on land of the Marin Municipal Water District, it is felt that a long-term lease is required, district directors were told Wednesday by a delegation of three representing the Marin Girl Scout Council.

A committee was appointed to consider the matter while the board held the problem temporarily under advisement. About 20 acres are affected.

The board decided to award contracts May 11 on bids received Wednesday for excavation of balancing tanks on the Smith ranch, for 3,300 feet of 24-inch pipe needed in North Marin, Terra Linda and Los Ranchitos areas, and for automotive equipment.

The board awarded a $15,182 contract to Consolidated Western Steel of South San Francisco, low bidder on 5,400 feet of steel pipe.

It authorized purchase from the Leighton Stone Corp. of a 14-inch pump control valve for $2,186, lowest figure of four bidders.

FIRST IN MARIN—Eighty students were graduated today from Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary in its first commencement on its Marin campus. From left on podium in photo are Mrs. A. M. Martin, seminary registrar; Delmore F. Olsen, graduate receiving his "hood" from Dr. C. Arthur Insko denoting master's degree in theology; Dr. Harold K. BROWN TELLS CHESSMAN HIGH COURT HOLDS FATE

Caryl Chessman was advised by Gov. Edmund G. Brown today to direct any "last chance" appeals to escape execution Monday to the California Supreme Court.

Even as the convict author was reported working on a new legal maneuver, Governor Brown insisted at a news conference in Sacramento that he is powerless to recommend clemency for Chessman because the state Supreme Court twice voted 4-3 against clemency.

United Press International reported that Brown said he told Rosalie Asher and A. L. Wirin, attorneys for Chessman, during a conference yesterday that the "proper place for you to go would be to the state Supreme Court." He said he spoke both as a lawyer and governor.

Chessman was to meet with Wirin and Miss Asher this afternoon to discuss how he might obtain the ninth stay of execution in his 12 year legal fight. (See story on page 5.)

3 Killed As Turk Troops Halt Riot

Tear Gas, Gun Butts Used On Students

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI)—Turkish troops smashed an anti-government riot at Ankara University with tear gas and rifle butts today after Premier Adnan Menderes promised "swift punishment" for the persons who started two days of disorders.

Three students, one a girl, were reported killed in the Ankara rioting today and 30 were injured, bringing the two-day death toll to an unofficial 14. The students were killed when troops fired into a university building before storming it.

A lesser demonstration broke out in Istanbul this morning against the regime of strongman Menderes, although martial law was in effect. It was quelled by tear gas attacks before it reached the proponents of yesterday's rioting.

While fighting raged in and outside the law buildings of the Ankara University, the Turkish Grand National Assembly met in emergency session across town to review the crisis. Fistfights broke out there between Menderes followers and Gen. Ismet Inonu's opposition Republican Party.

Menderes, who has accused the opposition of trying to incite the people to revolution, acted vigorously against what he called a threat to the security of Turkey, a member of major Western alliances such as NATO and CENTO.

Ankara students, gathered outside the political science faculty building, called on Menderes to resign, cheered Inonu and yelled "long live the Turkish army." But it was the army that put down the riots, and students later screamed: "You have become our enemy."

A crowd of several thousand protested the stern action of the rifle-wielding soldiers, and sang the national anthem. Troops broke up the crowds.

1st MARIN CLASS

Baptist Seminary Graduates 80

"You are in a real sense commencing. You have not arrived. You have to keep learning. What you are going to do is serve, not to be served. What will happen in this world in this generation depends on God's children, so you must do your best for God."

These were the words that president Harold K. Graves told 80 students being graduated today from the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary in a colorful but serious ceremony.

It was the largest class to be graduated in the history of the seminary and the first graduated at this campus. The college was located in Berkeley until last summer.

The students received their diplomas from Dr. Graves in Broadus Hall, which was so overflowing with friends and relatives that chairs had to be set up outside the doors.

One of the most colorful aspects of the ceremony came when seven graduates received their master of theology degrees and were "hooded" by Dr. C. Arthur Insko with stoles of yellow, red and blue.

Following the ceremony, graduates were congratulated by their friends and relatives, some of whom came from states as far away as Texas and Virginia.

The commencement ceremony began at 10 a.m. with two processions. The first consisted of the graduates and was led into the hall by Dr. Insko, professor of preaching and Christian ethics at the seminary. Then a procession of the faculty, led by Dr. Graves, followed, each person dressed in black caps and gowns and all wearing "hoods" of various colors, denoting the types of degrees they hold.

When the processions were seated, the congregation and the choir, dressed in purple gowns, sang the Doxology. Dr. Fred L. Fisher, professor of New Testament interpretation, led the invocation. Scripture reading was by Dr. Kyle M. Yates, associate professor of Old Testament.

Dr. William A. Carleton, dean of the seminary, presented the candidates to Dr. Graves.

He said: "There is today a cult of religion which is the substitute of true religion. There are 64 million members of this cult in America. The members of this cult do not go to church."

Missing S.F. Flier Feared Down At Sea

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Coast Guard reported today that flying watchmaker Peter Gluckman was presumed down on an attempted record flight from Tokyo to New York City.

Capt. A. J. De Joy, Coast Guard Western Area operations officer, said the 34-year-old San Franciscan's single-engine plane probably would have exhausted its 580 gallons of fuel at about 10:15 a.m. PDT—58 hours after he took off from Tokyo.

At that time Gluckman's emergency status passed from the alert to distress phase under Coast Guard procedure.

Fire Destroys Landmark In Mill Valley

The home was converted 10 years ago from a barn believed to have been one of the oldest structures in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Blyth Adams, owners of the house who live next door at 74 Mountain View avenue, said they were awakened about 2:51 a.m. to see a light "as bright as day" through their bedroom windows which face the smaller house.

"It was a mass of flames," Mrs. Adams said, "and it just went up 'poof!' with no explosion or anything."

Solons Add More Funds For Weapons

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee added about one and a half billion dollars today to President Eisenhower's budget proposals for missiles, planes, submarines and satellites.

It offset the sum by cutting almost as much from what it considered less essential or wasteful military spending for administration, travel, procurement and other items.

The $39,337,867,000 defense appropriation bill the committee approved for the fiscal year starting July 1 was a net of $121,967,000 over what the President requested.

In ordering a 10 per cent cut in the civilian headquarters payroll and barring new pentagon assignments totaling more than the staff on hand last Dec. 31, the committee reported to the House there are so many defense administrators that no one knows the exact number.

'Save Chessman' Group Drops Gallows March

Dissension among members of the Marin Chessman Committee and lack of finances forced cancellation today of plans to haul a full-sized gallows to the governor's mansion in Sacramento tomorrow in protest of Caryl Chessman's execution.

Committee chairman George Draper admitted some members of the committee were "very upset" at the idea of a cavalcade, including gallows, to Gov. Edmund G. Brown's Sacramento home.

Committee members apparently had again solidified their stand today, on hearing the gallows idea had been dropped.

Another member of the committee, who would not allow use of his name, said, "Most of us feel this gallows idea was a bad idea."

A motorcade is to form at 1:30 p.m. Sunday at Marin City, with representatives from many Marin towns, Berkeley, the University of California and San Francisco State University, and will proceed to the prison gate.

Mme. Charles de Gaulle yesterday turned her black limousine to Wolfback Ridge, detouring from her Marin sightseeing schedule to the committee's "torch of life" in Sausalito.

Mme. de Gaulle and her party left their cars to view the flame, lighted to protest Chessman's scheduled execution at 10 a.m. Monday. The flame, kept lighted only at night now, was lighted for the party, reported Robert O'Leary, originator of the idea.

Tending the propane installation when the de Gaulle party arrived were Dick Helms and Curt Hoffman of Sausalito.

The Chessman committee, Draper explained today, is meant to "provide an avenue of expression for all" who oppose Chessman's execution. It is not necessarily against all capital punishment, though some of its members are, Draper stressed.

Donations for the committee's work have come from "several hundred" persons, reported committee member Sally Stanford. She declined to disclose the amount contributed.

Clark Tells Of Platter Payments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dick Clark, king of America's disc jockeys, swore today he never received payola but admitted knowing that a record company in which he had an interest made payments to other platter spinners.

Clark gave his testimony before a packed hearing room as House payola investigators continued their inquiry into under-the-table payments for plugging of records. (Earlier story on page 3.)

For Better Education

How Unification Has Worked For Novato

(This is the fifth of a series of articles on Marin County's school district setup and possibilities for revamping it.)

By DONALD G. DAVIS

Novato is the only unified school district in Marin County. San Rafael has the only city system, and enjoys many of the so-called advantages of unification.

William J. J. Smith, superintendent of the Novato district, has watched his district grow from a collection of country schools to a full-fledged district with its own high school.

"Under the right leadership," Smith said of unification, "there is no loss of control. Under proper leadership there is, in fact, much better control.

"Fear of unification is understandable because many people believe that it would remove the schools from any sensitivity of local control."

Novato played it smart. First it was ascertained whether some other elementary districts would like unification. When it was determined that Nicasio, Burdell, Lincoln, Union Joint and San Jose didn't want any part of it, Novato went on alone. The district already was a union of the original Novato and Black Point districts.

(Burdell, Lincoln and Union Joint became part of the Petaluma High School District after a state law was passed requiring all elementary school districts to affiliate with high school districts. Marin school officials think these three districts eventually should be unified with Petaluma or Novato; or unionized at least.)

Novato almost had to unify or else . . .

It had to unify probably before it was ready for it. It was either that or continue paying high tuition costs for students attending San Rafael High School. The cost at the time of unification was $400 a child per semester.

But unification barely

Budget For Roads Approved By Board

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today approved the road division section of the Public Works Department budget after a morning of heavy slogging through 16 pages of 1960-61 proposed budget.

The board preserved the principle that no property tax shall be levied for county road purposes. The proposed construction program was agreed upon on this basis between Marvin W. Brigham, director of public works, and County Administrator Donald A. Jensen.

There were no fireworks, though from time to time some supervisor would wistfully suggest the desirability of doing something special for his area, to which Brigham had more or less standard response:

"Don't mind putting it in if you can take out something else."

There were no something-elses volunteered.

The estimates came to a grand total of $1,324,060, compared with $1,264,208 for the fiscal year which will end June 30.

Two major construction projects appeared on the list. A third—realignment of the Pt. Reyes-Petaluma road in connection with the Nicasio dam reservoir — wasn't included because there will be full reimbursement by the Marin Municipal Water District.

The Lucas Valley road improvemest will be financed primarily from federal funds under the Federal Aid Secondary roads program. Budgeted was a contribution of only $20,000 from the county, and $12,000 of this will be carried over from 1959-60.

Four-laning of Sir Francis Drake boulevard from U.S. Highway 101 to Ross is immediately to include only the work to Wolfe Grade intersection, the supervisors decided.

"Of all the roads in the county and cities, Sir Francis Drake is the most difficult," said Brigham after stressing the need at once for four lanes in the 101-Wolfe Grade section. The budget shows "101 to Ross" with an amount of $90,899, for which $65,000 had been estimated when that

House Down Payments Cut By U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Housing Commissioner Julian H. Zimmerman today reduced minimum down payments on houses bought with government-insured mortgages.

The reductions will apply only on homes costing more than $13,500. The biggest cutback would be $525, on dwellings costing $18,000 or more.

San Rafael Enjoys Unified Advantages

squeaked through — by only 23 votes.

The state Department of Education says the "desireable" number of students for a unified district is 10,000. But this figure is sometimes "interpreted" to mean 4,000 or 2,500. Novato had fewer than 2,000 when the district was unified, and today it has slightly more than 2,600 enrollment.

A freshman high school class was started in elementary school buildings, necessitating double sessions, in 1955.

While the "situation has improved" each year, according to Smith, at first the board of trustees "had to work fast."

A high school had to be built while tuition was still being paid to San Rafael. New teachers had to be hired. An instruction program had to be started. In 1956, the voters approved a $750,000 bond issue and a state loan of one and a half million dollars. A 47-acre school site cost $262,000.

Because the trustees could not foresee expenses, they asked for voter approval of a $3.50 tax rate. It was voted down, but later a $2.80 tax rate was approved.

Voters also had to approve of the new unified district assuming the old elementary district's $300,000 bonded indebtedness. By 1958 the voters were again asked to approve raising the tax ceiling, to $3.55. This was defeated, but a few months later a tax ceiling of $3.23 was approved. This expires next year.

"Planning a new building and getting together a new staff was a real headache," Smith said, "but you learn fast that a good high school program is important. Unification tends to make this easier."

In spite of these pitfalls, state officials believe that unification is the coming thing. They say California's system is antiquated, that the national trend is toward unification. They say that California is lagging behind, that by doing away with small districts and local control, educational services can be enriched.

While San Rafael is a city district (or part of districts), there is no control over the system by the city council. The board of education selects the administration. In recent years the elementary district annexed the San Pedro and the Santa Venetia - Gallinas areas. The high school district takes in the Dixie, San Quentin and San Jose elementary districts as well as the San Rafael Elementary District.

This is confusing to just about everyone except Supt. Frank B. Lucas, who adds that he believes it would be perfectly possible under San Rafael's city charter for all of the members of the board of education to live in San Quentin, San Jose or Dixie districts. This would mean that taxpayers in those districts "could run San Rafael city schools." Voters throughout the high school district ballot on candidates for the city board of education.

To his knowledge there has seldom been a member of the board from outside the city, but he thinks it would provide an "interesting situation" if the right to serve from the outside the city were ever challenged.

Lucas says the district enjoys many of the advantages of a unified district.

The two districts, while governed by one board and managed by one administrative system, must keep two sets of books. Lucas said there would be financial "reasons" for unifying. He and everyone else on the administrative staff and the maintenance staff could be paid with one check instead of two, for their work in the two districts, and there "would be greater opportunity to use the resources of the system where we need them."

If San Jose, Dixie and San Quentin districts were to annex to San Rafael, the boundaries of the high school district and the elementary school district would become coterminous, all under the leadership of one board, and unification would be automatic.

The Dixie district a few years ago had one school, an old-fashioned one-room building. That is now district headquarters for a system that is painfully trying to provide education in the rapidly growing area north of San Rafael. And while both San Rafael districts extend to areas outside the city, the Dixie district includes part of the land recently annexed to San Rafael.

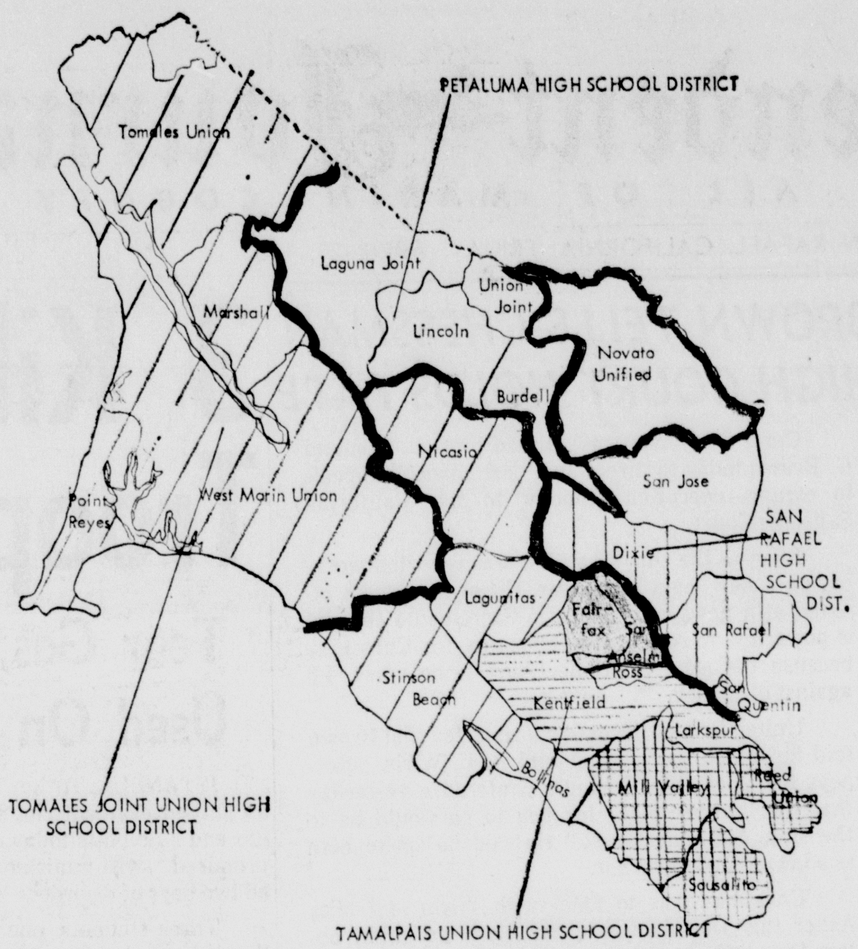
There is constant talk of annexing to San Rafael. At San Quentin, trustees are seeking to send their seventh and eighth grade students to San Rafael, on a tuition basis. San Jose is a holdout.

Lucas says that if Dixie and San Quentin became part of San Rafael, pressure would be put on San Jose "to make up its mind."

With San Rafael's split financial system there can be no effective junior high school. While San Rafael and other districts attempt to achieve a junior high set up through a semi - departmentalized program, there are no three-year junior high programs including the ninth grade.

It could be accomplished in San Rafael, in part, through a system of bookkeeping, "Borrowing" funds from each set of books.

"We already have one course of study, one board, one set of personnel, one policy and an articulated system," Lucas said. This is true except for the other three districts in the high school district. It can be argued that students in the San Rafael Elementary District have the advantage an articulated program; their counterparts from Dixie, et al, do not.



THE SILVERNALE PLAN—This is how Marin's school districts would be reorganized by Rex Silvernale, member of the San Rafael Board of Education and the county committee on school district organization. It would unify all of West Marin including Nicasio, Lagunitas, Stinson Beach and Bolinas that are presently in the Tamalpais Union High School District. That district would be further divided to put the Fairfax and San Anselmo districts in one unified district, and to unify Ross, Kentfield, Larkspur and Reed Union districts, and to make a separate unified district of Mill Valley and Sausalito. San Rafael's high school district and the San Rafael elementary, Dixie and San Quentin districts would be unified. San Jose would go to Novato, and the north central districts would remain in the Petaluma district.

Farm Family Wiped Out By Oklahoma Twister

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A farm family of three was killed by an isolated tornado that spun in on their home last night.

The Seminole County sheriff's office said a motorist came across the scene early today. Details were not immediately known.

Earlier, an Oklahoma City man died of a heart attack at the peak of a storm during which tornadoes churned straight through a 50-mile stretch of central Oklahoma.

The twisters were first reported over Anadarko before sundown and last reported over Oklahoma City. The farm family reported killed by the twister lived near Cromwell, 70 miles southeast of Oklahoma City.

Loyd Walters, the heart-attack victim, died as his house was hit by the wind.

This sprawling Oklahoma capital city was hard hit.

Most of the damage here was from roofs torn from buildings and homes by the twister. Two homes were destroyed and trailers in a trailer court overturned.

In the tiny community of Pocasset, 50 miles southwest of here, two homes were flattened and two others heavily damaged by a tornado.

At Tuttle, 10 miles northeast of Pocasset, a twister clipped a side off the high school gym, and wrecked a cotton gin, a school bus garage and three houses.

The winds lifted the roofs from the Hillcrest Country Club house and a fire station in southwest Oklahoma City. Windows were shattered, homes unroofed and big signs twisted by the wind and golfball-size hailstones. Countless cars were stranded in streets suddenly flooded by a torrential rain.

Youth Fined After High-Speed Chase

Robert Rider Sovulewski, 19, of 90 Bayview drive, San Rafael, drew $35 fine yesterday for leading police on an 80-mile-per-hour chase from a drag race scene in Novato on April 12.

Sovulewski appeared yesterday before Judge Leonard A. Thomas in Marin Municipal Court and pleaded guilty to speeding and failing to heed police signals.

On the night of April 12, police broke up a drag race on Petaluma-Pt. Reyes road at the end of Novato boulevard. Youths scampered in all directions, and cars sped away. Police caught Sovulewski after chase.

Churches To Hold Drive For Clothing

Presbyterian churches in Marin Sunday will launch a clothing drive for destitute persons overseas.

Churches that will participate are those in Sausalito, Corte Madera, Tiburon, San Anselmo, San Rafael, Tiburon, Santa Venetia, Novato and San Geronimo.

In making the announcement, Rev. Wesley C. Baker, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael, and Leonard Majore of San Rafael, a deacon at the church, said that any church could participate in the event.

They said it would last throughout May, with the goal in Marin set at 100,000 pounds.

Persons wishing to contribute may call the Presbyterian church in their community and ask where clothing can be dropped, or ask for someone to come to their homes and collect. Pickup points throughout the county also will be given by the churches.

Majore said that heavy clothing particularly is needed, and shoes and blankets. Also the clothing should be usable.

It is part of the Church World Service Overseas Relief to Destitute Refugees. The clothing will be sent to Modesto, the program's only major collection center west of the Mississippi, for shipment to overseas points.

The Democratic measure, cleared by a 214 to 163 vote yesterday, will come up for consideration at Senate housing subcommittee hearings beginning May 9 along with 17 other housing measures.

Clark Swears He Has Never Taken Payola

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disc Jockey Dick Clark swore to House investigators today that he has never taken payola.

Clark, making a long-awaited appearance before a House subcommittee, complained that he had been condemned before getting a chance to testify.

In a 34-page statement, Clark declared: "Gentlemen, I feel that I have been convicted, condemned and denounced even before I have had an opportunity to tell my story. Further, there has been printed in the press what appears to be a pre-judgment of my case."

Clark had been turned down on his requests that he be permitted to testify first in the committee's inquiry into his activities.

In swearing that he had never taken payola, the 30-year-old idol of teen-agers asserted: "In brief, I have never agreed to play a record on a television show in return for a payment in cash or any other consideration."

Clark told the House Legislative Oversight Subcommittee that he had cooperated fully and "I have given your staff complete and unlimited access to all documents, accounts, books and papers which they have requested.

"I point this out only because I want to make it clear that I have nothing to conceal."

Sarges Pass Dr. Moore In Walk Race

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Dr. Barbara Moore was trailing two British sergeanst again today in her transcontinental trudge.

She knocked off in midafternoon yesterday and let Sgts. Patrick Maloney and Mervyn Evans steal a march on her. The 56-year-old woman, who lives on vegetables, fruits and grass covered about 34 miles before halting at 3 p.m.

The sergeants kept walking and erased her 11-mile lead, stopping for the night at Salt Lake City's southeastern limits, four miles ahead of Dr. Moore. She had camped a mile in advance of them Wednesday night at Gransville, Utah.

The soldiers started from San Francisco a day ahead of Dr. Moore, but she passed them while they slept Tuesday.

All three headed up into the Rocky Mountains today. At Silver Creek junction, 28 miles east of here, the sergeants will swing north on U. S. Highway 189 to U. S. 30. Dr. Moore will continue on Highway 40.

Tam High Club Sets 1st Dance Of Season

Tamalpais High School's International Club will present its first dance of the season at 8:30 p.m. today in Ruby R. Scott Auditorium, according to president Jan Volz.

Proceeds of the dance will help sponsor two foreign exchange students to Tamalpais next fall and will help to send Edward Collins, son of Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Collins of 700 Summit avenue, Mill Valley, to Austria this summer.

TASTES CREOLE COOKING

De Gaulle Gets Noisy New Orleans Welcome

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Charles de Gaulle, president of France, turned today from world politics to the lowly crayfish as creole cooks tried to convince him they have improved on French cuisine.

The comparison came for the 69-year-old French war hero at one of those elaborate luncheons for which New Orleans is famed.

A few hours later, de Gaulle was to catch a jet for three Caribbean stops before returning to Paris.

Along with the crayfish, or "les ecrevisses dans leur," on the menu will be pompano pontchartrain, a tender whitefish prepared with buster crabs.

He led a motorcade along Canal street reviewed a military parade in front of Jackson Square. Just 175 years ago tomorrow France ceded the vast Louisiana Territory to the United States on that same plot of ground.

At St. Louis Cathedral, seat of the New Orleans archdiocese and oldest cathedral in the United States, de Gaulle knelt at the side of Archbishop Joseph F. Rummel in a brief service.

A private get-together with French community officials, a big civic reception in Jackson Square and a short boat trip on the Mississippi River were also on today's program before de Gaulle was to depart for French Guiana.

Although the population of all of Nicaragua is only slightly over a million, crowds as big as 40,000 may squeeze into the National Stadium in the capital of Managua for a baseball game.

Novatan Reports 400-Mile, 17-Hour Blackout, Car Loss

A Fuller brush salesman from Novato walked into the Marin County sheriff's office yesterday with a bizarre account of a 400-mile blackout between here and Los Angeles and the mysterious loss of his car and contents worth more than $1,000.

Louie T. Pender of 1248 Yukon way, Novato, told Sheriff's Sgt. Edward Mythaler that he remembers driving near Olive School in Novato at 8 a.m. on Monday. He had about $500 in checks and cash, $500 worth of brush merchandise, and a .25 caliber automatic under the front seat.

The next thing he remembers, he said, is waking up about 1 a.m. Tuesday in a Los Angeles police station.

He told sheriff's deputies here that his car and all contents are gone. He said he does not know what happened or how he got to the Los Angeles police station.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos sent a teletype query to Los Angeles to see if police there can throw any light on Pender's missing 1952 car or what happened to Pender during the blackout.

Pender has a wife, Gwendolyn, and two children, Lou, 7, and Gwendolyn, 8, at the Yukon way home.

BUDGET

amount went into last year's budget.

"The people of Ross have indicated no intention of widening their part of Sir Francis Drake," commented Supervisor Vera Schultz.

Supervisor William D. Fusselman said, "They'll see the light if traffic continues to build up."

Brigham had a scribbled list of seven new items which had come up after preparation of the proposed budget, but the board delayed consideration of them. Brigham promised more as time went on.

Road and bridge construction together came to an estimate of $460,139, a reduction of $85,716 from the amount estimated to be spent during the current year, in line with decreased revenue partly due to the incorporation of Novato.

Brigham stigmatized as "disgraceful" the county's Mill Valley Corporation Yard on a former dump, without heat or toilet facilities, in asking $15,000 for new construction there.

For reasons of both sightliness and convenience in getting to jobs, Brigham didn't take kindly to the possibility of a single big corporation yard at the Civic Center. After discussion, the supervisors concurred that it seemed "best to be scattered."

Hallinan Joins Fight Against Death Penalty

He said his appointment by the state Supreme Court to represent Alexander Robillard, appeal from a death sentence "jolted me into an active attitude."

Hallinan, recently re-instated to practice, said Robillard had asked the Supreme Court to name Hallinan to defend him. As the attorney made the decision to take the case, he fired off a telegram to Gov. Edmund G. Brown protesting Monday's scheduled execution of Caryl Chessman, and also donated $100 to a movement opposed to capital punishment.

Hallinan said, however, that a report he had given the money to a Marin group fighting for Chessman is wrong. "I gave the money to a man named Mike Miller . . . He is now in Southern California trying to get up a movement to place something on the November ballot to abolish capital punishment," Hallinan said.

Speaking of Robillard, who was convicted last year of slaying a Hillborough policeman, Hallinan said that the Supreme Court had notified the convict that his previous attorneys were leaving his case. Appeal of the death sentence is automatic and the court told Robillard that if he had no funds with which to hire an attorney, the court would appoint one. Robillard asked for Hallinan.

"He's on Death Row now," Hallinan said. "I'm going over to San Quentin tomorrow to talk to him and get the records. We have a month to file a brief, and I'll have to search the records to see if there were any errors."

Appeals can be made only on the basis that an error was made during proceedings in court.

In the telegram to Brown, Hallinan said he wrote that capital punishment "an obsecene spectacle for a great state to pursue some poor wretch down all avenues of escape until it finally corners and kills him." He said he told Brown that Chessman deserves consideration for two reasons.

1. Chessman had been able to stave off execution for 12 years and shows some merit to his defense.

2. Chessman has brought the focus of world attention on the "barbarous practice of capital punishment."

mittee meeting clutching $8 in her hand.

The Marin Psychological Assn., at a meeting last night in Mill Valley agreed to wire Governor Brown that it supports his views on abolishing capital punishment.

Ray D. Graber, president of the association, signed the telegram which said, "We psychologists support your views to abolish capital punishment, and respectfully urge you to make an immediate moratorium on the death penalty."

Convict Cuts Arms In Try At Suicide

A San Quentin Prison inmate slashed his arms with a broken light bulb last night in an isolation cell where he was placed several days ago on suspicion of plotting an escape.

Associate Warden Walter D. Achuff said inmate Raymond Baldwin, 24, was treated in his cell for slight cuts.

Achuff said prison officials have not yet determined whether Baldwin was planning an escape.

Baldwin entered San Quentin last October after being sentenced in Los Angeles County to a life term for kidnaping for robbery and five years to life for first degree robbery.

Chamber Unit Refuses To Endorse Park Plan

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The travel and recreation unit of the North Coast Council of the California Chamber of Commerce refused today to "endorse in principle" the proposed national seashore area at Pt. Reyes.

At the same time, however, the unit requested chairman Thomas P. Ludcke of Santa Rosa to call a special meeting for committee members to discuss the proposal.

The action followed a speech by San Rafael attorney Bryan McCarthy, who urged rejection of the proposal. McCarthy told the group the park is "bad for Marin, bad for the North Coast, bad for California and bad for the United States."

He said he "firmly believes it is not warranted, not needed and will do positive harm." He cited the needs for the dairy industry and its tax base, bad weather and the cost of acquisition of development as reasons for rejection.

Lothar Salin of San Rafael, a director of the Pt. Reyes National Seashore Foundation, declared "cows are being displaced by subdivisions," and that the only way to preserve the dairy industry on the peninsula is through a park. He noted that the first subdivision request had already been filed for the area.

The 10 members of the committee present heard Gibbs Larson, Dillon Beach resort owner, offer a resolution in favor of supporting the park in principle, but with modifications to be more acceptable to the dairy industry. On the vote, however, only three voted in favor and one voted against.

However, chairman Ludcke urged the abstainers to vote "no" so that the "matter can be disposed of." Further discussion held. On a re-vote, four voted "no."

Boy Strikes Schoolgirl

A 16-year-old Tamalpais High School co-ed was struck in the mouth by a 17-year-old youth yesterday noon near the school cafeteria after a violent argument, sheriff's deputies reported today.

The victim is Linda Earl of House 476, Marin City. The youth, also of Marin City, was booked at county jail on suspicion of assault and battery and taken to Marin Juvenile Hall.

Vice Principal J. R. George of the school told Deputy Sheriff Charles Prandi the beating occurred about 12:45 p.m. The girl was treated for wounds about the mouth and face.

The cause of the "heated argument" was not disclosed.

FIRE

Fire Chief Leslie Armager, who sent two rucks to the scene, estimated damages to the two-story, three-room house at $12,000. The cause was unknown.

Police Capt. Joe Canet, who lives nearby and came to the fire, said the building was one of the oldest in Mill Valley. As a barn it belonged to the late Charles Varney.

The house was only about 12 feet from a new two-story apartment building at 255 Blithedale avenue, but it and the neighboring home of Mr. and Mrs. Adams were not damaged. The flames were brought under control in 30 minutes.

Mrs. Mildred Lazzarini, Dr. Brown's secretary, reached Dr. Brown by telephone today to inform her of the fire. She said Dr. Brown was very philosophical about it, and wasn't going to hurry home.

Marinite Win Bank Awards

Two College of Marin students last night were among 55 Northern California junior college students awarded $100 Bank of America Business Awards in San Francisco.

They were Marianne E. Rattenberry, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Rattenberry, 9 Sunset way, San Rafael, and Joyce Farnsworth, 20, daughter of Mrs. Raymond Mariani, 1209 Irwin street, San Rafael. Both are sophomores.

Miss Rattenberry won an award in the secretarial division, and Miss Farnsworth in the business administration division. They were selected on the basis of scholarship, personality, extracurricular employment and activities. The college has participated in the program five years.

C Street Repair Work Completed

Portions of C street in San Rafael which have been closed for repair for the last 10 days have been repaved and were to be opened to traffic this afternoon.

The repaved sections are between Third and Fourth streets and between Fifth and Mission avenues.

Sausalito Unit Asks Retention Of Park Area

The Sausalito Recreation Commission last night recommended to the city council and planning commission that they "do all in their power to retain for public park purposes the absolute maximum land area adjacent to the proposed new Christ Church parish hall."

"To achieve this end, the recreation commission respectfully suggests that full consideration be given to minimizing off-street parking and/or other requirements which would reduce the size of the present park," read the commission motion.

MUST RE-APPLY

Chairman John Minton said the commissioners learned from a report by City Attorney John B. Ehlen that approval of a use permit for the church to build cannot be granted on the present basis. Minton said the attorney ruled the church will have to re-apply for rezoning through the planning commission.

The commissioners approved budgetary requests totaling $10,550, to include an $8,600 capital outlay program. The major items of the program are the tennis court at South View Park, the first portion of an irrigation system for Bayside Park, and first stage construction of a full concrete launching ramp at the foot of Turney street.

ENDORSE PARK

The commission recommended endorsement of the Pt. Reyes National Seashore area project to the city council.

Commissioners announced they are trying to get the upper Fourth street playground landscaped at no cost to the city. Some materials have already been contributed, Minton said, and others are wanted. Offers should be made to commissioner Alfred M. Arenz, Minton said.

The gas industry has laid more than 85,000 miles of long-distance pipelines in the United States since the end of World War II, reports the American Gas Assn.

Tennis Court Site In Ross Under Study

Ross town councilmen expect to decide at their May 12 meeting where to put two tennis courts which have been offered the town.

A citizens' committee headed by Sanford Paganucci has offered to put up the $8,000 to $10,000 needed to construct the courts. The only cost to the town would be in maintenance.

Five of the 17 persons attending an adjourned council meeting last night favored a proposal to put the courts on the Northwestern Pacific right of way north of the post office.

A letter from the Marin Municipal Water District indicated the district would not object to locating the courts there, over a MMWD pipeline, but that the town would have to pay for any re-installation work if it ever became necessary to get at the pipe.

Chessman Meets With Lawyers As Death Date Nears

Caryl Chessman, less than three days away from his scheduled death in San Quentin Prison's gas chamber Monday, held a "final" conference with attorneys A. L. Wirin and Rosalie Asher on what more can be done to postpone the execution.

The attorneys got nowhere yesterday in a personal plea to Gov. Edmund G. Brown in Sacramento.

Brown told them he stood firm on his statement of last Tuesday—that he is powerless to act unless there is some unexpected development of a critical nature. None is in sight.

Plans for the execution went ahead.

Warden Fred Dickson of San Quentin said no visitors but attorneys of record for Chessman would be allowed on the prison grounds Sunday night, the eve of the execution. Newsmen had been admitted in the past.

The governor's office announced it would flash the word when the death-dealing cyanide pellets are dropped in the gas chamber. Newsmen at the viewing area in the prison aren't permitted to leave until the execution is over.

Dickson announced that foreign newsmen would not be allowed to witness the execution, citing an attorney general's opinion that state law allows only U.S. citizens as witnesses.

The announcement threatened to cause renewed foreign interest in the case. An Italian correspondent said his newspaper is prepared to share the cost of a court test of the ruling with other foreign news media.

Lucio Manisco of 11 Messaggero, Rome, charged California officialdom with trying "to eliminate foreign interest in the Chessman case."

John Gold, New York correspondent for the London Evening News, shared Manisco's view. In a dispatch to his paper, he charged the bar against foreign newsmen is an attempt "to damp down overseas reaction to the case."

Meanwhile, more voices were raised on behalf of Chessman.

Giovannia Leone told Eisenhower in a telegram that the execution "would be repugnant to all civilized conscience."

And in Detroit, the city chapter of the National Lawyers Guild asked executive clemency for Chessman. The group said it "believes the interests of justice require the commutation of the death sentence of Caryl Chessman. As a bar association, we believe generally that capital punishment should be abolished, and specifically in this matter believe a commutation would best serve the ends of justice."

Indonesians Sentence U.S. Flier To Death

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Allan Lawrence Pope, American flier of fortune, today was sentenced to death for fighting against the government of Indonesia in the 1958 rebellion.

Pope showed no emotion.

The judge gave him a week to accept the verdict or appeal to a higher court. If the flier accepts the verdict, the judge may ask Sukarno to pardon Pope.

Pope admitted flying for the rebels, but insisted he flew only one attack mission.

Pope's World War II B26 bomber was shot down near the government-held port of Ambon on May 18, 1958. He bailed out and was captured.

TRIAL TO PROCEED

Hoffa Attorneys Handed Setback

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. Dist. Judge Joseph R.) Jackson today ordered the trial of a civil action aimed at ousting James R. Hoffa as president of the Teamsters Union to proceed on Tuesday.

Jackson denied a motion by Hoffa's attorneys asking him to throw the proceedings out of court.

Hoffa's attorneys immediately announced that they will go to the U. S. Court of Appeals in a new attempt to avoid the trial. Other motions to forestall the trial already are pending before the appeals court.

The proceedings against Hoffa are based on a contention that he misused union funds. They were brought by court-appointed monitors who contend Hoffa used some $600,000 of funds belonging to Detroit Local 299 of the Teamsters in various personal business enterprises.

One enterprise was a Florida real estate development.

In arguing that the proceedings should be thrown out, Hoffa's attorneys contended that the courts have no power to remove him and that this is a privilege entirely within the hands of the union members who elected him.

Judge Jackson ruled, however, that "it is the decision of the court that the monitors clearly acted within the scope of their authority."

Larkspur Council Meets Tomorrow

The Larkspur City Council will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. today to discuss planning commission problems, Mayor H. H. (Bert) Wheeler announced today.

Mayor Wheeler called the special meeting at the request of new Councilman Lesly Daveler. Organization and operation of the planning commission will be discussed and it is hoped some planning commission members will be present, the mayor said.

DINING OUT AND INNS

Lots Of Changes Taking Place In The Restaurants Of Marin

What a week for changes . . . When Milan Prokupek told me he was remodeling the kitchen at Inverness Lodge he was putting it mildly. If there's anything left out, I don't know what it is. There's everything the well-dressed galley could ask for.

The dining room and lounge, too, have been repainted and re-outfitted with new chairs, more tables, and an attractive wine closet which I suspect is the pride and joy of son-in-law Vladimir Nevl. You'll never recognize the place.

Vladimir has now left Ernie's in San Francisco and spending his full time at Inverness. You're liable to find him anywhere from Drake's Arms to the lodge to the riding academy where he gives lessons daily.

Drake's Arms is set up with moderately-priced American food with all entrees under $3 except the New York steak. There are also several salad and sandwich lunch specialties. Menu is supervised by Alena Nevl. Ed Smith is at the bar.

One or the other—Drake's Arms, Inverness Lodge or the coffee shop—is open every day for lunch or dinner, or both. All are run by the same family. Personally I favor the lodge for its distinctive Czech food.

The historic Blue Rock Inn in Larkspur has changed to the hands of a small group who will continue to uphold the dinery's standards of fine food, colorful atmosphere and intimacy in the manner befitting its reputation. (That's what the man says).

Ink is scarcely dry on the contract and date for occupancy has not been established. Further details will be reported in this column next week.

ANOTHER CHANGE in operation involves the little cafe Manana on C street in San Rafael. Next Monday it will pass from the tender care of Vi Looby to Herman Snider and Ramona Stallings.

Manana will become Ramona's and we are assured that cuisine will be true Mexican and Spanish gourmet dishes. It will be open seven days a week from 4 p.m. At a later date lunches will be added.

Vi Looby, bless her, will take a well-earned vacation. But if we can judge, she'll probably set up shop again in some other part of the county.

WE KNEW ABOUT this before, but now it's official:

The Ranch Wagon is fully in the hands of Max Horowitz, its long-time manager. Max has taken over the interests of his three partners and now has everything his own way.

First major change will be open for lunches Mondays through Fridays, beginning May 16. Max is partitioning off part of the lounge for additional space which will almost double the seating capacity.

The Ranch Wagon is taking reservations now for Mother's Day dinners, only a week away, at regular prices.

NOW THAT Franchini's West End Villa has opened for lunches Tuesdays through the week, you'll find a familiar face in the kitchen preparing them. He's Tony Failla, who was previously in charge of the cooking department when the Villa was under the late Pete Ostaggi. I think he's been away a year or more.

Tony is handling the entire lunch menu and will also be on hand to assist Karl Holm with weekend dinners.

ACROSS THE TABLE: Ever try a seafood omelette? I did Easter morning at Sabella's and never was more delighted with my breakfast. I don't know what Sabella's egg bill was for that occasion—omelettes, Easter eggs and fizzes, but Petaluma must have sent in a carload . . . Speaking of omelettes, La Petite Auberge has become similarly minded. Several varieties now on the lunch menu—some in French style. Look for additional dinner choices here soon . . .

Going up Bolinas way on a weekend? You might look in at the Breakers which Bill Clark and Bob Johnston of Fairfax have been redecorating in their spare time since last November a la tropicana. Localites refer to it as the Bamboo Hut. Bill was several years with Trader Vic's, which should give you the picture. Open only on weekends—food, beer and wine.

IF YOU'VE NOTICED the copy in Tiburon Tommie's ad on this page, it was composed by Mrs. Harold O'Brien of Larkspur who took a quick try on Tommie's contest announced in the same space last week—and came up a winner. So many good entries were received Tommie left the final choice up to his women's bowling team because they're used to scoring.

See? Maybe you should read the ads more often. It might have been you.

NMWD Board To Eye Water Pact

A special meeting of North Marin Water District directors to consider a contract which would bring Russian River water to the Novato area will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the district office.

The contract among the North Marin district, the Sonoma County Flood Control and Water Conservation District and the City of Petaluma has been under consideration for some months.

North Marin's share in construction of a viaduct which would deliver the water would be financed through a $3,670,000 water bond issue which is scheduled to be put before the voters on June 7.

Apartments To Be Opened Tomorrow

It seems the Independent-Journal "jumped the gun" with announcement of opening of the new Marina Landings Apartments on San Rafael Canal.

The apartments will be open for inspection tomorrow and Sunday, a spokesman for Parnow Brothers, builders and operators, said today.

MARIN MOVIES

Kay Kendall At Her Best In Rafael Film

By LES DARD

A preview of the weekend films:

RAFAEL THEATER

"Once More With Feeling" (color, filmed in Paris) is a farcical variation of the Svengali story. It stars Yul Brynner and Kay Kendall, and opens Sunday on the San Rafael screen.

Brynner portrays a tempestuous conductor who uses orchestras "the way some people use Kleenex." Miss Kendall is his girl friend of many years—in fact, everybody thinks they're married.

Estimate: Miss Kendall's funniest performance.

SEQUOIA THEATER

"On the Beach," starring Gregory Peck and Ava Gardner, opens Sunday in Mill Valley.

Time is 1964. The northern hemisphere has been wiped out in an atomic war. Deadly radiation is drifting south. The setting is Australia, where the people have about five months to live.

Peck is a U. S. sub captain. Miss Gardner is a loose-living beauty. Fred Astaire is one of the men who helped build the Bomb. Tony Perkins is a young naval officer.

How each meets the end of civilization is the gist of this provocative story.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

"Some Like It Hot," starring Marilyn Monroe, Jack Lemmon and Tony Curtis, is being brought back to the Hub screen Sunday.

This trio, plus Pat O'Brien, Joe E. Brown, and George Raft, turn back the clock to the late 1920s when people went to speakeasies and rival gangs gunned each other down.

Curtis and Lemmon play a pair of musicians who flee mobsters by disguising themselves as members of an all-girl band. Marilyn is the band's singer.

Estimate: Very funny.

MARIN THEATER

A new Alec Guinness film, "Our Man In Havana," opens Sunday on the Sausalito screen.

This excellent CinemaScope yarn offers Alec as a seedy owner of a vacuum cleaner shop in Havana, who becomes British spychief in the Caribbean.

Estimate: One of the season's better offerings.

NOVATO THEATER

Alec Guinness is the star of "The Horse's Mouth" (color), a notably funny film about a brilliant artist whose refusal to compromise his principles leads only to trouble.

It opens Sunday.

Guinness wrote the script, too, and while his execution of Joyce Cary's best seller is not always on the mark, it's close enough to make the film worth seeing.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

"Bell, Book and Candle" is a comedy-romance (color) about a witch (Kim Novak) who sets her sights on a romance with a human (Jimmy Stewart).

The main laugh-getters are Ernie Kovacs as an author of books on witches; Jack Lemmon, a novice male witch, and Elsa Lanchester, as Kim's inept aunt. Hermione Gingold is also in the cast, as a sort of dowager lady among other witches.

The co-feature at the playbox is "3:10 to Yuma," a Western film which the youngsters and their folks will both like.

LARK THEATER

"Room at the Top," a very frank movie, tells of a young heel's rise from his poverty-stricken beginnings.

Estimate: Leave the kids home.

MOTOR MOVIES

"1001 Arabian Nights" is a full length color cartoon based on the antics of Mr. Magoo, a myopic character hitherto limited to adult humor.

In this production he portrays Aladdin's uncle, eager for his nephew to settle down in marriage. The problem: The wicked Wazir, who has tumbled for the princess Aladdin loves.

It's as simple as that. When we previewed it, the youngsters were enthralled.

FAIRFAX THEATER

There's Sgt. Burt Lancaster, a stickler for rules, whose positive male confidence assured him of victory with Deborah Kerr, his commanding officer's wife. Then there's Pvt. Frank Sinatra, a Brooklynite with courage bordering on the ridiculous and foolish, yet not without the nobility of an underdog fighting for survival. And finally, there's Pvt. Montgomery Clift, a man with a mind that clings to an ideal—even if the ideal is destroying him.

LOTS OF LAUGHS—Baldpated Yul Brynner and lovely British comedienne Kay Kendall keep the laughs rolling in the sophisticated comedy, "Once More With Feeling," which opens Sunday at the Rafael Theater in San Rafael. It's a color version of a Broadway stage hit.

Sales of toothpaste, cosmetics, pharmaceuticals, foods and other products in collapsible metal tubes set a record of 1,150,000,000 units in 1959.

Sentencing Slated For Zoning Violator

Frank Dittle of 153 Walnut avenue, Mill Valley, who has been found guilty in Marin Municipal Court of violating the Mill Valley city zoning and building ordinances, will reappear in court Tuesday at 4 p.m. for sentencing.

Dittle was found guilty on the charge that he had constructed additions to his garage within the five-foot lateral setback area.

English Teachers' Work Load Rapped

College of Marin trustee chairman Rupert E. Kempf at a board meeting last night sharply criticized the teaching load in the English department, and thereby touched off a debate o nthe grading of English compositions and the number of students in classes.

Kempf said that in previous years English instructors carried 18 hours a week of classroom teaching, but that the figure has been changed to 15 hours.

"I think this is manifestly unfair," he said. He said some English teachers are carrying only 12 hours, while in other departments, some teachers still carry 18 hours.

"It is my recollection," said Trustee George Washburn, "that English teachers were given fewer hours because they spend more time outside the classroom grading compositions."

Dewart E. Lewis of the English department said the English teachers also give and read entrance exams amounting to more than 100 hours a semester.

Dr. George H. Ball, French teacher who has also taught English classes, defended the time spent grading compositions. "It takes more than translation papers," he said.

Another English teacher said writing virtually is not taught in high schools because teachers have too big a load, and that if class sizes per teacher are increased at the College of Marin, the same thing will result there.

"How about sociology and economics? Are there no compositions in those classes?" asked Kempf. "If we are to treat the whole college like the English department, we would have to hire a lot more teachers, and there would be no raises for anyone."

"Only one junior college covered in a recent survey," said Lewis, "required English teachers to carry 18 hours." The board was also told of the number of hours preparation required for each English class, including those in literature. As an example one teacher said he had to read Jane Austin's "Pride and Prejudice" every year "to have fresh in mind for the students."

Kempf, however, was not satisfied. He wanted to know why some English classes had 25 students while others had six. Vice President Paul Clymer said a six-student class might be an afternoon one, with the majority of students signing up for morning classes.

"I'd like to have the feeling," said Kempf, "that the administration and the teachers think something can be done about this. Some of these teachers are not doing very much work . . .

"I'd just like to see the teaching load spread around and get a more varied and balanced program."

Clymer said that might mean smaller classes.

"What's wrong with that?" retorted Kempf. "It's better to do that, than nothing. All you are saying is no, no, no."

Clymer, evidently bruised by the discussion, said that could be done, "but I don't think it's the right thing to do."

College President Ward H. Austin came to Clymer's defense, saying:

"We can set up a program, but if that doesn't shape up the following semester when the students sign up, there's no class. Also we can't set up another course when they begin to drop out at the end of six weeks."

"Apparently we've reached an impasse," Kempf said "Does any other member of the board have a comment?"

There was no comment.

AFRICAN GIRL PRAYS FOR CHANCE TO STUDY AT COLLEGE OF MARIN

Mary Emily Oloo, 18, would like to attend the College of Marin.

Mary lives in Kenya, British East Africa, where four of her countrymen, all males, recently applied for admission to the college.

President Ward H. Austin said the men tentatively have been admitted and that housing is being sought for them. He told the College of Marin board of trustees last night that Mary's letter had just arrived, airmail.

She said she had just finished Form II in the Africa Girls' High School and had studied general science, religion, geography, music and English, and was a member of the choir.

"I do pray, God," she wrote, "for a chance to further my education in the U.S.A."

The board, touched by the letter, asked Austin to check into her financial situation prior to making a recommendation and seeking local housing.

"I can't help but feel," said Austin, "that she knows those boys are coming here, or at least one of them."

"You," said Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy, "are a romanticist at heart."

Decision On College Art Teacher's Pay Delayed

Trustees of the College of Marin last night went into a secret executive session to consider the employment of two teachers, but, at the last minute, decided not to hold an executive session on setting the salary of an art teacher.

The agenda of the proposed executive session was mailed out last week, and an Independent-Journal story pointed out that there was no provision in the Brown Act, California's anti-secrecry law, for holding a closed session for discussion of a salary.

As the time for the executive session approached, Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy looked at her agenda, turned to the college President Ward H. Austin, and said:

"Why are we holding an executive session on that?"

"We can take it up right now," Austin said.

Under consideration was the salary of Alton Raible of Oakland, who has been hired for the next school year to teach weaving. He had been recommended by Edwin A. Cadogan, art department director.

Under a new hiring procedure adopted last night, an advisory committee will make recommendations to the president on hiring and salaries of certificated personnel. Board chairman Rupert E. Kempf said he wanted this procedure carried out on Raible, and recommended that no decision be made on the salary until the board is furnished with further details of Railble's experience.

"I have heard criticism of this man," Mrs. Deedy said, "and not from anyone in this school. People I've talked to are fascinated that we are going to hire him to teach weaving. They want to know if he really has taught weaving before."

Mrs. Deedy asked that Cadogan be requested to come to the next board meeting "to justify his recommendation."

Newspaper In Marin Hires New Editor

Mrs. Helen B. Kerr has taken over duties as editor of the Marin News in Sausalito, replacing Janet Ferris.

Mrs. Kerr, an unsuccessful candidate in the recent city council election, was editor of the News in 1957 and 1958

Counseling Proposal Set Aside

Trustees of the College of Marin last night set aside the recommendation of a committee on counseling that a fulltime college counselor be hired, and that some members of the faculty be released for part-time counseling duties.

Said Trustee Kent O. Seymour: "I hesitate to settle this now with a new man coming in to be groomed as president. He probably should have something to say. I'd like to delay this to orient it to the budget."

Seymour's view won out, but Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy said: "This is a matter of top priority as far as the budget is concerned. Considering the number of student drops, we can't go on forever withholding services while we have a good reserve fund."

The recommendation by college President Ward H. Austin and other faculty and administration members of the committee was for the employment of a fulltime counselor to devote three-quarters of his time in counseling and the remainder of his time to coordinating and planning the program. Five teachers would be used on a part-time basis to assist him. Because of this, two more faculty members would be added.

Fair-Anselm Shop Center Gets Go-Ahead

The $300,000 Fair-Anselm shopping center in Fairfax won final approval from the city planning commission last night.

The center is to rise across Center boulevard from the Lucky Stores market, on land owned by Max Friedman.

The two buildings of the center will have 36,000 square feet of space for eight shops such as drug store, variety store, barber shop, beauty shop and hardware store. The Lucky Store also is on land leased from Friedman.

Foundations already have been laid for the two buildings, which will be separated by a pedestrian mall. A wing of one building will extend over Corte Madera Creek. The buildings will have peaked roofs.

The meeting last night also saw unanimous election of a new chairman, Stanley Wilsey. Former chairman was Waldemar Radtke, who, with recent election to the city council, cannot head the commission. He will remain as an ex-officio member.

Radtke will take the place of Rolfe M. Ockenden as council representative. A new commission member is to be appointed.

Mrs. Richard Chase was appointed secretary. Radtke also had been acting as secretary.

NEW YORK — Industrials dropped stocks close to their 1960 lows today in moderate trading. The list made an early attempt at a rally from yesterday's decline but support was lacking and the list slipped down under the weight of the blue chips.

Volume for the day was estimated at 2,800,000 shares compared with 3,190,000 yesterday.

Marin Gas Tax Share To Rise 20 Per Cent

Marin County is scheduled to receive an almost 20 per cent increase in motor vehicle license fees during the 1960-61 fiscal year, it was announced today in Sacramento by State Controller Alan Cranston.

Marin will be one of 20 California counties that will enjoy the increase, because of an expected increase in population. The other 38 counties will receive less.

Based on an estimated population of 148,000, Marin is scheduled to receive $537,900, or a 19.29 per cent increase over the current fiscal year's $450,900.

Of the more than half million dollars expected the next fiscal year, some $377,700 will go to Marin's 10 cities.

The cities' expected apportionments are: Belvedere, $8,600; Corte Madera, $25,900; Fairfax, $23,000; Larkspur, $25,600; Mill Valley, $46,100; Novato, $70,900; Ross, $11,700; San Anselmo, $57,200; San Rafael, $80,800, and Sausalito, $27,900.

Marin's total compares with $541,900 for Sonoma County and $2,870,500 for San Francisco County, both of which are expected to get decreased amounts.

Belvedere Council, Plan Board Set Secret Meet

The Belvedere City Council and planning commission will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the home of Vice Mayor Ida Scott, 72 Lagoon road, to review engineering reports on the western tidelands development.

The meeting is not open to the public, City Manager Britton Rey said.

Rey emphasized that "no action will be taken at this meeting . . . the council and the planning commission are reviewing the commission's activities since the proposal was first brought up last July."

According to opinions of the state attorney general and the state legislative council, any meeting of a public body at which a quorum is present constitutes an official meeting.

The city council will act on the Belvedere Properties Inc. appeal at its regular meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the Belvedere Community Hall.

The three engineering reports to be reviewed are by: Dames and Moore, engineers for the developers; Albert H. Seimers, city engineer, and Morton W. Lieberman, representing the Belvedere Property Owners Assn., which is fighting the development.

The city council, at its April meeting, did not make any decision on the appeal, referring it back to the planning commission.

The planning commission subsequently stuck by its denial of the application because of City Atty. William H. MacKay's ruling that, according to the subdivision ordinance, the homes would be constructed on "a dangerous or inundated area."

Novato Leaders Outline Area's Growth Problem

By CARLETON WILLIAMS

Speaking on Novato's future at a membership dinner meeting of the chamber of commerce were Mayor Wayne Womack, Supt. William J. J. Smith, of Novato Unified School District, Peter J. Ferrarese, president of the Novato Fire District board; Al Tresch, manager of Novato Sanitary District, and Jerome B. Gilbert, manager and chief engineer of North Marin Water District.

All predicted at least a four fold increase in population within 10 to 20 years.

Of the four districts, only the sanitary district is prepared to meet substantial growth without immediate increase in facilities.

To keep abreast of the growth, the first district will need a higher tax rate. Both the school district and the water district will ask the voters to approve bond issues almost immediately, the spokesmen said.

Using a University of California survey of the district needs, as well as an actual head count conducted recently, Smith said there are now 1,768 children of pre-school age in Novato.

When the area reaches its saturation point, or the point at which there is no more room for residential development, Novato will have an enrollment of 12,480 pupils, Smith said.

This will mean a need for three high schools, three junior high schools and 16 elementary schools. These would necessarily be manned by 403 teachers as compared with the 130 now employed.

The only way to prepare for the growth, Smith said, is to face a bond election in the near future.

Another bond issue — this one scheduled for June 7—was discussed by Gilbert, who also predicted a growth of four times the present water needs by 1980. The water bond issue would be excess of three million dollars.

Gilbert explained in detail the proposed viaduct from Novato to the Russian River, which the bonds would finance. He urged the voters to say "yes."

Ferrarese, analysing the fire district's battle to maintain a necessary standard of equipment and fire-fighting potential, said he predicted next year's tax rate would have to increase from the present 65 cents per $100 assessed valuation to "around 70 cents."

Tresch, speaking on the growth and needs of the sanitary district, was alone in declaring that his district's facilities were in no immediate danger of being outstripped by the population growth.

Mayor Womack reviewed the accomplishments of the first city council since the Jan. 12 election which created the city. Planning is the answer to the future of the city, he said. "Planning, industrial development and money is what we need for Novato's future," he added.

Introducing the speakers and offering a short review of the accomplishments of the chamber of commerce during the past year was chamber president Alfred W. Bowman. The meeting was held in the Novato High School cafeteria.

Mental Hospitals Set Open Houses

SACRAMENTO (AP)—California's state mental hospitals will open their doors next week to show the public what is being done for the mentally ill.

Dr. Daniel Blain, state director of mental hygiene, issued this invitation to the public:

"We hope everyone will take this opportunity. We want people to know what we are doing to keep California a leader in the care and treatment of the mentally afflicted."

Registration Starts For Reserve Meet

Registration was under way this afternoon for reserve officers from California who meet this weekend at the Reserve Officers Assn. convention in San Rafael.

This opening day of the convention was to continue with a cocktail party at conclave headquarters at the Bermuda Palms, followed by a dinner.

The San Rafael Military Academy band will open the second day of the meeting, followed by an address by Rear Admiral Jack P. Monroe, commander of the Pacific missile range at Pt Mugu, who will speak on "Missiles Over the Pacific."

A formal military ball will conclude tomorrow's activities, with the meeting scheduled to close at noon Sunday.

Reserve Officers Assn. ladies clubs also will meet during the weekend. Women members will hear an address Saturday by Col. Newton Stearns, on "Can We Live with the Communist Tiger?—An Answer to Khrushchev's Peace Offering."

About 6,000 invitations have been extended to reserve officers throughout the state.

Lt. Col. Daniel G. Cook, San Rafael, is general co-chairman of the convention. Lt. Col. Oscar Street, San Anselmo, is general chairman.

Lt. Col. Aaron Rucker, Kentfield, program; Lt. Col. Carl Webber, Kentfield, finance; Lt. Cmdr. Donald Carpenter, Mill Valley, housing.

Lt. Col. Robert Paine, Novato, is in charge of registration, and Lt. Col Leroy Wanless, Novato, entertainment.

Expenditure by Americans during 1960 to treat pain, avoid disease and restore fitness will approach $19 billion, according to the Health Insurance Institute.

Reed District Art Festival Set Tomorrow

The Reed Union School District and the Reed District Parent-Teacher Club "All Arts Festival" will open tomorrow at 1 p.m. in the Bel Aire School multi-purpose room.

Children's paintings, drawings and crafts will be displayed in the library and adjoining outdoor gallery area. Mrs. Edward J. Gratonik, Tiburon artist and teacher, has mounted the entries for exhibition.

At 2 p.m. seventh and eighth grade speech students will read selections from outstanding prose and poetry of the kindergarten through eighth grade. The district orchestra, under direction of Chris Bogios, and the girls' chorus will complete the program. The galleries will be open until 4:30 p.m.

Coordinator for the first districtwide art event is Mrs. Seymour Whitelaw. She said several teachers will have their art work displayed.

Free Girl Scout baby sitting for the younger children will be in the kindergarten area.

Private Cable Car

WALKERTON, Va. (AP)—John Peatross has never seen San Francisco but he understands about her cable cars and the need for them.

Peatross just got tired of walking up and down hill from his cottage to the beach, and carrying the stuff he said was needed on his boats.

He built his own cable car which operates on two rails laid on two by four boards.

New Teacher Hired By College Board

Trustees of the College of Marin last night voted to hire Jacqueline G. Nettles, 26, of 325 Tamalpais avenue, Mill Valley, as a physical education instructor.

Miss Nettles is now teaching at Jefferson High School in Daly City. She will receive $6,200 a year.

The action was taken after a midnight executive session in which the hiring of Miss Nettles, a music teacher and an assistant registrar was discussed.

Going back into regular session, the board took action on Miss Nettles' hiring, but deferred decisions on a music teacher and the registrar appointment until applications for the jobs can be more closely studied.

The board also accepted the resignation of David Hawkins, a fulltime mathematics instructor the past three years. Hawkins, a retired admiral, will teach next year at Tamalpais High School.

Just as the board adjourned at 1:20 a.m., president Ward H. Austin passed out copies of the proposed 1960-61 fiscal budget. The board accepted the copies for study, and there was no discussion.

Sorry, Santa

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)— Santa Claus will never make it down one chimney. Tommy Miller has already tested it for him.

Tommy, 7, and a friend were on the roof of an unfinished house here. Tommy put his feet down the chimney, then slipped on in—and stuck.

Firemen pulled him out.

Company Honors Employee For 47 Years Service

Paul L. Barstow, of Corte Madera, has been given a gold watch by Western Union Telegraph Co. in recognition of 47 years of service with the firm.

Barstow is division operations supervisor for the nine western states, with headquarters in San Francisco.

Barstow started with Western Union in 1912 as a messenger boy and student Morse operator at $15 a month. He has been employed by the company ever since except for brief interuptions for service along the Mexican border and in World War I.

He was employed in various western states in supervisory jobs, until his appointment to his present job in 1959.

During his years as a Morse operator, Barstow covered a 1915 cyclone in Kansas and set up a telegraph office in a box car in Utah to provide wire service from a mine disaster which took more than 100 lives in 1923.

He and his wife, Lila, live at 125 Birch avenue.

BOY CYCLIST HURT

Woman's Driving Lesson Ends In 3-Way Disaster

Mrs. White was being given a driving lesson by her husband when, according to Police Chief Frank L. Nelson, the car (1) hit a bicycle, throwing its 8-year-old rider to the pavement; (2) crashed into a porch railing, and (3) bashed in a carport.

The cyclist, Michael Sjovold of 333 Willow avenue, was treated at Marin General Hospital for bruises, a leg injury and slight concussion.

Mrs. White had circled the block a couple of times, going north on Willow avenue. As she turned into Willow on a slight incline, her husband told her to apply the foot brake gradually, she said. She mistakenly placed her foot on the gas pedal.

White grabbed the wheel with both hands, trying to avoid the boy cyclist, his wife told the chief.

The boy was approaching on the wrong side of the road, the couple said.

The car struck the bicycle, throwing the boy to the pavement, knocked down the front railing of a porch at 338 Willow, then crashed into the storage shed of a carport at 332 Willow.

Mrs. White observed afterward that someone had told her not to have her husband teach her to drive.

Fill 'Er Up

ST. LOUIS, (AP) — Bartender Valentine Tatitch had more trouble than usual, this time, in complying with the order to "fill her up."

A car broke the paving over a 120-year-old well on the parking lot next to the cocktail lounge where Tatitch works.

Board Adopts College Teacher Hiring System

Accepted was a combination of views of the committee on certificated personnel and President Ward H. Austin. Trustee George Washburn immediately wanted to know how this would affect the present setup in which Austin has made recommendations and the "teachers have had no say."

Austin said there had never been a formal setup but that he has always consulted with department heads and Paul Clymer, vice president.

"But this is a step in the right direction," said Austin.

Generally, the newly adopted system provides:

1. That an advisory committee be formed to assist the president in making selections.

2. That this committee have an opportunity to discuss the qualifications of the candidate with the president and receive from his personnel record information.

3. That persons be hired on the salary schedule according to experience, receiving a year's teaching in the same subject in a college, a half year for high school, and credit in certain areas of military service.

The committee will be purely advisory with the final decision being made by the president and the board of trustees.

The trustees also accepted reports from committees on community relations, and the college's physical plant. A minority committee report was received on the latter subject. The reports were referred to the budget file without discussion.

Condition Of Crash Victim Reported Good

Frank Geisel, 58, of 54 Grove lane, Novato, who was injured when his car went off Pt. Reyes - Petaluma road yesterday, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital.

BIG BONFIRE?

College Trustees Decide 2 Old Buildings Must Go

There may be a big bonfire at the College of Marin in Kentfield very soon. And it won't be a student rally.

It will be staged to get rid of two ageing college buildings described as "not worth life and limb to walk through."

Trustee board chairman Rupert E. Kempf said at a meeting last night that he and Trustees Elizabeth M. Deedy and Kent O. Seymour recently inspected two buildings on the college's Granton Park property "and came to the conclusion they should be burned down."

He referred to two old buildings, one used for the apprentice program and the other intended for music."

Said Mrs. Deedy, "If 25 people walked through the music building, it would collapse."

Said Seymour, "They should be destroyed as quickly as possible in the least expensive way."

Seymour's suggestion was passed on to college President Ward H. Austin. If burning is the cheapest way to get rid of the structures, that's what will be done.

The board also:

1. Decided to ask the Marin Municipal Water District for the "picture on water storage" before digging a well to water the football field.

2. eleased a statement on qualifications for the position of administrative assistant and set May 15 as the deadline for applications which are to be accepted by the county superintendent of school's office.

3. Decided to meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the college to interview applications from consulting architects.

4. Held over consideration of retaining the firm of Dalton, Graupner and Barber as district auditors.

School Gardener Given Sports Pass

Gardener Antone (Tony) Rostoni will continue to be a faithful spectator at San Rafael High sports events after his retirement this year.

Rostoni has been with the district since 1942. Now, at 70, he has reached mandatory retirement age. He saw his son, John, graduate from the high school in 1942.

Rostoni lives at 5 Antoinette street, San Rafael.

School To Get Hall Portrait

A framed portrait of the late Henry C. Hall, who was superintendent of the Larkspur School District and principal of the Larkspur-Corte Madera School, will be presented to the school named in his honor at a dedication program tomorrow at 2 p.m.

Dr. Henry C. Hall Jr., professor of education at University of San Francisco, will speak and make the presentation in memory of his father, who died in 1927.

Henry C. Hall School at 200 Doherty drive, Larkspur, is the Larkspur district's third elementary school.

Woman Sentenced In Drunk Driving Case

Barbara Jean Fields, 21, of 629 Mission avenue, San Rafael, may not drive at all during the next three months, and for the subsequent three months she may drive only for emergencies.

Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court imposed the sentence on Mrs. Fields yesterday for driving while intoxicated at Third and Cijos streets in San Rafael last Saturday. She is also on six months probation.

More Studies To Be Made For Aqueduct

State To Proceed With Acquisition Of Rights Of Way

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—The proposed North Bay Aqueduct, which would bring water 60 miles to Marin from the Sacramento River Delta, will be resurveyed, re-evaluated and re-designed during the next eight months.

At the same time, however, the state Department of Water Resources will go ahead with acquisition of rights of way for the project in some areas.

That was the decision of Harvey O. Banks, director of water resources, yesterday after a special hearing on the project.

FACTS SOUGHT

Banks said the study would determine whether the future need for the aqueduct would be greater or less than at present, whether the route is proper under the revised opinion of use, and more exactly just what the water would cost the users.

More than 70 representatives of the four counties involved, Marin, Sonoma, Napa and Solano, appeared at the meeting, which had been called to determine the public interest in the project. After an hour and a half of testimony solidly behind the aqueduct's immediate construction, William L. Berry, chief of planning for the department, remarked, "I think we're getting the kind of story we're looking for."

SOLON SPEAKS

The story was opened by Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy, who authored the bill which in 1955 originally authorized construction of the aqueduct. McCarthy called up on the department to make a re-evaluation of the proposal in light of developments in the last five years. But he also demanded that the department start spending the million dollars the Legislature authorized last year for purchase of the rights of way.

Then in succession, state Sens. Luther Gibson of Solano County, Nathan Coombs of Napa County and Joseph Rattigan of Sonoma County took the floor to back immediate action on the water project.

Senator Rattigan said he "couldn't accept the premise" in the invitation to the meeting that a proposed purchase of 10,000 acre feet of water by the North Marin Water District from Sonoma County would jeopardize the 750,000-acre-foot aduduct project.

PURE WATER

He pointed out the Sonoma water is pure enough for domestic use and would be too expensive for either agricultural or industrial use.

Gibson pointed out the Solano water deficiency already exceeds the amount of water which the aqueduct could bring to that county. And Coombs declared his county "is absolutely dependent" on the aqueduct for its water supply.

Then a series of spokesmen for the county boards of supervisors added their urgings to those of the senators and Assemblyman Samuel Geddes of Napa. Geddes decried the need for a new study. "We've got a whole basement full of studies," he declared. "We need some action."

Supervisors Vera Schultz and William Gnoss spoke for Marin County. Also present was Supervisor James Marshall.

GROWTH CITED

Mrs. Schultz urged the department to get price facts on the water so that water agencies could make up their minds as to feasibility of using it. Gnoss pointed to the "tremendous growth" of the Novato area and need for agricultural water there.

Supervisors from the other counties also backed up their legislators. Sonoma County presented signed pledges for agricultural water for "more than enough acreage to make the whole project feasible." Napa County presented "nearly enough pledges, and these were collected in just half a day."

Jerome P. Gilbert, manager of the North Marin Water District, reviewed his organization's recent decision to purchase water from the Sonoma Flood Control and Water Conservation District. State officials had indicated this decision had affected their thinking about the need for water in the Marin area.

Gilbert said Novato now has a firm supply of only 2,000 acre feet per year and is using 3,000 acre feet. "We are facing water rationing this summer," he declared.

Because "we needed the water two years ago" and "the earliest we figured the aqueduct could bring it to us is four years from now," the decision to buy Sonoma water was made, he declared. In addition, the cost factor entered in, he said. Although the water costs $55 per acre foot at Petaluma and presumably more in Novato, district directors figure the cost over the life of the project would be about $42 per acre foot for water ready to come out of the tap. This compares with $30 per acre foot estimated for untreated water in the aqueduct.

"We think the Sonoma water may be cheaper in the long run," he said.

In any event, Gilbert added, the 10,000 acre feet, which may be adequate for Novato for only 10 years, shouldn't affect the feasibility of the aqueduct.

Only testimony even slightly against moving ahead with the project came from Supervisor Leigh Shoemaker of Petaluma. He said he had failed earlier to find support for the aqueduct, but admitted "things have changed recently." He warned, however, that agriculture can't use the aqueduct water if it is too expensive.

Banks promised that the restudy of the project would get under way promptly and that aquisition of portions of rights of way would begin immediately.

WHERE WATER MAY FLOW—Proposed 60-mile route of the North Bay Aqueduct winds from Lindsey Slough in the Sacramento River Delta past Fairfield and south of Napa to Huichica Reservoir between Napa and Sonoma Counties, then to the Novato reservoir in open ditches and underground pipelines across areas like the lower Petaluma Valley. Yesterday the state Department of Water Resources agreed to start purchase of the rights of way for the project, but at the same time will restudy the whole project for possible alternations. THEY'RE A COUPLE OF MISSILEMA'AMS

When is a missileman not a missileman? When he's a missilewoman. That's what these two WACs at Ft. Barry are, after qualifying on completion of a course at the San Francisco Army Air Defense School. M/Sgt. Helen Hall, a supervisor at the 40th Artillery Brigade information office, and Sfc. Florence Newport, the brigade commander's secretary, look over cutaway model of Nike Ajax with instructor Sgt. Robert J. Keller. "Just call us missilema'ams," say the two WACs, both of whom live at the Lincoln Apartments at 595 Bridgeway, Sausalito. (Army photo)

Brown Signs Bonds Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown signed into law yesterday a measure setting up procedure for the sale and use of 400 million dollars in veterans bonds, provided voters aprove the bond issue at the June 7 primary election.

The bill, by Sen. Nelson S. Dilworth (R-Hemet), provides for continuation of the self-supporting veterans farm and home loan program through 1962 at the same level as at present.

Also signed into law were bills which:

Allow state college vice presidents and deans to acquire tenure only as teachers, not in their administrative posts.

Encourages formation of new junior colleges by legalizing transfer of tuition fund payments and other funds to such new colleges.

Permits the same personnel to inspect grapes for quality and for sugar content.

Price ranges of U.S. automobiles go from $1,700 to nearly $10,000, FOB the factories.

Rhubarb Revue Gives Zesty Entertainment

By BRUCE COLEMAN

"Rhubarb was born here," lively Laurie Tusup, director of the sixth annual Rhubarb Revue at Tamalpais Valley, said. "It will never be quite the same when we get our new building," she added, looking around at the 39-year-old, patched-up hall.

Members of the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club, sponsoring the musical show, do the work first for fun, second for money to build a new clubhouse.

Last weekend they opened the "Show Without Stars" and, true to their fashion, rocked the floor and hillsides of the valley with their zesty songs and good humor. The show goes on again at 8:30 o'clock tonight and tomorrow and on the same days next week.

The group is made up solely of married couples living in the valley, rearing children, mowing lawns and — in the play — poking fun at Supervisor Vera Schultz and the lack of a flood control project to protect their homes.

The time element of the show is from the cave man to the beat man. The players say civilization comes and goes but some things never change. For example, male animal Bill Hoffman is putty in the hands of predatory female Jane Healey. When sad-faced Hoffman grimaces and sings, "I'm Makin' Whoopee," his pathos is Chaplinesque.

A Latin chorus tells a story about an oppossum in Anglified Latin, straight-faced and topped with laurel leaves. Esther Allen proved amazingly good and her fellow Latins, Betts Lowden, Kitty Adams, Joe Allen and Bill Hargraves are not slouches.

Exceptional, too, is the "School for Beatniks" act with three married couples, Walt and Betts Lowden, Bernie and Jane Healey and Morrie and Harrie Batz. They poke fun at the beatniks, who, they claim, want to be different, so they dress, talk and act alike.

The only ex-professional in Rhubarb is Kay Barrett, who used to sing for top hotels. Now she sings for Rhubarb, wonderfully, and for five youngsters at home.

Among others in the big cast are the quartet: Joe Allen, Batz, Dick Baker, Harry Bathgate. They do a straight face act singing "The Falling Leaves" while dressed in ludicrous costumes and holding apple cores and banana peels. They are very good.

Others to be lauded are Laurie Tusup and Shirley Taldo as two old ladies with young visions; Cathy Radke and Dick Miller as chicken and rooster, Jim Gill on guitar and Harrie Batz' marvelous face making as well as Glad Baker's excellent monologue.

Rhubarb's nature is friendly. It would be easy to pick apart lags in the show or spots that don't quite click. But one cannot attack the spirit of a large "neighborhood" working together — builders, actors, waiters, waitresses. Six years ago Rhubarb was goofy, fun-loving, a good show. Today, though more professional, it is the same.

S.R. May Land Semi-Pro Tourney; Marin Fishermen Have Good Deal

San Rafael still has a chance of hosting the California State Semi-Professional Baseball Championships this summer, according to Dick Shirley of the Chamber of Commerce, who is doing his best to land the tournament.

Shirley talked with State Semi-Pro Commissioner S. L. Swegel the other day and was informed San Rafael was still in the running. Santa Clara also was mentioned by Swegel.

When it boils down to, apparently, is money. Swegel mentioned to Shirley that Albert Field's rental fee of $25 per day, plus electricity costs, seemed a bit high for the tourney budget. The commish also noted that Santa Clara set a flat fee of $12.50 per day.

We see no reason why San Rafael can't match Santa Clara's fee. The Parks and Recreation Department, which meets next week, seems quite interested in luring the tourney here and probably will offer our baseball plant at a bargain rate.

Shirley said Swegel told him Albert Field is ideal for the tournament and might be considered as permanent home for the championships.

OUR CHAMBER of Commerce man has studied the situation thoroughly and is gleefully rubbing his hands in anticipation of landing the event which, by the way, is scheduled July 29-Aug. 14. "We figure the touranment will bring more than $100,000 in fresh monies into the community," said the enthused Shirley.

The players, families and friends would total more than 800 visitors to the community, Shirley estimated. Also, the top-notch competition would attract fans from throughout northern California, not to mention those living right here.

Shirley also has been trying to organize a local team for entry, another requirement to stimulate local interest. He's talked with the managers of two local semi-pro clubs—Eddie Vigno of the Tiburon Pelicans and Dom Boccabella of the San Anselmo Ongaro Plumbers—to determine a local entry.

We feel a Marin all-star team could be organized as a capable entry. There's enough talent in the county to field a cracker-jack ball club.

Well, that's the situation as she stands. Keep tuned in, for an announcement on selection of a tournament site should be forthcoming soon.

TROUT FISHERMEN—and there are thousands of the creatures right here in Marin—have a pretty good deal, Game Warden Al Giddings was telling us the other day.

For an outlay of $5 for license and stamps, plus another three scotties for a permit to the Marin Municipal Water District Lakes, a good angler can feed his family several meals each year.

Giddings explained the Department of Fish and Game planted more than 35,000 trout, averaging 8½ inches each, into MMWD lakes for tomorrow's opener. Say an angler gets himself 10 limits during the season, or 100 fish. If you tried to buy that many down at the corner fish market it would cost much more than the $8 the angler has to spend at the start of the season. And, the recreational value of catching your own is priceless.

IT'S NOT uncommon for a Marin man to quit work at 5 p.m., hustle up to a nearby lake and catch his dinner within an hour.

Yes, Marin anglers are lucky.

When Giddings was telling us our generous state had planted more than 35,000 catchable-sized trout in the lakes we figured they would last the whole season. Giddings laughed: "By next Wednesday they'll be gone. For example, two years ago we checked the action at Lagunitas, where 10,000 had been planted. On opening day 7,000 fish were caught. The second day 2,600 more were taken out and on the third day the lake was empty. Man, the boys in this county don't waste any time."

Giddings warned, the early birds will get the fish. After next Wednesday limits will be rare, indeed.

GOLFERS SEEM to be having a ball for themselves at Las Gallinas Golf Course north of San Rafael these days. No less than three (count 'em, 3!) holes in one were fired last weekend.

The aces were Howard McKenstry on the 152-yard first hole, Roger Torres on the 60-yard second hole and Walter Klenz on the 61-yard third hole.

Marin Lakes Loaded For Trout Opener

By JIM GILMARTIN

The "Gone Fishin'" sign will be posted throughout California tomorrow for the opening of the 1960 trout season and Marin County anglers won't have to go far to fill their creels.

Warden Al Giddings of the Department of Fish and Game predicted a banner opener at Marin's favorite fishin' holes—the Marin Municipal Water District lakes.

"Anyone who knows anything about fishing should have no trouble catching a limit," said Giddings today. "And they'll be nice fish—averaging between eight and a quarter to nine inches each."

Giddings cited figures released by the Fish and Game Department," announcing more than 35,000 trout in that size bracket had been planted in four MMWD lakes and another 3,000 in Rodeo Lagoon near Fort Baker.

Special MMWD permits are required for the lakes. They are $3 per season, but there is no charge for youngsters up to and including 16 years of age.

Anglers planning to try Rodeo Lagoon must obtain a permit from the Provost Marshall's office at the Presidio in San Francisco because the Lagoon is on Government property.

Also, of course, each angler must possess a $3 fishing permit plus two stamps priced at $1 each.

Fishing becomes legal at 5:15 a.m. and continues until one hour after sunset each day through the season which continues to Oct. 31. The MMWD lakes are closed on Sundays.

Giddings estimated an army of anglers will jam the banks of the lakes opening day to take advantage of the generous planting program which has dumped 16,400 fish in Bon Tempe, 10,000 in Kent Lake, 8,400 in Lake Lagunitas and 7,380 in Phoenix Lake.

"But," said Giddings, "they won't last long. I think by next Wednesday the lake supply will be very low until the next plant."

Those planning to fish Papermill Creek " . . . will be wasting their time," the game warden said. "The stream is very low and there are very few fish in there. The best bet is the lakes."

Extra wardens will be brought in from San Francisco to assist local wardens Giddings and Russ Ild on opening day, so you'd better not try to exceed the limit of 10 fish.

If you're journeying out of the county for the opener, the prospects are not bright.

Rains this week have clouded the previously excellent prospects for the opener, according to on-the-spot reports from Pacific Gas and Electric Co. stream scouts throughout northern and central California. With much of the snowmelt runoff already past, streams are low and will clear within three or four days after the rain ends, but will be roily for the weekend.

Giants Toss Jones Vs. Podres Tonight

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants, hot in pursuit of the first place Pittsburgh Pirates, tonight attempt to make it two straight over the Los Angeles Dodgers by calling on their pitching star, Sad Sam Jones.

The Dodgers respond with southpaw Johnny Podres, whose only win this season was over the Giants at San Francisco.

The Giants had first baseman Willie McCovey to thank for last night's 7-5 win as the willowy sophomore's three-run homer in the eighth inning proved the margin of victory.

The lengthy contest, lasting three hours and 35 minutes, was a typical Dodger-Giant game in which managers Bill Rigney and Walt Alston made frequent trips onto the field to argue with the umpires and talk with their pitchers.

The game was held up in the second inning when Giant outfielder Orlando Cepeda ran into a thrown ball while going from first to second, was knocked down and had to be carried from the field on a stretcher.

He was taken to the hospital for X-rays, which showed he was not hurt badly despite a lump on his temple. But he was kept in the hospital overnight as a precaution.

McCovey's homer was only his 10th hit of the season, but it was his fifth home run and brought his total runs-driven-in to 17, best in the National League.

Rigney said McCovey has justified his confidence despite a batting average of .222.

"He was missing the ball by about a foot a week ago," Rigney said. "Now he's not missing by much and I have every confidence he will start hitting regularly soon."

Neither Larry Sherry, the loser, nor winner Jack Sanford was around for the finish of the game.

Both went out in the eighth when the Giants broke a 2-2 tie, Sanford scoring the tie-breaking run on Joe Amalfitano's second double off Sherry, who then intentionally walked Willie Mays and was replaced by Ed Roebuck. McCovey's homer was off Roebuck.

That left the Giants holding a 6-2 lead, but the Dodgers scored two runs in the bottom of the eighth on doubles by Gil Hodges and John Roseboro, along with Chuck Essegian's pinch single.

Both clubs picked up a run in the ninth, and Dodger hopes soared when they had two men on base with none out. But Mike McCormick came in as the third pitcher of the inning for the Giants and retired the side.

CEPEDA OKAY, MAY REJOIN TEAM TONIGHT

LOS ANGELES (AP) — San Francisco's outfielder Orlando Cepeda was kept in a hospital overnight after being struck in the head by a thrown ball in the Giants' game with the Dodgers last night.

But X-rays showed no serious injury and there was a good chance Cepeda would be able to play tonight against the Dodgers.

On base with a walk in the second inning, Cepeda headed for second base when Willie Kirkland hit an infield bouncer. Second baseman Charley Neal relayed to shortstop Maury Wills. Wills stepped on second for the force-out and threw hard toward first. The ball smacked Cepeda above the right ear as he was starting to slide, then bounced 25 or 30 feet straight up.

Friend Hurls Pirates To 7th Straight

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pittsburgh Pirates have made it seven, extending the season's longest winning streak behind Bob Friend, the missing winner of last year's failure.

The right-hander who lost his first seven and wound up the biggest loser (8-19) in the National League when the Bucs flopped to fourth last season, pitched his second four-hit shutout and won his third without defeat yesterday as the Pirates beat Philadelphia 3-0.

Friend, 29, struck out seven in the first three innings at Philadelphia. He wound up with 11, just one shy of the Pirate record set by Babe Adams in 1909, for a total of 32 in his 34 innings.

The Bucs got to work on loser John Buzhardt (0-2) with two runs in the second on Dick Stuart's triple, Bob Clemente's single and an infield out. Singles by Don Hoak and Dick Groat and a sacrifice fly by Bob Skinner got the other run home in the fifth.

Bands, Parades Open Little League Season

Parades, band music and the cry of "Play Ball" will signal the opening of two Little Leagues in Marin County tomorrow.

Four hundred boys will participate in the opening ceremonies of the Mill Valley Little League program while the Hamilton-Loma Verde Little League will share opening day honors with a double-header at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Seven years ago the Mill Valley Little League received its charter with just two teams in the league, but now they have 23 major and minor teams in the American and National leagues with a total of 400 boys playing baseball.

Opening ceremonies will begin at 9:30 a.m., tomorrow with a parade through Mill Valley, ending at Boyle Park where the speakers and teams will be introduced. A Marine color guard and the 12th Naval District band will lead the parade, followed by the guests of the day and the 23 teams.

Walter "The Great" Mails, speaker for the San Francisco Giants, will be the guest speaker of the day.

Mayor Robert Huber will throw out the opening ball.

Baseball action on the National League diamond will begin at 1 p.m. when the Yankees tangle with the Lions, while a minor league contest — Anchors against the Bombers — will start at 3 p.m.

On the American League side of the field the Indians will pit themselves against the Tigers at 1 p.m., with the Braves and Eaglets doing battle at 3 p.m.

Opening ceremonies for the Hamilton-Loma Verde Little League baseball season will get under way at 1:30 p.m. when two major league teams, the Orioles and the Dodgers play at the Little League Stadium near Fourth Air Force Headquarters at the air force base.

Maj. Gen. John P. Stevenson, WADF Commander, Maj. Gen. Sory Smith of Fourth Air Force and Col. George F. Ceuleers have been invited to attend the ceremonies. The Hamilton AFB band will play the National Anthem. A refreshment concession will be managed by the Women's Auxiliary of the Little League.

Following the major league game, a minor league game, scheduled for approximately 3:30 p.m. at the same diamond, will be played by the Beavers and the Bears.

Throughout the season, Little League games will be played on week days at 6 p.m. and on Saturdays at 10:30 a.m. and at 1:30 p.m. at both the Hamilton and Loma Verde Little League fields.

Redwood and Sir Francis Drake high schools will continue their driver training courses during the next school year.

The California State Automobile Assn. announced that it again will provide dual controls for cars supplied by DeLong Chevrolet Co., San Rafael.

Each student has six hours of behind-the-wheel instruction in addition to classroom study.

The broad, shallow root systems of the saguaro cactus may absorb a ton of water after rain falls, according to the National Geographic Society. The moisture is stored in the plant's spongelike tissue.

Roughly two-thirds of the world's people live in under-developed sections. And population in these areas have vastly increased in the past century.

The BULLPEN

Randol Second-Guesses Managers In Handling Of Troubled Pitchers

(John Connolly is on vacation. His sports associate, Ed Randol, is conducting The Bullpen during his absence)

CONNOLLY

"My goodness gracious, Mr. Manager, I thought you'd NEVER come out here and take me out of this! I've walked the bases full, my arm is dead, and I'm so tired I couldn't throw another pitch if I had to!"

Now THERE is an unlikely quotation from an embattled pitcher to his questioning manager.

Chances are the conversation went more like this: When the manager said "How do you feel, Lefty?" good old Lefty replied "Never felt better, never had more stuff. That lousy blind man behind the plate just won't give me the corners. Leave me pitch to this bum and I'll mow him down!"

Last night Manager Walt Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers made one too many trips to the mound and left Larry Sherry in for one batter too many. Joey Amalfitano's second two-bagger "done him in." Not that Roebuck did much better when he fed Willie McCovey the clincher ball.

THE DAY before, the New York Yankees blew one to the Washington Senators when Manager Casey Stengel let Whitey Ford pitch to "just one more batter." Big Jim Lemon put his next pitch into orbit and the Yankees were dundee, 5 to 4.

In St. Louis, Sad Sam Jones of the S. F. Giants "had more stuff than I've had all year," but the Cardinals plastered him for six hits and four runs before Manager Bill Rigney called in Georges Maranda to put out the fire. Maranda, Bud Byerly and Billy O'Dell shut out the Cards for the rest of the game, but the Giants fell three runs short of winning.

No one is about to forget the Chicago Cubs batting around after two were out to overtake the Giants last Sunday. In this game, O'Dell had pitched a seven-inning beauty and left the game with a comfortable lead only to have "fresh" pitching fall apart and lose his game for him.

I REMEMBER discussing this facet of baseball with Sam Gibson, who once threw a piece for the long gone but not forgotten San Francisco Seals. "You just can't figure it out," said Sam. "You're throwing your best shots and all of a sudden the balls start whistling past your ears so fast they play a tune. I'll never admit it, but right then I'm looking for the Old Pard (Ballou) out in the bullpen."

Memories of Gibson also recall the sad Sunday afternoon in Sacramento when Oakland pitcher Jack Salveson was left in a game for "punishment." When the blood was mopped up the Solons had more than 20 runs. This is an answer in advance to the fans who will point out that a pitcher often stumbles and then hits his stride again.

It seems to this corner that a manager makes a bad mistake when he personally discusses a rough situation with his man in trouble. Human nature being what it is it is too easy to be swayed by emotion and give the pitcher another chance when the experience of decades of baseball says "get the bum out of there—FAST."

A SMART manager will stay on the bench and send a lieutenant to the mound to do the hatchet work. No discussion. The man has his orders, and the bum is out of there and another meatball is fed into the grinder.

Many a skipper will argue that his starter on the mound is better than anything he may have in the bullpen. A good point, but it overlooks the psychological factors against the defense and in favor of the offense.

Gifted with one of the best and deepest pitching staffs in the major leagues it would seem that Rigney would take a lesson from the TV Westerns and be a little quicker on the draw than the other feller. And promote Coach Salty Parker to "hatchet man" so Bill's sympathies won't get mixed up in the act.

Second guessing? You bet! A columnist's privilege. I can even do some pretty fair third guessing if pressed. We'll turn that over to John Connolly when he returns next week. It has been fun visiting with you; thanks for inviting me in!

Strub Gains Control Of Santa Anita

ARCADIA (AP) — Robert P. Strub, son of Santa Anita racetrack's founder, has won his fight for control of the track. In the process he put himself in line for the job of executive vice president and general manager.

Strub, 41, won a battle of proxies yesterday at a special meeting of the board of directors. Eliminated from the board by a vote of 55,335 to 15, 603 were those who opposed Strub:

The management group reelected Carleton P. Burke as director of racing.

NEW DIRECTORS

The Strub faction named these directors: Strub; Felix S. McGinnis Jr., cement company executive; H. W. Dougherty, petroleum engineer; John T. Hastings, attorney; Francis E. Kelly Jr., husband of the former Elizabeth Strub; Arthur L. Crowe Jr., husband of the former Mary Louise Strub; Peter Mole, Hollywood manufacturer; Mrs. Thomas Peppers, thoroughbred breeder; William H. Latimer, rancher; George Harnagel, attorney and Edward T. Foley, retired contractor.

About 95 per cent of the 74,987 shares were voted and more than 200 of the 700 stockholders attended the meeting.

Strub pledged in a statement that the new control groups will conduct racing on "the highest plane possible" and will confine future major investments to situations directly connected with racing.

Strub started his fight to assume control of the management after the directors ousted him as vice president. His father was the late Dr. Charles H. Strub.

Novato Fire Board Chooses Officers

Peter J. Ferrarese was elected president of the Novato Fire District board and Louis Saffores was named secretary in a reorganization of the board Wednesday night.

The commissioners signed a $17,893 contract with the Coast Apparatus Co. of Martinez for a new pumper-tanker truck. Delivery of the truck is expected around Aug. 1.

The board authorized Capt. James Kidder to attend a fire training workshop for officers in Fresno, May 16-20.

'Blackout' Costs Ragan Lead In Houston Golf Classic

HOUSTON, Texas (AP) — Arnold Palmer and Bill Collins led the $35,000 Houston Classic golf tournament into the second round today but a boner by young Dave Ragan had the gallery talking.

Ragan calls the boner a "blackout or something," but whatever it was it cost him two strokes.

As a result, Palmer, the big money winner of the year, and Collins, 1959 New Orleans Open winner, held 66s that put them one stroke ahead of Ragan and Billy Maxwell.

Fourteen other players were within three strokes of the leaders. The par 72 at the 7,122 yard Memorial Park course had a rough first round. A record 15,000 first day gallery swarmed onto the course as 33 out of a field of 139 broke par and 15 others were even.

The field was to be cut to the low 80, plus ties, after today's 18 holes.

Collins, playing in the same threesome with Ragan, went out in 31 and came in in 35.

Ragan, a 24-year-old from Orlando, Fla., had a 36-31—67, but his putting on the first green made him the most talked-about player of the day.

His putter touched the ball only twice, but he recorded four putts that gave him a 7 on the 558-yard par 5 hole.

"I pitched 10 feet short of the hole," Ragan said. "It looked like a fine, good putt. But the ball stopped about a foot short. I set the putter down, and when I took it back something happened. I sort of stabbed at it, not once but twice. It was a blackout or something. I knew what I was doing but I couldn't stop."

Arguments developed all over the course on whether a stroke should be counted if you address the ball, but stop your swing without hitting the ball.

"I feel it is a stroke once you've addressed the ball and taken a swing," said Ragan.

Two "name" players rejoining the golf tour were seven strokes off the pace with 73s. They were Peter Thomson, the Australian who has won the British Open four times, and Art Wall Jr., the 1959 Masters winner.

Jack Burke Jr., the defending champion, has a 71. Julius Boros, led an eight-way tie at 69. Jack Fleck, former National Open champion, headed a six-way tie at 68.

Tiger Jones To Make 43rd Video Appearance Tonight

For Jones who calls himself "The Old Warhorse," it will mark his 43rd appearance of national televsion (NBC, 7 p.m., PDT).

In 10 years of professional boxing Jones has amassed a record of 49 victories, 28 defeats and four draws.

Odds favoring Jones have been quoted from 7-to-5 up to as high as 12-5.

"This is the biggest chance of my career and my first TV shot," underdog Denucci said after winding up his training with three rounds of sparring. "It also will be my biggest paynight. I'll get the $4,000 for television plus a percentage of the gate. If I get by Jones — and I'm sure I will — I can shoot for big money bouts."

AMERICAN LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Tigers Lose Power Punch; White Sox Shade Cleveland

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Tigers are terrors no more.

After hammering 11 homers and scoring 34 runs while winning their first five games, Detroit's Tigers now have managed to score just once in each of their last three. And they've lost them all.

The Kansas City A's, working behind the four-hit pitching of Dick Hall, made it two straight over the Tigers with a 2-1 victory last night that slipped Detroit into a tie with idle New York for the American League lead.

Chicago's defending champion White Sox beat Cleveland 3-1 on Al Smith's three singles and Billy Pierce's five-hitter. The Baltimore Orioles won their fourth in a row, defeating Boston 6-1 and joining the White Sox and Washington in a tie for fourth place at .500.

The third place A's, just one-half game behind, beat Southpaw Don Mossi (0-1) with five hits. They scored one in the first on two-out singles by Hank Bauer, Norm Siebern and Bob Cerv, and added the clincher in the sixth on a double by Bill Tuttle and a single by Jerry Lumpe.

Hall, 29, who had only a 6-13 record to show for four years with Pittsburgh, extended the Tigers' scoreless slump to 13 innings before Lou Berberet homered in the eighth. It was Hall's first A.L. decision. He struck out five, walked just one.

Rookie Steve Barber won his first for the Orioles. He walked four and gave up six hits, but struck out six and shut out the Red Sox over the last six frames. The Orioles ripped loser Bill Monbouquette (1-2) for four runs in the first.

Marin Firm's Bid Low On S. F. Job

Watkins and Sibbald, San Anselmo landscapists, will get the job of reconstructing the San Francisco Civic Center plaza.

The San Anselmo firm was low bidder on the job Wednesday. However, its bid of $549,187 was $37,000 more than the City of San Francisco had earmarked for the project.

City architect Charles Griffith said he would accept an alternate bid by Watkins and Sibbald at $84,200 less than the full bid, which will eliminate some granite walls and borders envisioned in the original plan.

Colombo, Russell Tie In Hub Handicap Golf Championship

Al Colombo, a San Anselmo fireman, and Charles W. Russell of Novato tied for the championship in the San Anselmo Businessmen's Golf Tournament at the Meadow Club in Fairfax this week.

Colombo carded an 80-gross and benefitted by 10 handicap strokes for a net 70 in the championship flight. Russell came in with 81-11—70.

One hundred and fifty players competed in the five flights, according to Tournament Director John Bell.

Best round of the day was a sparkling 74 gross by Tom Dixon of United Markets. But his one handicap stroke gave him no better than a tie with Dave Herbert of Mill Valley for third place in the championship division.

A couple of San Rafael high handicappers dominated the Red Hill Flight. Ed Gordon won it with 88-36—52 and Bob Perazzo came in second with 85-31—54.

A three-way tie developed in the Mayor's Flight between A. E. Almcrants, city manager of Mill Valley, Howard DuPree, the San Anselmo jeweler, and Ted Gordon of San Rafael. Each came in with a 60 net.

Jim Fahrner stroked a fine 77 gross and 70 net to tie Al Hinrich of Novato in the Guest Flight. Hinrich grossed a 119, but cashed in on 49 handicap strokes.

And, of yes, the booby prize went to Joe Depatta of San Anselmo. He toured the par 71 layout in 138 (one hundred and thirty eight!) strokes. His threesome teed off at 9:30 a.m. and wasn't heard from again until 4:30 p.m. The starter was organizing a search party when the Depatta group came over the horizon.

The results:

Net Program In Sausalito

Sausalito's summer tennis instructional program, beefed up by the addition of a third instructor, will open June 11 on the Richardson Bay School courts, it was revealed yesterday.

John Minton, director and chief instructor of the three-year-old program, disclosed that Mary Jane Wellington will join him and Anne Hicks as class teachers. Both Mrs. Hicks and Mrs. Wellington are accomplished players. Minton is an ex-Indiana University performer.

Sausalito youngsters between the ages of 9 and 18 are eligible for the program, inaugurated under city sponsorship in the summer of 1958. Some 50 children each year have signed up.

Great emphasis will be placed this year on supervised practice. Every effort will be made to provide individual attention to special problems, Minton said.

The program will open with registration and screening June 11, followed by eight weeks of instruction and supervised play. Concluding the summer's schedule will be the third annual City Junior Tourament on three successive Saturdays —Aug. 13, 20 and 27.

Shelby Headlines Race At Vaca Valley This Weekend

The internationally famous racing star from the Lone Star State, Carroll Shelby of Dallas, will headline the California Sports Car Club's Vaca Valley road races this weekend near Sacramento. Shelby, who won last year's version of the famed 24-hour race at Lemans, France, and more recently won the $20,000 pro race in Southern California, will be driving Johnny von Neuman's German Porsche RSK.

Assuring that Shelby has plenty of competition in the 20-lap main event for small-bore cars will be Ken Miles of Hollywood in the same car in which he came second to the Texas driver at the $20,000 race own south. Generally regarded as the greatest small car driver in this country, Miles rates at least a co-favorite's role with the international star.

Dark horse for the event will be Sacramento's Sammy Weiss, the peppery imported car dealer who last weekend turned the tables on the big cars and won the main event at Cotati in his newly purchased Cooper Monaco.

Favorite in the big car main event is Bob Drake of Hollywood, the former deep sea diver from South San Francisco, who will be driving Joe Lubin's fantastic new "Birdcage" Maserati. This will be the first time that one of these fabulous Italian machines has appeared in Northern California.

The Vaca Valley course is located between San Francisco and Sacramento on U. S. Highway 40, about six miles north of Vacaville. The admission will be $2.00 Saturday, $2.50 Sunday, and children under 12 will be admitted free. The racing starts at noon each day.

N. KOREAN TROOPS REPORTED ACTIVE

Southern Forces On Alert; New Cabinet Reshuffles Police, Fires 9 Governors

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI)—The chief of staff of the Republic of Korea's army said today "unusual" activity among Communist troops north of the 38th parallel accompaniied recent disorders here.

Lt. Gen Song Yo Chan also said that the Reds had seized on South Korea's political crisis as an occasion for increased espionage and subversive activities.

Song emphasized, however, that U. S. and South Korean troops in the front line are in peak combat readiness.

Asst. Secretary of State J. Graham Parsons said in Washington yesterday that the forces holding the truce line are on a "super alert."

Acting President Huh Chung and his caretaker cabinet met today to discuss means of straightening out the tangled situation in South Korea, and decided immediately to fire all of the nation's nine provincial governors.

POLICE RESHUFFLE

Alleged brutality by South Korea's nationally appointed police, more than any other single factor, touched off the bloody rioting that overthrew 85-year-old President Syngman Rhee.

Rhee, who handed in his resignation earlier this week and moved out of the presidential mansion yesterday, spent today in solitude at his home in northeastern Seoul. He was said to be in mourning for his adopted son, Lee Kang Suk, son of Vice President-elect Lee Ki-Poong, who killed himself and his family yesterday in a mass sucide pact.

SESSION ADJOURNS

The National Assembly session which had been expected to ratify Rhee's resignation adjourned today after only 10 minutes, partly as a gesture of mourning for the elder Lee and partly to allow additional time to organize the election of new Assembly officials.

The Assembly adopted a statement of appreciation to student demonstrators for their "great sacrifices on behalf of Korean democracy."

The legislature is expected to meet Monday to act on Rhee's resignation and complete its own reorganization.

RACIAL CLASH

Car Mishap Sets Off Near-Riot

More than 20 carloads of police armed with riot guns and tear gas rushed to the scene, where white and Negro neighborhoods meet, to disperse a crowd of 200 persons.

Police said the 200-pound Negro, Morgan Junior King, 25, slapped the face of Theresa Mahoney, 19, fought with her escort and then tried to flee when two unidentified white men leaped from another car and fired two shots at him. The white men sped off. Others in the crowd grabbed King.

SODOM AND GOMORRAH

Explorer Believes He's Found Biblical Cities

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—A Baptist missionary-explorer believes he and three other American divers have found the wicked Biblical cities of Sodom and Gomorrah on the bottom of the Dead Sea.

Dr. Ralph E. Baney of Kansas City, Mo., in an interview last night told of finding extensive underwater remnants of a civilization that flourished 4,000 years and then was inundated, apparently after an earthquake.

He said he and his divers found a levee 15 feet wide and eight feet high under the waters of the inland sea between Jordan and Israel. The levee ran from a southwestern point of the Lisan Peninsula due west for two miles.

The levee, he continued, in Biblical times kept the salty waters of the sea from flowing into the fertile plains to the south. He believes an earthquake collapsed the levee, and the sea ungulfed the plains behind it.

"We have located two cities under the Dead Sea water which are believed to be the two lost cities of Sodom and Gomorrah," Baney said. "One of these cities we have located in the Lisan Peninsula Bay. The other is due west of the northern point of the Lisan Peninsula."

The Bible says the Lord rained down fire and brimstone to destroy Sodom, Gomorrah, and the neighboring cities of Adama, Seboin and Bala

Disarmament Conclave Recesses In Deadlock

GENEVA (UPI)—The 10-nation disarmament conference recessed today unable to agree even on an interim communique. Western delegates expressed hope that next month's Big Four summit meeting will break the deadlock.

The conferees sat for three hours. More than half the time was spent in wrangling about a communique. East and West, conference sources reported, were unable to resolve any one of the differences on communique wording, so the issue finally was allowed to lapse.

After listening to a round of speeches by the five Eastern delegates including a 40-minute wind-up by Russia's Valerian A. Zorin, Jules Moch of France closed the meeting with the remark:

"I hope that the Big Four will trace for us a new, daring and realistic route to peace."

Chief American delegate Frederick M. Eaton told reporters the Soviets have not moved an inch from the position they held when they came here seven weeks ago.

In a statement issued to newsmen during the meeting, Eaton challenged the Soviets to throw away their arms and engage in an economic competition with the West.

Eaton said if the Communists are serious about safeguarded disarmament "They will find us no less eager to throw away our arms—to meet them in competition for the improvement of standards of living everywhere, within and outside the Soviet Union, those cultural and spiritual advantages which are the great heritage of the free world."

IF YOU LIKE living on the water you will enjoy seeing the Richard Pollard home on the Belvedere Lagoon, currently occupied by the Robert Groses. It will be one of six homes to be featured at the St. Stephen's Guild House Tour on May 12. Shown enjoying the sun and the view is Guild member, Mrs. Leon Julian.

MRS. ROBERT GROS, whose home is filled with cherished mementoes is shown relaxing with her pet poodle, a rest she needs before tourgoers descend upon her, May 12, for the 10th annual house tour which has as its theme this year "Sophisticated Suburbia." Hours for the St. Stephen's Tour are 1 to 5 p. m.

MRS. H. NORDMARK WILLIAMS relaxes in her mother's home, Mrs. James Lewis on Northpoint Circle, Belvedere — one of the homes on the six house Guild tour. The interior decoration was done by Mrs. Lewis who has used many beautiful antiques.

St. Stephen's Tour To Conclude May 12 With Tea At Yacht Club

On Thursday, May 12, St. Stephen's Guild of Belvedere will present "Sophisticated Suburbia," a showing of six view homes, followed by tea at the newly remodeled San Francisco Yacht Club.

First on the tour is the lagoon home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Davies. It is of contemporary design by architects Campbell and Wong, who obtained unusual continuity between outdoors and indoors.

Campbell and Wong have won over 30 awards from architectural competitions and are particularly proud of this home with a courtyard as its focal point.

All of the bedrooms and living room open to this outside living area which gives the owners weather protection, privacy and warmth by the use of a radiantly heated floor.

Interior decoration for the Robert A. Davies home was done by the Charles Ackerman Company who carried out the contempororay feeling by using modern and oriental furnishings.

The second house on the tour will be the home of the Richard O. Pollards. This lagoon home was built on three levels for both practicality and pleasure and has been featured in Life magazine.

While the owners are in England, the house is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gros. Mrs. Gros has used a dash of antique to contrast with modern furnishings. Her 17th Century china is an example of the many outstanding collector's items from Europe and India.

Architect for the house was Theodore Bernardi, of Wurster, Bernardi and Emmons.

Third house on the tour is the home of Mrs. James Lewis, whose architect son-in-law, William V. H. Brooke, designed it for her It is small and jewel-like, especially designed for the woman living alone who does not wish much upkeep but who still prefers house to apartment living.

REDWOOD WALLS

Interesting indeed are the tile living room floors which accent the paneled redwood walls. Soft lighting filters through ceiling panels. Glass walls open from the gallery to the patio.

Interior decoration was done by Mrs. Lewis who has many beautiful antiques, an outstanding collection of snuff boxes, a Georgian wine chest adorning the gallery and sleigh beds in the bedroom. Soft greyed walls and floors focus attention on her treasured antiques.

Fourth house on the tour, designed by Leonard Cahn, is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester C. Vargas Jr. It is cantilevered over the steep lot with a beautiful view of San Francisco Bay.

The interior is particularly interesting as textured compressed wood has been used for walls and ceilings as well as the background for paintings.

Shoji screens are used for room dividers; polished concrete floors and a Florentine glass fireplace give a Pacific feeling to the main living area. Of interest to collectors will be the Tang Dynasty horses mounted on the fireplace. Contemporary expressionist paintings add verve and color to the room.

ITALIAN GLASS

In the bathrooms the use of Italian glass mosaics by Alfonso Pardini continues the Pacific theme expressed throughout the house and garden.

The garden was designed by the owner. Enchanting tropical planting around a heated pool features such plants as hibiscus, bougainvillea, gardenias and cymbidiums.

Designed by the architectural firm of Appleton and Wolfard, fifth house on the tour is the contemporary hillside home of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Horowitz. They have accomplished a spacious feeling through generous use of glass, enabling the Horowitzes to have a spectacular view of the Belvedere lagoon.

The wooded site gives an opportunity for an unconventional master bath which looks through plate glass to adjoining tree tops.

TWO WATERFALLS

The emphasis in garden landscaping is on natural hillside planting and development of two waterfalls by Mr. W. T. Tobler of the Mest Marin Nursery.

The lower floor of the Horowitz house is designed for children and contains two bedrooms, a play room, outside terrace and large storage area.

Hardman and Kopp of San Francisco, responsible for the interior decoration, have maintained a casual effect, despite a sophisticated flair.

Interior walls of white are sparked by dark mahogany paneling, modern and antique furnishings and Far East treasures.

The sixth house on the tour is the home of Mr. and Mrs. MacBoyle Lewis on a flat plateau on the tip-top of Belvedere Island.

It was designed by Joseph Esherick and features high beamed ceilings, oak planked floors and redwood paneling, with lavish decks surrounding the house, which has a view in every direction.

CANTON CHINA

Interior decor was carried out by the owner who has beautiful antiques handed down to her from her own family. A fine collection of Spanish engravings, antique Canton china and other collector's items make the home particularly pleasing.

The garden is done in native California plants; olive trees surround the property. This garden has much character and individuality.

The St. Stephen's 10th Annual House Tour is from 1 to 5 p.m., conducted by shuttle buses around the Island starting at the San Francisco Yacht Club and ending there with tea from 3 to 5. Focus Luncheon To Climax Successful Year For Guild

When Rickey's Fashion Focus spotlights St. Raphael's Mothers' Guild at its luncheon-fashion show May 3, it will mark the final event of a highly successful year for that group.

Members and their guests will gather to share a pleasant afternoon relaxing from the activities which have kept them well occupied this school session.

Meanwhile, the fashion display, "Memo To A Modern Mother," will be keynoted to draw their thoughts to vacation time. Apparel from a local dress shop has been selected to reflect the latest fashion hints for every summer occasion from casual barbecue cottons to resort and cocktail wear.

Mrs. Charles Hasler has been selected general chairman of this last event of the season. She will be assisted by Mrs. Andrew Carrino, grab-bag chairman, and Mrs. Frank Soares Jr., models chairman.

Models chosen from the Guild ranks will include Mrs. David Vattuone, Mrs. Mary Vincilione, Mrs. George Curry, Mrs. Earl Cummesky, Mrs. Lawrence Lucchetti, Mrs. James B. Sanford, Mrs. Albert Bonfiglio, and Mrs. Duane Snider.

Around-the-luncheon-table discussions at this final affair will undoubtedly include reminiscence of highlights, alarms, mishaps and satisfactory successes of each of the Guild's activities this season. The Fall Fashion Carnival opened the year's agenda in September, and was followed by "Buffet in Hawaii," the Christmas Bazaar, and February's "Pranzo Paisano," the Italian dinner-dance.

Reservations are open to the public and can be made by contacting Rickey's. The luncheon hour has been set for 12:30 o'clock.

'Girls Of The Year' Revealed At Sorority's Founders' Day

Seventy-eight member of the six Marin chapters of Beta Sigma Phi, international sorority having 150,000 members and 6,000 chapters, celebrated its 29th Founders' Day at a banquet Tuesday night at Sabella's Restaurant.

Miniature replicas of the famous flower carts of Paris carried out the "April in Paris" theme in table decor, and the same motif appeard on program covers.

Highlight of the evening's ceremonies, for which inter-city council president Mrs. Jack Lentz, a member of Omicron Alpha, acted as mistress of ceremonies, was the presentation of "Girl of the Year" awards.

Names of the six recipients, one from each chapter chosen on secret ballot by her chapter members for outstanding service, were not known until each stepped forward to receive her award.

The award was either a gold loving cup or gold statuette of a girl holding the Beta Sigma Phi torch of life, learning and friendship, which the winner may keep as a permanent memento.

Names of the award winners announced by Mrs. Robert Steele of Xi Alpha Xi were Mesdames Charles Barr, Gamma Omicron; Doyle Lockabey, Mu Tau; Marlen Michel, Omicron Alpha; Gavin Pelling, Upsilon Gamma; Gordon Rodgers, Xi Alpha Xi; and Roy Sabraw, Phi Gamma Nu.

Adding a bit of fun to the colemn ceremony was Omicron Alpha's surprise method of presenting the award when Mrs. Norman Arends, dressed as a caricature of a famous movie actress, stpped forward to make a speech and call for an envelope containing the name of Mrs. Michel.

Guests of honor at he presidents' table were Omicron Alpha's social sponsor, Mrs. Robert Moore of Mill Valley, who spoke briefly about looking forward to continuing her duties with the chapter, and Mrs. Wayne Speckmann, who acknowledged the thanks expressed by Mrs. Lentz for the "fine publicity Beta Sigma Phi has received throughout the year from the Independent-Journal. Mrs. Charles Ried of Mill Valley was publicity chairman.

Concluding the program was the ritual of jewels conducted by Mrs. Lentz in which 11 members received their pins. They were Mesdames Alfred Rossi, Norman Arends, A. E. Almcrants, Jack Megarity, Robert Wilson, Norman Peterson, Dan O'Looney, George Henderson, David Catton, George McDaniels and Ardith Maddox.

Unable to be present were Mesdames Leon Sicard, Tally Merritt and Hubert Arthur, who will receive their pins in a later ceremony.

TRADITIONAL, FORMAL SEIKA Japanese flower arrangement is prepared by Reba Jones of Belvedere for her one-man exhibition of more than 30 Japanese arrangements to be held at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross May 6, 7, 8, under the auspices of the Decorations Guild. Using local, seasonal flowers and greens, Mrs. Jones in photo above arranges cypress, iris, roses and iris leaves in an old bamboo flower holder. (Ken Molino photo)

Simonson-Thompson Nuptials In Concord

Paul, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Simonson of Mill Valley, claimed as his bride the former Marilyn Thompson in a 2 o'clock, double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Herman Seyer on Sunday, April 10.

Marilyn, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duward R. Thompson of Concord, wore a ballerina length gown of white Chantilly lace fashioned with scalloped neckline and long sleeves. A lace coronet studded with pearl and rhinestones held her fingertip veil, and she wore her bridegroom's gift of a cultured pearl necklace and earrings. Her flowers were a bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid.

The dress of the matron of honor, Mrs. Linda Macomber of Richmond, was of light blue silk organza, and the dresses of the bridesmaids, Judy Clark and Mary Jo Mitchell, both of Concord, were of pink silk organza. All were styled with full skirts and bodices having white lace insets in front. Their headdresses were flat braids of nylon matching their dresses with veils. Their flowers were old fashioned bouquets of pink roses.

Serving his brother-in-law as best man was Ronald Cutler of Cotati, and ushers were the bridegroom's brother, David Simonson of Mill Valley, and his cousin, Lynn Terry of Sacramento.

Mark Hudleston of Concord was ring bearer, and the bride's cousin, Sherol Barnhard of Lodi, was candle lighter.

The bride's mother wore a toast colored silk sheath with fitted bolero, bone colored hat and accessories and a white orchid. Mrs. Simonson was attired in a light blue silk brocade dress with bolero, a black hat and her accessories were black. Her corsage was also a white orchid.

When the couple left for a brief honeymoon in Los Angeles the new Mrs. Simonson was wearing a mint green box suit with white accessories.

She was graduated from Mt. Diablo High School and attended Healds' Business College in Oakland. Paul was graduated from Tamalpais High School and is employed by the H. C. Little Burner Company in San Rafael.

Alpha Xi Delta Announces New Alumnae Group

A new Alpha Xi Delta Alum, nae, the Bay Area Junior Alumnae, was announced at the Founders' Day ceremony and luncheon yesterday by the dark blue, light blue, and gold ribbons worn by its members.

This repeated a similar occasion when in 1893 the 10 founders, wearing the colors and the honored pink roses of Alpha Xi Delta (because their pins had been completed as originally planned), arrived late to chapel announcing the formation of Alpha Xi Delta at Lombard College, Illinois. Introduction of the new group was made by the mistress of ceremonies. Previously working in secrecy, the Bay Area Junior Alumnae announced their intention of concentrating their efforts toward a worth while philanthropy in the Bay Area. The proposed activity which will bring this intention to a realty will include not only the new alumnae group, but the college chapter at the University of California, the Oakland-Berkeley, Diablo Valley, San Francisco and Marin, and Palo Alto Alumnae of Alpha Xi Delta. The local member is Mrs. George Martinez.

At the home of Dr. and Mrs. Jay C. Stovall will be Mr. and Mrs. Byron Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bodington, Irvin Wright, Wanda Case, and Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Scudero.

The dinner dance is semi-formal, and a gala evening at the Meadow Club is looked forward to by all Marin Branch, AAUW members.

Reba Jones To Give Floral Exhibition

An exhibition of Japanese flower arrangements and decorations will be presented by Reba Jones of Belvedere at the Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross, on May 6 from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. and on May 7 and 8 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The one-man show by Mrs. Jones, sponsored by the Decorations Guild of the Center, will be held in the Caroline S. Livermore room, Northgate Group building.

Mrs. Jones is a graduate instructor of the Kofu School of Flower Arranging, Yokohama, Japan.

More than 30 arrangements, including traditional Seika, modernistic Seika, Moribana and Nagerie styles will be displayed. Among unusual classical and modern containers used will be an urn from an ancient Chinese tomb.

Mrs. Jones and her husband, Lt. Colonel Winston A. Jones, U.S.A. Ret., have recently returned from three years in the Orient to their Belvedere home.

Mrs. Jones is a charter member of Ikebana International, an organization founded in Tokyo in 1956 for the purpose of cultivating and perpetuating the study of Japanese flower arrangement throughout the world.

Mrs. Robert L. Tuckey will be program chairman of the event. She will be assisted by Mrs. Peter Schubert, hostesses; Mrs. R. P. Forster, tickets; Mrs. Arthur W. Feidler, refreshments.

No reservations will be necessary. A small donation will be asked at the door. Funds derived from the event will go towards the maintenance of the Marin Art and Garden Center, a non-profit cultural organization.

Presbyterian Dinner, Show Tomorrow

"Then and Now" is the title of the fashion show and dinner being given by the Women's Association at the Santa Venetia Presbyterian Church at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Stern are in charge of the home cooked turkey and trimmings which will be served by the girls of the junior and senior high departments.

Dinner will be followed by a "Then and Now" program, under the direction of Mrs. Charles Dubs, featuring a teenage dance number of the 1920 era, a ballad singer and other reminders of days long gone.

Fashions will be by a San Rafael shop, with Mrs. Robert Davenport as commentator. The models, women and teen-agers of the church, will enter through a garden, having on one side a jewelry festooned white tree in a modern setting and on the other, furnishings of the "rocking chair" era.

Mrs. James Pack and Mrs. S. P. Lerch are co-chairmen of the affair; Mrs. Herbert Gulbransen, stage design and Mrs. Robert Owens, publicity.

Hospital Visitor

A recent visitor at Marin General Hospital was Miss Calwen Winter of Melbourne, Australia. She visited to learn about Volunteer Pink Ladies and their service at Marin General Hospital because she had met Mrs. Frank Moore, director of volunteers, at the Basic Institute for Volunteers in Chicago.

Miss Winter will take a first-hand report back to Australia of how the Marin General Volunteer program is carried out.

League Board Hears Reports

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of Marin General Hospital Service League, a report from Mrs. John Dewey, chairman of tours in the hospital, stated that tours are already scheduled each Tuesday and Thursday through June 7. These tours are much in demand by Scouts, Camp Fire, and other school groups to acquaint the children with their community hospital.

According to Mrs. Judson Goodrich, television rentals were much in demand during the month of March and proceeds were donated to Marin General.

April 15 is a day that Volkswagen truck owners greet with less trepidation—and an appreciably greater net after taxes.

A Volkswagen truck usually costs less to begin with; always saves money every mile you drive. An honest 25 miles per gallon is average, or just about twice what you get in standard half-ton trucks. VW delivers 83% more cargo for its size, too: 1830 lbs. instead of the usual 1000.

Other gains are in proportion. VW's air-cooled engine rarely needs oil between changes. Because Volkswagen trucks weigh half as much, there's half the usual tire wear. You also save on service and depreciation. Result: the average operating cost for a Volkswagen truck is 7¢ per mile, against 14¢ for most half-tons.

Next fiscal year why not plan this 50% refund on your transportation dollar? Your VW dealer will show you how. There are 5 different commercial models adaptable to every business—white-collar or wilderness—that needs wheels.

Today is Friday, April 29, the 120th day of the year, with 246 more in 1960.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1769, the Duke of Wellington was born.

In 1894, Jacob Coxey and his so-called "army" of several hundred unemployed men arrived in the nation's capital to petition Congress for relief legislation.

In 1918, Capt. Edward Rickenbacker achieved his first victory over an enemy aircraft, shooting down a German airplane in World War I.

In 1945, American soldiers liberated the 32,000 Nazi victims at Dauchau, German concentration camp.

A thought for today: Scientist Charles Darwin in "The Origin of Species" said: "The higest possible stage in moral culture is when we recognize that we ought to control our thoughts."

Corte Madera Shop Center Gets Approval

The Corte Madera Planning Commission has approved the tentative map of the Russell-Jones neighborhood shopping center on Paradise drive opposite Marina Village, chairman John Adlard reported.

Two service stations in the approximately eight-acre commercial subdivision are already under construction. Plans also call for an Embee market, a drug store, three other large buildings and one small one to house a variety of shops.

The approval was subject to a number of conditions.

The center will be fronted by the town's new construction to improve Paradise drive.

Two Marinites To Retire From Army

Two Marinites were to be honored today at a retreat parade and retirement ceremony honoring 13 retiring Army officers and two master sergeants on the main parade ground of the Presidio of San Francisco.

They are Lt. Col. Winston A. Jones, deputy comptroller and program coordinator of Army headquarters in Japan, and Maj. James L. Fitzgerald of the 15th Army Corps.

Jones, an escapee of the infamous Bataan death march during World War II, has been on active duty since 1940. He helped organize the Luzon guerrilla force and served as commander of a segment of the force until 1945. One of his captains was Ramon Magsaysay, later president of the Philippines. Jones and his wife, Reba, will make their home at 20 Apollo road, Tiburon.

Students' Art Work Entered In Contest

They will constitute the first exhibit, according to curator Nevin Kempthorne, under the new policy of making the gallery available for courtesy shows of any art that shows idealism.

The students' pictures will remain at the gallery until the end of the week when they will be taken to San Francisco to be judged by an American Art Assn. committee, together with 150 other pictures coming from the Red Cross Pacific area.

Winning pictures in the contest will be sent to Washington, D. C., where they will be combined with blue ribbon winners from 77 other countries into exhibits that will travel all over the world. One of these traveling exhibits from a previous year will also be on view with the Marin entries in this year's contest.

Drunken Driver Draws $150 Fine, Probation

Don Oliver Dilbeck, 43, construction worker from Cotati, must pay a $150 fine and remain on six months probation for his first drunken driving offense.

Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court sentenced Dilbeck for driving while intoxicated along Highway 101 on March 13.

Welcome, Reserve Officers, To Your 32nd Convention

Welcome, Reserve Officers, to San Rafael and Marin County.

We hope you enjoy your stay here. We hope your accommodations here are to your liking.

We think our Marin County is among the finest places to be in all the world, whether you be visitors like yourselves or premanent residents like those of us who call Marin "home."

We are proud of our county. We have much of scenic and historic interest to show to visitors. We hope your convention schedule will permit you to tour around our county and see the beautiful sights. We are sure you will enjoy them as so many people before you have.

The Chairman of our Board of Supervisors, Walter Castro, and our San Rafael mayor, John McInnis, are scheduled to address you with words of official welcome. We want you to know that beyond that formality most of us are genuinely glad to have you as our guests and we are anxious to have you think highly of our area after you leave.

We are attempting to nurture our fledgling visitor "industry" here; we hope to attract more tourists and conventions.

We know there is room for improvements in the field of visitor accommodations here. Several good motels have been built here in the past few years. We need more. Especially do we need larger ones.

While our area is rich in scenery and historic interest, we have not yet done all we should by way of erecting informative markers and directional signs leading to these attractions.

But these deficiencies in tourist and convention facilities and in designating points of interest are receiving the attention of our Marin Visitors Bureau we are hopeful that remedies will be forthcoming in the not-to--distant future. Please bear with us on these points.

We would be most grateful to you for your comments—favorable and or unfavorable—on your visit here.

We wish you success on the occasion of your 32nd annual Department of California convention. We hope you and your ladies will honor us again with another convention visit.

And we hope it will be soon.

Again, welcome, we are glad to have you as our guests.

BE DARING, NOT RECKLESS

Trying to prove his courage cost a 24-year-old father his life.

The tragedy occurred when the young man and a neighbor went to the roof of their 5-story apartment building to "get some fresh air."

Seeing a 16-foot length of old rope on the roof, the first man challenged his friend. He dared him to tie one end around his waist and the other to a thick iron pipe and then jump across a 10-foot wide courtyard to the roof of the next building.

The man said that he owed it to his wife and three children not to take such a risk. The challenger replied in derision: "You're not a man. I'm a man and I can do it."

With that he hurriedly took up the challenge himself. But he failed to leap far enough, and tragedy struck when the weatherbeaten rope snapped and he plunged to his death on the pavement 78-feet below.

God wants you to be daring in doing good. But He expects you to hold to sound doctrine and sensible means. Taking foolish chances is usually a sign of too much interest in self and too little in truth.

"The folly of a man supplanteth his steps: and he fretteth in his mind against God." (Proverbs 19:3)

Teach me to be daring for good, O Holy Spirit, while avoiding what is reckless.

The Future Belongs To The Cat (Just Ask Anyone Who Has One)

NEW YORK (AP) — When a man's wrong, he might as well admit it.

And I can't think of a better time than the eve of National Be-Kind-to-Animals Week to confess that all my life I have been wrong about cats.

When it comes to pets, most folks divide into "dog people" and "cat people." If they keep a dog, they usually don't keep a cat — and don't like cats. If they keep a cat, they usually don't keep a dog — and don't like dogs.

It is only human to be suspicious of anything we don't know well. And that probably explains why in the past most Americans have preferred dogs and been distrustful of cats.

That's the way I felt until Lady Dottie joined our household as a kitten a year and a half ago. She was black and white and had a black dot on the tip of the nose. Strictly alley cat. No more, no less.

As a life-long dog lover, I would have bet Lady Dottie wouldn't last out the month in our home. But now she owns us and everything in it.

At first I would have nothing to do with her, and she showed an equal lack of ardor toward me

As we got more used to each other, however, I learned a basic difference between dogs and cats. A dog tends to be everybody's pal; he wants the world to like him. But a cat selects her own society, and doesn't worry about public opinion.

Our cat has at least two distinct personalities. By day she is a sleek, plush-footed Grover Whalen, greeting visitor with all the dignity and calm of an ancient Chinese mandarin.

BUT AT NIGHT she roams the house, like a dozen clumsy burglars, pushing over wastebaskets, tumbling books from the shelves, knocking expensive table lamps to the floors. The furniture she breaks costs more than the food she eats.

The charge that cats, unlike dogs, don't have a sense of gratitude isn't really true. Lady Dottie knows how to say "thank you." She just doesn't believe it's necessary to shout her gratitude out loud — as a dog does.

JUST WHEN I quit disliking Lady Dottie and became her servant I don't know. Cats have an invisible way of inflicting their sense of ownership over you.

And sooner or later they'll probably own the country. They are gaining a steady victory over their old enemy, the dog.

The last pet census showed Americans have 28 million cats, only 26 million dogs.

Pharmacist Will Talk Drug Price

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Having practiced pharmacy for the past 40 years, the observations of Harriet Dyer Thon prompts me to answer her inquiries.

With very few exceptions, the pharmacists believe a prescription is the property of the patient, to take wherever he pleases. I believe most doctors, especially the general practitioners are in accord with this practice.

The direct phone is usually found where many doctors are in the same building, with a pharmacy below, being there for many years, and originating in the friendship of doctor and pharmacist.

The new "Pharmacy Code of Ethics" prohibits a pharmacist supplying a doctor with a direct phone, or even prescription blanks bearing the store name and address. The penalty is loss of pharmacy license.

The variation in prices quoted would please the federal department of Justice, who are always anxious to prove a conspiracy to fix prices.

Many pharmacists price prescriptions about as scientifically as did the waning regime of old Henry Ford, who ignored cost of materials and overhead, merely weighing the parts used, and charged accordingly.

The cost in dollars of the modern prescription is many times greater than it was 20 years ago, and about as similar as the Model T and today's sleek models.

Considering the fact that the length of sickness is decreased, hospitalization shortened, the loss of work cut considerably, the modern drugs are your best buy.

The pharmacist-owner is in a bind today, with yearly demands for increased salaries, competition from supermarkets, and the fact that 90% of products are under fair trade and cannot be raised. Unlike the butcher and grocer the pharmacist cannot add on a few cents here and there to compensate for increased over head.

Sometimes we old timers look back in envy to the days when wages and wholesale prices were low and we did not have to buy 100 expensive pills to dispense 12 and add the remainder to the ever increasing graveyard of drugs replaced by something newer.

The best method of keeping prescription prices down is to buy those products which traditionally did, and still do, belong in a drug store.

No pharmacist should charge a price he cannot justify, and feel sure he will be more than willing, as is a doctor, to discuss your prescription price with you.

When anything is offered cheap, remember the old Roman saying as true today as it was thousands of years ago — "Caveat Emptor" — let the buyer beware.

UNION SHOP AT STAKE

High Court To Rule On Political Spending

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. Supreme Court has accepted for decision a legal dispute which indirectly could invalidate all union shop labor contracts in the United States.

The court heard arguments last week in what is known, for short, as the Looper case. The issue raised involves minority and individual rights of union members. The now-pending case arose in Georgia.

A few employes of the Southern Railway sued to forbid their union to spend dues money for political objectives which the complaining union members opposed.

THIS IS A UNION SHOP situation. The complaining union members, therefore, may not withdraw their financial support of the union without resigning their union membership. If they resign their union membership, they also resign their jobs.

That is what makes the Looper case a hot one. The narrow area of individual rights in which the issue is raised contributes also to the political importance of the case.

The court now has heard arguments and has agreed to decide the case.

IT WOULD be difficult for the court to render an opinion without establishing as the law of the land either:

That a union member cannot be compelled to contribute toward political expenditures for objectives which he opposes, or;

That such an individual or minority group is without constitutional protection against such.

The Georgia Supreme Court found for the complaining union members. The Georgia court held that to compel anyone so to contribute to a political objective would deprive him of guarantees in the Bill of Rights, specifically of freedom of association, thought, liberty and property.

A U. S. Supreme Court decision for the complaining union members would have one of two profound effects upon the structure of organized labor. It would:

Invalidate the union shop with its requirement of union membership, or:

Compel union leaders to finance their political activities wholly from voluntary funds.

DESPITE CORRUPT practices act prohibition of union spending or of contributions for political purposes, federal courts have held specifically that the unions may make political medicine in their publications or use the medium of TV. The rights of freedom of speech, press and assembly protected the union in those fields.

In the TV case, which arose in Michigan, three U. S. Supreme Court justices held that if minority rights were involved at all, this simply was the concern of internal union management.

An incident occurred in a Pennsylvania PX recently that will delight any ex-serviceman worth his salt. A hoity-toity second lieutenant was caught without the proper change in front of a cigaret machine, so he flagged a passing private and asked, "Got change for a dollar?"

"I think so," said the private cheerfully. "Wait till I see."

The lieutenant drew himself up stiffly and barked, "Private, that is not the way to address an officer. We'll replay this scene. Got change for a dollar?"

The private saluted smartly and said, "No, sir."

'Terrific Place For Creative Culture' New Tiburon Slogan?

Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce is in the process of conducting a contest among its members for an appropriate slogan for the organization. So far, the members have not agreed upon one, so if any Tiburon peninsula residents would like to try their hands at being creative, their entries are invited. They may be submitted to any member of the chamber.

Some of the lighter slogans submitted so far are: "Riviera on Raccoon Straits," "Terrific Place To Consume Cocktails," "Terrific Place For Creative Culture," "Tempting Paradise For Cultured Commuters," "Team For Progress For Contented Citizens."

Of course, you don't have to base your slogan on the initials of the chamber, as member Kent Beardsley did.

DURING A DISCUSSION of budget allocation for purchase of a $2,400 intercommunication system for Reed School, trustee chairman Richard J. MacLaury reminisced back when he was in the 7th grade "and I can remember the buzzer going and the teacher racing out of the room to see the principal."

While the other trustees were sentimentally looking back through the years to try and remember if they, too, had intercom systems in their schools, trustees Alfred J. Azavedo punctured the quiet minutes with "and then they got married!"

THE RECENT Tiburon Fire Protection District election, which went off without the fireworks engendered at the previous election, was not without its share of nerve-wracking incidents. Take, for instance, the plight of one of the election officials at the Tiburon firehouse, who when she went upstairs found herself trapped in the ladies room.

Then she opened the street side window and started to call to the people downstairs. Nothing happened. Floor-stomping didn't help either.

Finally, a voter mentioned to the election board that "There's a woman upstairs screaming out of the window" . . . and they realized she HAD been gone for a long time.

The story ends happily, due to the strong shoulders of several male voters.

AND THEN there were the happy foursome of Tiburonites driving home after a late, late party who came around a sharp curve in the Tiburon hills and came face to face with a donkey! At least it looked like one to the driver . . . who carefully turned to his wife and questioned her vision. They in turn checked with the couple in the back seat, and sure enough, it was a donkey.

It was the well-known pet of Mr. and Mrs. George McKegney of Lyford's Cove, who was last seen nipping the arm of another unwary driver!

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

There Are Different Democratic Viewpoints On The Religious Issue

WASHINGTON — From the recent speeches of Stevenson, Humphrey, and Kennedy, it is evident that there are three different viewpoints on the so-called religious issue in the campaign even among the Democratic contenders:

That the religious issue should not be discussed because it is irrelevant. This is Adlai Stevenson's view.

That the issue should not be discussed because it would "divide the country," as Sen. Humphrey puts it.

That the "public policies" of any church raise "legitimate questions" which Sen. Kennedy says should be discussed by the candidates.

OF THESE THREE viewpoints it seems to me that Kennedy chooses the right one.

Sevenson makes the religious issue taboo by carefully mis-stating it. He says the matter ought not to be raised at all because it is nobody's business "where a man prays." It isn't.

What is called "the religious issue" does not concern prayer, place of prayer, or method of prayer, but rather only the positions which a church or a religious group takes on temporal affairs and the discipline which a church seeks to apply to its members in regard to these positions.

"THERE ARE legitimate questions of public policy," Kennedy told the American Society of Newspaper Editors last week, "which no one should feel bigoted about raising and to which I do not object to answering. But I do object to being the only candidate required to answer those questions."

That is a fair point. The public policies of any church, not just the public policies of the Catholic Church are properly subject to questioning.

For example, would a conscientious pacifist Quaker endanger the military defenses of the nation? Would a Christian Scientist use his influence to dismantle the medical services of the Social Security system? Would a Catholic, whose church prefers union of church and state, as in Italy tend to dilute the separation of church and state in the United States?

IT DOES SEEM to me that Humphrey is on extremely weak ground in arguing that any discussion of a church's public policies represent "intrusion into denominational affairs" and "threaten the very fabric which binds our nation together."

The Fair Campaign Practices Committee made up of distinguished Protestants, Catholics, and Jews, lucidly defines and condemns bigotry in these words:

"Stirring up, fostering, or tolerating religious animosity, or injecting elements of a candidate's faith not relevant to the duties of the office he seeks are unfair campaign practices."

BUT IT IS NOT bigotry and, in the view of the Fair Campaign Practices Committee, not divisive, to weigh the public policies of any church and capacity of any candidate to assert his independence of his church in temporal matters.

The need is not for silence in this delicate area, but for candid, temperate, and earnest discussion.

Newcomer Likes Election Stories

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

My husband and I wish to thank you for your recent coverage of the candidates who were running for office.

We are new in the area and were not able to vote, but feel since this service was available this time you will in the future continue with this policy.

Being a housewife and rather tied down by small children, I found this especially helpful since getting out to meet and know the candidates is so difficult.

Looking forward to more of this in the future.

PROSPECTING BY HELICOPTER

The throb of helicopter rotor blades is the theme song of modern mining in the high, remote Northern Cascades, in the state of Washington.

A great ridge, just north of Glacier Peak, has been known as Miners' Ridge for some 60 years. It was named by prospectors who, with pick and shovel, first learned of the ridge's copper deposits. In 1900, a mining and smelting company staked several claims on the ridge, but the mines were not put into production, mainly because of their inaccesibility.

In 1954, another mining company, from Spokane, became interested in the historic ridge. A small exploration crew was sent into the area by pack train.

Since then, the project has expanded far beyond the ability of packers to sustain it. Three years ago, experienced mountain flyers, piloting helicopters, assumed the job of supplying the operation.

At Miners' Ridge today, the 35 to 40 men at work are transported quickly and comfortably by helicopter; they are served fresh fruit, vegetables and meat, brought in daily by the 'copters. The men even get a daily mail delivery by air.

Aim of the Miners' Ridge work now is to learn the extent and worth of the copper deposit. Cores of rock have already been taken from more than 1,000 feet deep in the ridge.

Alumni Day Set Sunday At Academy

Graduates of San Rafael Military Academy will organize a formal alumni group during the annual Alumni Day Sunday.

Alums will meet at 11 a.m. at the Edgewater Inn in Corte Madera for an organizational meeting and to elect officers.

An open house at the academy from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. will be followed by student competition in a bugle contest, arms drill, drill competition and a drum and bugle corps exhibition.

Medals won during the day will be presented at a parade at 5 p.m.

Winners of marksmanship medals to be awarded are Lawrence and James Garrett, Theodore Brown and Bruce Bostick, all of San Rafael; Randy Cary and John Norris, San Anselmo; Christian Dietrich, Tiburon, all winning "expert" ratings from the Department of the Army. Daniel Butler, Mill Valley, will win a "sharpshooter" award.

Head judge of competitions will be Maj. W. B. Pierce of Corte Madera, chief of the ROTC schools branch of the 15th Army at the Presidio of San Francisco. Capt. John Cleary will be master of ceremonies.

Library Budget Discussion Set In Mill Valley

The Mill Valley Library Board will discuss the budget for the 1960-61 fiscal year at its meeting May 9 at the library.

The trustees, at a meeting Wednesday, decided that major improvements to the present library would be unwise.

Robert Jenkins, president, was authorized to take steps to invest accumulated funds amounting to $7,500 derived from the five-cent library tax increase and earmarked for a building fund.

The board requested the city council to ask Pacific Gas and Electric Co. to improve street lighting in front of the library.

Librarian Dorothy Thomas and Jenkins gave a report on their participation in the recent governor's conference on public library service at Sacramento.

Officer Awarded Legion Of Merit

Navy Lt. Cmdr. John A. Davis, son-in-law of Mrs. Zeila H. Barr of 135 I street, San Rafael, recently was awarded the Legion of Merit at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service during operations last year.

Davis, commanding officer of the submarine Greenfish, will report in August to the Naval War College in Rhode Island. He is the husband of the former Agnes Dollar Barr of San Rafael.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO CIRCULATE INITIATIVE PETITION

We, the undersigned, intend to submit an initiative petition to the people of Belvedere, County of Marin, State of California, in form and substance substantially as follows:

"WHEREAS, the Council of the City of Belvedere, State of California, deems it in the best interest of public health, safety, morals, comfort and general welfare to secure the most appropriate use of inundated lands; NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED:

1. Inundated lands are lands either temporarily or permanently submerged.

2. Said inundated lands are hereby declared natural conservation and recreation areas which may be used for the following purposes only: water contact sports, fishing, boating and athletics, which uses may be subject to an admission fee and/or a rental fee for use of facilities.

3. No structure shall be erected in whole or in part on said inundated lands other than lifeguard towers and boat docking facilities.

4. Said inundated lands shall not be divided or subdivided and no portion of said inundated lands shall be used in computing the area of lots of adjacent land.

5. Any person, persons, firm, partnership or corporation violating any provision of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be fined not less than $50.00 and not more than $100.00.

6. Each day any violation of this ordinance continues shall be deemed a separate offense.

7. This Ordinance shall take effect and be enforced from and after the earliest period allowed by law."

The proposed initiative ordinance is designed and intended to provide the economic and social advantages resulting from an orderly and planned use of land resources and to conserve and promote the public health, safety and general welfare of the people of Belvedere. It is believed that the use of inundated lands for purposes other than as set forth in this ordinance would be detrimental to public health and safety. It would provide necessary recreational facilities and preserve the character of the property which has been developed abutting it. It would serve further to preserve the natural beauty of Belvedere which has accounted for the development of the community.

IF YOU ARE 3½ YEARS OLD
(More or Less)

You will think this house was built just for you. And we think so too. It has 3 bedrooms (1 could be yours) and you could have one of the bathrooms all to yourself too, unless of course, you have brothers or sisters. And wait until you see your playroom! But best of all, there are no steps to fall down. And no high windows to fall out. Of course, there are lots of other features that might not interest you particularly, but your folks will appreciate them, especially the price—$17,450.

Girl Scouts Ask Lease On MMWD Land

With $50,000 in improvements contemplated on the Girl Scout camp at Sky Oaks on land of the Marin Municipal Water District, it is felt that a long-term lease is required, district directors were told Wednesday by a delegation of three representing the Marin Girl Scout Council.

A committee was appointed to consider the matter while the board held the problem temporarily under advisement. About 20 acres are affected.

The board decided to award contracts May 11 on bids received Wednesday for excavation of balancing tanks on the Smith ranch, for 3,300 feet of 24-inch pipe needed in North Marin, Terra Linda and Los Ranchitos areas, and for automotive equipment.

The board awarded a $15,182 contract to Consolidated Western Steel of South San Francisco, low bidder on 5,400 feet of steel pipe.

It authorized purchase from the Leighton Stone Corp. of a 14-inch pump control valve for $2,186, lowest figure of four bidders.

It is the second show produced by the group during the current school year. "My Three Angels," based on the French play La Cuisine des Anges, by Albert Husson, was written for the English-speaking stage by Sam and Bella Spewack. It was successful on Broadway and was the basis of "We're No Angels," the film.

The plot concerns three convicts serving in a French penal colony and their efforts to aid a family in operating a general store. Taking title roles are Dave Burmester, Ken Rosenberg and Don Straiton.

Others in the cast are Judy Garrison, Dave Howell, Wendell Joost, Ralph McGlothlen and Carelle Adaire Wheeler. Director is faculty member Irene Clark. Miss Wheeler is also stage manager. Ruth Waggoner is wardrobe mistress and Robert Smith is master of properties.
